

Vet School Open House First in K-State History

October 26 has been declared Veterinary Medicine Day at Kansas State college by Acting President A. D. Weber, in conjunction with the first K-State Veterinary Medicine Open House.

The purpose of the Open House is to inform the public of basic medical instruction; practical application of veterinary medical training; and the roll of a doctor of veterinary medicine in everyday life.

Each department of the veterinary school will exhibit a few of its contributions to the training of a DVM. The Department of Surgery and Medicine will demonstrate the various splints used in fractures, some aspects of veterinary dentistry, and grooming.

A team of students will demonstrate full-drape surgery.

The clinical pathological diagnosis laboratory will demonstrate a few of the tests used to diagnose disease.

Among the exhibits of the Physiology department will be a microscope for viewing the blood circulating through a capillary in the web of a frog's foot. A poly visio demonstration will include an electrocardiogram, phonocardiogram, (listening to the heart beat), blood pressure, and muscle contraction waves. People will be able to watch a live frog's heart beating in salt solution.

Skeletons will be on display in the Anatomy department. Human, monkey, dog, pig, ox, and horse skeletons will be shown.

There will be an Animal Research Service of the Department of Agriculture of the United States display showing the roll of the veterinarian in meat inspection, disease control, and public health.

Invitations have been extended to the 17 Veterinary schools in the United States, and all Kansas high schools.

President McCain Returning Home

Word was received today that James A. McCain, president of Kansas State College, would return to the campus in time for homecoming, October 19.

McCain has been in Europe for the past six months for travel and study as an Eisenhower Exchange Fellow.

Weekend Will Be Busy for K-Staters

The weekend coming up will be one of the busiest of the fall for K-State students. Saturday not only marks the opening conference game for the Wildcats, but also features such activities as Parents' Day, and the second annual Alumni conference.

The Kansas Family Life association conference is winding up on campus today. The program includes a talk by S. Walton Cole, pastor of the First Methodist church of Manhattan; a drama directed by John W. Keltner, head of the Speech department; a talk by Adel Throckmorton, superintendent of public instruction in Kansas; and a panel on youthful marriages.

Kansas editors will register at 9 a.m. Saturday in Kedzie hall, and Elton Carter, Norton, president of the Kansas Press association, will preside at a round table discussion starting at 10. The editors will be guests of the Collegian at a buffet lunch at the Union at 11:45, and of the Athletic department at the K-State-Nebraska football game in the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Peterson of Newton, K-State's honorary "Mom" and "Dad," will lead a parade of decorated houses starting at 10 Saturday morning. They will be guests at a luncheon in the Union at noon and will be presented during special halftime game ceremonies. In their honor, the K-State band will spell out "Mom" and "Dad," and while they are being introduced will play some of the old favorites which were popular when they were in school.

Various organized houses are planning coffees, open houses, and buffets for parents following the game Saturday.

Registration for the alumni conference begins at 9:30 a.m. Saturday in the main lobby of the Union, with Merrill H. Werts, BS '42, of Topeka, Alumni Association president, welcoming the group at 10. There will be discussions during the morning program on alumni club organizations, program planning, and building effective clubs. Acting President Arthur D. Weber will address their noon luncheon.

State Dairy Princess David Eager for National Contest

Kansas dairy princess, Barbara David, HDA Soph, is eagerly waiting for October 11, because that is the beginning of the final round in the National Dairy Princess contest. She and her mother will board the train for Chicago, Thursday, for the three day contest. The queen will be crowned Sunday, October 13.

The first of a series of contests leading to this trip began for Barbara when she won the Cowley County Dairy Princess title in June. Since then, she has won the district and state contests.

"I especially like this contest because mother gets to go along," says Barbara. Mrs. David has always been on the sidelines cheering but she's never actually been able to "sit on the bench."

Along with the Kansas crown, Barbara won a $300 scholarship to any school, a $300 wardrobe, and a set of luggage.

Next June, Barbara will represent the Kansas Dairy association at various festivities throughout the state.

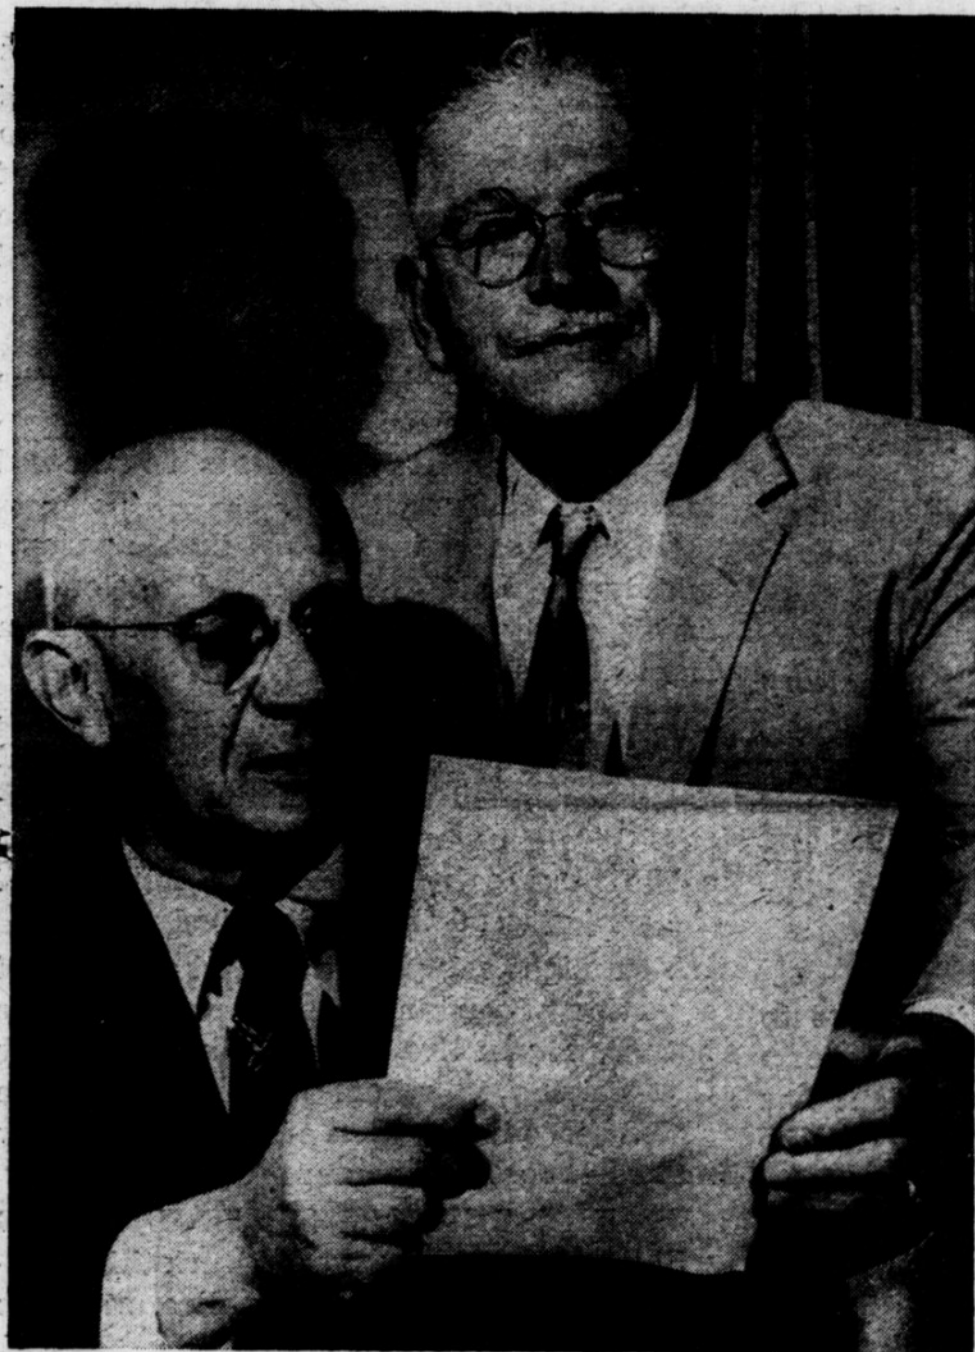

If Barbara should win the national contest, she would receive a $1,000 scholarship, and a world trip. Last year's princess went to Japan. Barbara would also tour the United States as a good will representative for the National Dairy association.

This year there are 24 contestants, because some of the states have not organized a Dairy Princess contest. "This is just the third year that there has been a National contest," Barbara explained.

Barbara is a Kappa Kappa Gamma pledge from Winfield.

A TRIPLE TREAT, trip to Chicago, $300 scholarship, $300 wardrobe, all belong to Barbara David, HDA Soph, who is the newly crowned "Miss Kansas Dairy Princess." She will be officially crowned Sunday, October 13 in Chicago.

Over $200,000 Given To Campus Organizations

A final total of $211,383 was appropriated by the Apportionment board last night to 20 K-State organizations.

The board pared down the amount of money tentatively apportioned last spring. The apportionments are subject to approval by acting president Arthur D. Weber.

The Athletic department received $61,753 or about $8.60 from each student's tuition. The Collegian and Royal Purple were apportioned $24,041 and $38,250 respectively.

The band and orchestra received $3,200 while the choral groups were apportioned $2,500. The football band trip and A Cappella choir received $500 each.

The K-State Players received $1,250 while Engineers' open house got $2,250. Hospitality day was appropriated $1,000 and debate and oratory got $4,254.

The livestock and meats judging teams got $1,800 and $900 respectively while the dairy and poultry teams received $1,275 and $275. The crops team received $300, and the wool team got $600.

The Student Governing association was apportioned $4,707 while Lift Week got $560. The rifle team received $500. Radio and TV got $625, and Associated Women students were apportioned $600.

The K-State union received $56,178 or approximately $4.50 from each student's enrollment fee. The Veterinary Medicine open house and the Arts and Science council got $365 and $200 respectively.

The total amount of money received from enrollment fees was $204,793.88.

"We were expecting an enrollment of 6,800 when we made the tentative apportionments last spring," said Neil Scott, Soc Sr, chairman of the apportionment board.

"When only 6,700 actually enrolled, we were forced to cut everybody down a little," Scott added.

Expansion of Union Faculty Lot Fizzles, Hurts Student Drivers

A NOBLE EXPERIMENT has failed! We are talking about the Traffic Control board's experiment of giving the faculty an entire extra section in which to park. The traffic board gave the space away without knowing just how much extra space was needed to take care of faculty officed in the south section of the campus, according to Chairman Edgar S. Bagley.

It is now obvious to the students, if not the faculty too, that too much space was allotted for faculty consumption. At any given time the two faculty rows are half empty. This is not a morale booster to students who also have the right to park close to the campus.

THE TRAFFIC CONTROL BOARD has said that it made changes that may have been mistakes. It has also said it can change the situation anytime it likes so students can have some of the wasting space.

The Traffic Control board must answer directly to the administration and can recommend changes which will usually be accepted. It seems to us that the Traffic Control board will be doing the students a great disservice if it doesn't make an attempt to correct the mistake.

The easiest way to get full value from the space available would be to split the second faculty section in half and give the faculty the south part of the section and the students the north part.

HEREIN LIES a great and perplexing problem: how to educate college men and women to read and obey signs that would set up the boundaries within the lot.

Marking the lot so faculty and students could use it is the only obstacle holding back integration of the lot, according to traffic and security officer Roger Ward. If there was any confusion at all as to the boundaries, parkers who got tickets would have a good arguing point when it came to settling up the fines, he said.

Ward himself has suggested that the faculty be given the south part of the second section and that students be allowed to park in the north half.

Observation has shown that approximately one half of the second section remains empty all day so this should be an ideal arrangement.

THE CAMPUS PATROL has taken another survey of the lot but the results will not be compiled until sometime this week-end. It will be interesting to note whether cold figures coincide with the thinking of the majority of the student body.

You might ask yourself whether just half a section of parking space is worth all the bother. If you live so far from the campus that driving to school is a necessity, the added space integration of the lot will allow makes almost any means justify the end.

IF THE TRAFFIC CONTROL BOARD will take it on themselves to work this problem out with the campus police, students will get partial relief from the parking crisis. Two hours of work producing 40 or 50 more parking spaces will do more for the prestige of the Traffic Control board and the Campus Patrol than two years of non-functional planning and warning tickets. —Roger Myers Rising Fwn, Ga.—Artist Fannie Mennen used a combination of Southern drawl and backwoods lingo to name her mountain home. She called it "Plum Nelly," because it's "plum out of Tennessee and "Nelly" out of Georgia.

Port Washington, Wis.—No question about who are the most important men in town. The city's first vial of flu vaccine went to four garbage collectors, two waterworks employees and a key man at the sewage disposal plant.

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

Curiosity has the best of us. Who or what was responsible for donating over half of the Student Union parking lot to the staff? Although we are not students of logic, we fail to see anything remotely resembling a logical solution to the parking problem, since the students—who PAY for their privileges of school and parking lots—rather outnumber the staff members.

After one month of school, we give up, surrender, and bow to the higher powers—whoever they may be. Four weeks of leaving for class every morning at 7:25—whether we were lucky enough to have an 8 o'clock class or not—go home, swallow lunch whole, smoke three-fourths of a cigarette, then back to the front (Union parking lot) at 12:45 to resume battle stations—sort of ridiculous, isn't it?

To call this whole situation obnoxious is to be very bashful, timid, and conservative. We'll take our cars home if we can trade our collection of stickers for our two dollar parking fees. Usually, when we pay for something, we expect something in return. Could this, then, be called robbery?

On the other hand, why not make it a free for all—a first come first serve basis. At the rate things are going, why doesn't someone with a little authority—surely someone has some—just ban student cars from the campus. Possibly the staff and visitors could find room then.

Over the Ivy Line KU Also Has Parking Woes, But Whatta Way To Solve 'Em

By Sharon Totten

KANSAS STATE ISN'T the only school having parking problems this year.

The Daily Kansan reports that a coed, after receiving several parking tickets, discovered she needed a parking permit to leave her car on campus. This could be done only if she could convince the traffic office that she was physically unable to walk from the freshman dormitory to class.

The clever coed borrowed a pair of crutches, hobbled into the traffic office and received a temporary parking permit. As she walked out, priding herself on deceiving the traffic official, the officer called, "Don't you want your crutches?"

THE INDIANA DAILY STUDENT has a few hints to help people who are not normally interested in sports enjoy this year's World Series. The Daily Student has chosen and interpreted a few choice phrases which radio and television announcers are quite fond of using.

Phrase: This kid is truly one of the greatest, most sensational, sharpest, fastest, etc. etc. fielders I've ever seen in the game.

Interpretation: He couldn't hit the ball with a broom.

Phrase: I eat Wheatreats for breakfast.

Interpretation: For $50 I'll eat hay.

Phrase: Fans, I get the slickets shave of all with my new Super Duper Speed.

Interpretation: After I've shaved off my beard with an electric razor.

Phrase: The left fielder's going way way back there—back—baack . . . He grabbed the ball!

Interpretation: He just missed running into the short-stop. (Some old radio announcers forget that they're now on television.)

Phrase: Oh, a terrific fastball. What blazing speed that kid has! Wow, what an arm.

Interpretation: Ball one.

Phrase: The fans sitting on the edge of their seats. Two down. Last half of the ninth. Bases loaded . . . and there goes a long drive, way back there. It looks like it may be . . . It's . . .

Interpretation: Foul ball.

Hoffa Elected President; Teamsters Defy Senate

By UNITED PRESS
Compiled By Pat Roberts
Miami Beach—A roaring convention voted James R. Hoffa into the presidency of the big International Teamsters union today in defiance of the AFL-CIO, the courts and Senate investigators. The five-foot, five-inch Hoffa prepared to take over the $50,000 a year post as head of the nation's largest union immediately. Outgoing Teamsters boss Dave Beck of Seattle obtained, "for the best interests of the union," a leave of absence beginning October 15. He officially steps into retirement at $50,000 a year on December 1.

All Quiet at Little Rock

Little Rock Ark.—Nine Negro students entered Central high school under troop guard today and for the first time, there was no demonstration from white students watching their arrival.

As usual, about 50 white students were congregated on the steps leading to the main entrance when the Negroes arrived in an Army station wagon conveyed by jeeploads of troops.

On previous days, the white students have greeted the Negroes' arrival with a noisy outburst, some hooting and jeering, others clapping and shouting encouragement.

K-State Pep Squad To Use New Yells

K-State's eight new cheerleaders will be leading the Wildcat rooting section at the Nebraska game tomorrow with three new yells . . . "Purple and White," "K-Swing," and "K-State Varsity."

"All of the yells have been revised in some way," says Susan Schober, PEW Jr, head-cheerleader. "We started at the bottom this fall since none of us have been K-State cheerleaders before."

The group, four men and four women elected by the cheerleading board last spring: Carol Hudiburg, Sp Jr, Miss Schober; Linda Stout, Sp Soph; Charlotte Strah, ArG Jr; Marc Asher, BPM Sr; Dick Frank, Ec Jr; Dick Streets, NE Jr; Joan Peters, EEd Soph, is assistant cheerleader.

The group will attend a cheerleading clinic at Southwestern College, Winfield, Thursday and will demonstrate several yells at one session.

"I think we were all well pleased with the turnout at the pep rally last Friday. Let's make them bigger and better each game," Marc said.

Susan, representing the cheerleaders, is a member of the newly organized Union games and rallies committee which meets before the home games to co-ordinate the pep clubs and athletic department, and to answer any questions concerning the groups that may arise.

New uniforms for the pep leaders include white sweaters with megaphones, K-State Wildcat emblems, and saddle shoes. The women wear white pleated skirts, while the men wear white pants. They also purchased new megaphones.

Although there are no veteran K-State cheerleaders, most of the group had high school experience. Carol, a member of Alpha Delta Pi, led yells for two years in Florida and then for three years at the American high school in Yokohama, Japan. Charlotte, Pi Beta Phi member, was a cheerleader three years at Arkansas City high school and one year at Arkansas City junior college. Susan, A D Pi, was a pep leader at Topeka high school for two years and Linda, a Chi Omega, led cheers at Raytown, Mo., high school. Joan, a Pi Phi, was a cheerleader five years at Edson.

Dick Frank, Pi Kappa Alpha member, and Dick Streets, Lambda Chi Alpha, led yells one year at Frankfort and Altoona, respectively. Both Marc Asher, Sigma Chi, and Clyde McKenzie, Acacia, are serving their first year as cheerleaders. The four participated in sports during high school.

Holtz Given Outstanding Citizen Title

An emeritus member of the K-State faculty was cited by the Manhattan Kiwanis club as a "distinguished citizen".

Recognized was A. A. Holtz, for 35 years a member of the K-State staff and emeritus professor of sociology and economics since 1954.

He was cited by the Manhattan Kiwanis club for "outstanding and distinguished service in the Manhattan community over a period of 38 years". Holtz was praised for his leadership in developing the annual K-State labor-management conference; for his service to religious interests as secretary of the College YWCA, minister of the First Baptist and Zeandale churches and as supply pastor for many other churches in the area; and for his work as a community leader.

'Krull Showing Improvement With Every Game'—Mertes

By ELDON MILLER
"He is improving with every game, just as he did in spring training. I wouldn't be afraid to start Les in any ball game."

This is what coach Bus Mertes had to say about Les Krull, second unit quarterback for the K-State gridders.

Although Krull, a 6-0 172-pound junior, failed to letter last year, he is now pressing Dick Corbin for the first team signal calling spot.

In Saturday's game against BYU, Krull carried the ball four times, netting 32 yards, and completed two of five passes for a 31 yard total.

BYU coach Harold Kopp made special note of Krull's fine passing performance when commenting on the game.

Krull's sophomore season was far from spectacular. He carried the ball 11 times for 39 yards and threw nine passes, two of which he completed for 21 yards.

Krull did not let discouragement get the best of him last year. "I just shook it off and came back and gave it another try," he said. "It pays to hang in there."

Les attributes his rapid advancement to two things—experience and confidence.

Although he became very disgusted during the course of last chance to scrimmage a lot in season, Les stuck with it and profited. "I picked up a lot of experience in that one year. The spring practice also helped me a lot."

Krull said that with experience on his side he was able to develop confidence in himself.

Les broke his ankle in the spring varsity-alumni game and the injury was slow in healing during the summer. In fact, it wasn't completely healed when fall practice started.

"It has been getting a lot stronger in the past few weeks," said Les. "But I am still slower than I should be and can't make sharp cutbacks very well yet."

When asked if he favored the ankle any, Les replied: "I don't try to favor it a bit. If I did I would probably goof up and be down on the fifth team."

Les is no optimist. He takes a dim view of his play last Saturday. "I might have been lucky," he says. That's his opinion.

LES KRULL, 6-0, 172-pound junior quarterback from Blue Mound, is currently ranked seventh in rushing yardage for the K-State Wildcats and third in passing. Krull will be running the No. 2 team tomorrow when the Cats tangle with the Nebraska Cornhuskers on Ahearn field.

Working with Sports

Many K-State football fans have been discussing who is the best passer, Dick Corbin or Les Krull. We have been watching practices almost every day and have concluded that Steve Sucic tops all the passers in this part of the country. Sucic, Wildcat backfield coach, sometimes throws passes in light scrimmage. He can throw a longer pass than anyone on the practice field, and his tosses invariably spiral right into the receivers arms.

"We have many fans, I'm sure, who would rather see a Rose Bowl team on the schedule than a lesser team," KU coach Chuck Mather observed following the 34-6 defeat by Oregon State last Saturday. "There is no substitute for winning and looking good."

The reasoning he uses is that if you upset a national ranked team you get all kinds of praise and when you beat an average team you aren't lauded because victory was expected. Conversely, if you lose to the powerful team you can just say you didn't have the material but if you are upset by the average team you really have to have some good answers ready.

Kansas' star quarterback, Bob Marshall, hurt his knee early in the Oregon State game. Oddly, there was no contact on the play. He simply twisted his knee while trying to head off Oregon State wingback Ernel Durden as the latter reversed 31 yards for the Pacific Coast conference champion's first touchdown.

Oklahoma leads the all-game-played standings in the Big Eight with a 1-0-0 record. Following the Sooners is Iowa State, 1-1-0; Colorado, 1-1-0; Missouri, 1-1-0; K-State, 1-0-1; Oklahoma State, 1-0-1; Kansas, 1-0-1; Nebraska, 0-0-2.

According to the figures, we could beat Missouri, rated second by many in the conference, this year.

BYU and Arizona played to a 14-14 draw. Arizona beat MU, 35-14. K-State tramped BYU, 36-7.

So, if we are 29 points better than BYU and Arizona is 21 points better than Missouri and BYU and Arizona are the same—K-State should beat Missouri by 50 points.

Coaches of sports other than football are getting their charges settled for the school year and planning practice session. Organized basketball workouts start October 15 and coach Tex Winter is planning what style of play the Cats will use this year. Some of the cagers are working out on their own already.

Huskers To Invade K-State To Start Big Eight Grid Action

K-State's Wildcats open their Big Eight campaign tomorrow against Nebraska in Memorial stadium at 1:30 p.m. The Cats have no injuries and are at full strength for the Parents' Day football game.

The Cornhuskers and K-State have met 41 times, with the Huskers winning 32, K-State 7, and halving twice. The Wildcats have won three out of the last four games in the series.

Despite losses to Washington State, 34-12, and Army, 42-0,

Nebraska has high hopes for a win tomorrow.

The Huskers will likely be without their starting right halfback, Larry Naviaux. He suffered a foot injury in the Army game and early in the week was marked "no duty". Backfield man Doug Thomas, who missed the Army game due to a hip bruise, also is still on the doubtful list.

Halfback Carroll Zaruba, and end Ray Engel, who missed the Army game, should be ready for the first Big Eight outing. Zaruba averaged 6.3 yards a carry against Washington State and Engel caught three passes for 45 yards against the Cougars.

"We have a long way to go and I don't know when we'll get there," said NU coach Bill Jennings.

"Our biggest worry going into this game centers on psychology," Cat coach Bus Mertes says, "A year ago we had been bumped around and NU had a fair record, and we rallied to whip the Cornhuskers, 10-7. Now the situations are almost reversed. We know NU has good talent. A combination of tough luck and rugged opposition has given them a pair of losses. They will be all-out to rare up against us."

Mertes has indicated no changes in the lineup for Nebraska though he has been running the second backfield with the first unit line in workouts this week.

The pair of halfbacks that faced BYU last week now tops the Wildcat rushing chart. Keady, at right half, leads with 191 yards for two games and a 10-yard average. Keith Wilson, first half, has a 120-yard total and a 5.2 average.

Despite these impressive figures, Mertes has no set solution for picking starters. Ben Grosse, who opened the season at left half, has 92 yards on eight tries for an 11.5 average. Starting fullback Ray Glaze is hacking out a 5.5 average and Ralph Pfeifer, who made two touchdowns against BYU and is fighting Glaze for the starting nod, also has a 5.5 average.

All of those individual efforts combine to give K-State a 620-yard rushing total for two games—10th best in the nation and tops in the conference.

Nebraska ranks third in the loop with 315 yards on running plays. Leading the Cornhuskers is Bennie Dillard with 89 yards and a 5.6 average.

The probable starting NU line will average 196-pounds, an edge below K-State's 205-pound mean. Best Nebraska lineman is Don Kampe, 6-0, 200-pound senior guard and an all-conference player.

K-State backs average 16 pounds under the Huskers, 172 to 188.

Probable starters:

Braves Win; Series Play All Tied Up

By UNITED PRESS

Lew Burdette of the Braves evened the World Series at one game apiece when he beat the Yankees, 4-2, yesterday.

"I had a little something extra going for me against the Yankees that they didn't know about," Burdette said, "a piece of blarney stone I stuck in my jacket pocket before I came out to the park."

"And brother, I certainly couldn't help but think about it when Wes Covington made that great catch on Bobby Shantz' liner with two men on in the second inning."

"If you ask me which play gave me the biggest kick, though, I'd have to say it was that ninth inning force play, Johnny Logan to Red Schoendienst. That's the one that wound it all up. Of all the outs in any ball game, that last one always gives me my biggest thrill."

"Some of the newspaper boys may think I had some score to settle with the Yankees because they had me once and let me go. Actually, nothing could be further from the truth."

"When I go out there to pitch, I don't care what the letters read on the other guy's uniform. I'm out there to beat 'em all, whether it's the Yankees, Cleveland, Baltimore, Brooklyn, Pittsburgh or what have you."

"I gave the Yankees an assortment of everything. They saw screwballs, sinkers, sliders, change-up and fast balls."

Invite to Matmen

By KATHY SCHULTIS

"Exciting" and "wonderful" were words used by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Peterson, honorary K-State parents, to describe Parents' Day festivities Saturday. The couple lives in Newton and are parents of Karen Peterson, MGS Sr, and Kirsten Peterson, EEd Jr. The Petersons were greeted by the Parents' Day committee upon their arrival in Manhattan Saturday morning. Movies were taken as they met their two daughters. Later in the morning they saw Parents' Day decorations and were taken on a tour of the campus.

Before the Nebraska football game the Petersons were honored at a buffet lunch in the Union. They sat with Dr. Arthur D. Weber, acting president; Congressman William Avery; and Gov. George Docking and his wife during the football game.

"Everything was so exciting and we just had a wonderful afternoon!" exclaimed Mrs. Peterson.

During half time activities at the game, the Petersons were presented a silver tray inscribed "Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Peterson, Honorary Mom and Dad, 1957." Mrs. Peterson was also given a spray of yellow mums.

"I just couldn't talk when we were notified by the Parents' Day committee," Mrs. Peterson said. "Both of us were just really thrilled and surprised." She explained that the Parents' Day committee asked for their pictures immediately. "We just didn't have any, so Bernard and I had to call the photographer and have our pictures taken that night."

Mr. Peterson is a graduate of Washburn University and Washburn Law school and is now an attorney in Newton. He was affiliated with Phi Delta Theta, social fraternity, and Delta Theta Phi, professional law fraternity. His wife is a graduate of Sterling college and is manager of a dress shop in Newton.

purpose of the committee is to formulate and co-ordinate all activities which will foster better relations among the Student Governing association, student body, faculty, administration, and the public.

The first undertaking of the Public Relations committee will be to set up a Student Council bulletin board in the Student Union to establish a permanent structure chart in the Student Governing Association office, and to obtain permission to have Council meetings in the Union little theater.

Pat McDermott, BA Sr, was appointed chairman of the Program Planning committee for the Student Governing Association assembly. Also appointed to the committee were Carol Kellogg, HT Jr, and Keith Small, ME Sr.

Tender Trap Cast Picked

The cast has been chosen for the K-State Players' "Tender Trap" presentation in November.

Cast members are Charlie Reader—Glen Rhea, Sp Soph; Julie Gillis—Mary Lu Compton, Sp Sr; Joe McCall—John Barry; Sylvia Crewes—Lou Ann Oberhelman, Sp Sr; Earl Lindquist—Ken Nakari, Phy Jr; Poppy Matson—Linda Stout, EEd Soph; Sol Schwartz—Bud Annan, CE Soph; and Jessica Collins, Linda Merritt, EEd Soph.

The play will be given in-the-round in the Student Union ballroom. It will be directed by Earl G. Hoover, professor of speech, assisted by Cathy Blanford, Sp Jr.

The play is a comedy about bachelor life in New York City and involves the efforts of various women to ensnare an attractive bachelor.

Judges Selected For Homecoming

Six persons have accepted invitations to judge the Homecoming house decorations, according to Janell Farrell, TxC Sr, Panhellenic president.

ADPi, AKL Decorations Get Prizes

First place honors for Parents' Day house decorations went to Alpha Delta Pi in the women's division and Alpha Kappa Lambda in the men's division. Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Sigma received honorable mention.

Eight sororities, seven fraternities, and two dormitories entered decorations in the contest. Judges were Amos Peterson, Manhattan dress shop owner; Dr. Emil C. Fischer, head of the Department of Architecture and Allied Arts; and Oliver White, program director of the Student Union.

The ADPi winning slogan was "We the Offspring, Welcome the Mainspring." Diane Watson, EEd Soph, was decorations chairman for Alpha Delta Pi.

In front of the house stood a small white cardboard house with a bright red roof and two coil springs on either side of the door. Two springs were topped with faces of co-eds, and the other two supported faces of a typical mom and dad.

In the Alpha Kappa Lambda yard, a champagne glass, an invitation card, and a department store manikin dressed in tails and top hat carried out the theme, "Here's a Toast to Mom Dad." The decorations chairman was Marlon Brock, PsP Jr. Delta Delta Delta welcomed parents with a "Special Flight for Special Folks via Delta Airline." Tri-Delt Dorothy Serrault, EEd Jr, was decorations chairman.

"Welcome Parents, North, East, South, and West. May This, Your Day, Be Remembered

With the Best" adorned a large map of Kansas on the Kappa Sigma lawn. Jack Scott, ME Sr, was decorations chairman for Kappa Sigma.

Purple Pepsters President Graham Attempt's To Improve Club's Spirit

By CHARLENE STRAH

JOYCE GRAHAM, BAA Sr and president of Purple Pepsters, says she is trying to do all she can to improve the spirit of the women's pep organization this year and hopes the school will be proud of the 107-member club.

She says she will be "glad to hear any suggestions and criticisms students may have as this is the only way the organization can improve."

As president, Joyce presides over all meetings, oversees all committees, and keeps the spirit up. "We plan to rewrite the constitution and possibly change the membership requirements so they will be on a more selective basis," she says.

Joyce is an active participant in other campus activities, too. While at K-State she has served as secretary of eight campus organizations. "I'm so glad I take shorthand because it certainly has helped me at times when meetings go real fast," she laughs.

BESIDES SERVING as Purple Pepster president, she is secretary of Mortar Board, senior women's honorary; chairman of the International Relations committee of Student Council; secretary of the Union Program committee for the second year; and corresponding secretary and a charter member of Phi Chi Theta, women's business honorary. She is also activities chairman of her social sorority, Pi Beta Phi.

Joyce previously was secretary of the Student Activities board for three years, secretary of Arts and Sciences Council, secretary of the American Guild of Organists, secretary of the Union Night Club committee, member of the state relations committee of Mock Political convention, and secretary of Whipurs, freshman women's pep club.

This busy senior often contributes to campus confusion—she has an identical twin sister, Janice, TJ Sr. Another sister, Judy, Hum Fr., also attends K-State.

"PEOPLE GET US CONFUSED more than ever before this year," Joyce says. "I think it is because our hair styles are alike now. Someone I've known for a long time said the other day he knew he could tell us apart, but a recent picture in the Collegian was me." She had a hard time convincing him the picture really was of Janice, who is a candidate for homecoming queen.

"I really appreciate all my experiences at K-State," she says. After graduation she would like to work for an oil company or for International Business Machines. "I'd like to demonstrate machines and meet a lot of people," the twin comments. She will graduate in business administration and accounting next May.

Joyce has worked for Beaumont Petroleum company in her home town, El Dorado, during the past three summers doing stenographic and accounting work.

Along with her other activities Joyce finds time for hobbies. "I love to play tennis," she says. She is entering the intramural tennis tournament on campus and also bowls. An organist, Joyce played the organ at several weddings last year.

JOYCE GRAHAM, BAA Sr, has been secretary of eight campus organizations during her stay at Kansas State. She is currently president of the Purple Pepsters, women's pep club. Joyce promises to do her best to generate more pep from her organization.

Soviets Hint of Startling Space Flight

By PAT ROBERTS

London—Soviet scientists who perfected the first earth satellite are far along in studies of a space ship that can visit the moon and return, American scientists reported today in Barcelona, Spain.

Moscow newspapers hinted that a more startling development than the satellite was in the works and told readers to watch for "something special" on November 7, 40th anniversary of the coup which put the Bolsheviks in power in 1917.

The Americans said the Soviets already were testing "space volunteers" from among their armed forces for possible flights into space and said the Russians' ability to launch the satellite "with no failures" meant flights to the moon could come in two years—or sooner.

Military potentialities of the satellite and future space projectiles caused grave concern in some Western military circles. Most military observers were convinced the satellite could not have been launched without a rocket powerful enough for an intercontinental ballistics missile.

It was generally agreed the satellite itself was of no military use but that studies of its action were of immeasurable value in studying rocket warfare.

General belief in Europe was that the United States would now throw more resources and manpower into the missile race. European observers said ten years ago Russia was far behind in scientific lore; now it appears to be ahead.

Almost all American scientists attending the Barcelona meeting agreed there was nothing barring the way to U.S. space flights except money. Electronic engineer Gerald Gross of Washington and Prof. Theodor Von Karman, a NATO aerodynamics expert, said flights to the moon could be made within two years.

In New York rocket expert Willy Ley said the U.S. could have launched a satellite a year ago if America had engaged in a "cash program." In Washington the magazine Aviation Week said the U.S. missile program was lagging from a shortage of funds resulting from a lack of high official interest.

Polish Riots Continue

Warsaw—Hundreds of students from other Polish cities poured into riot-torn Warsaw today for a mass meeting in defiance of a police ban.

The location and exact purpose of the meeting was kept secret and steel-helmeted militiamen patrolled every street in the center of the city on the lookout for it.

The city was quiet but tense and there were fears the meeting would spark another riot of the type that has rocked the capital four nights in a row.

Hundreds of young persons were reported under arrest but there was no accurate count.

Little was known about today's meeting but it apparently was called in connection with the government shutdown of the student anti-Stalinist newspaper "Pro Postu."

Polish writers were reported to have jumped into the contest on the side of the students after the government rejected the student demands for lifting the ban last Friday.

A spokesman said the students had decided to try to get the ban on their newspaper lifted by "legal" means. They met with Minister of Schools and Colleges Stanislaus Zolkiewski yesterday and wrote an open letter appealing to Communist party leader Wladyslaw Gomulka to look into the matter personally.

There was no immediate reaction to this new line.

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

Recently I had occasion to call the Athletic department concerning admission to the forthcoming K-State-KU football game and was amazed to learn that the going (or, at least, the asking) price for these tickets was not at a reduced rate for K-State students.

As this is only my second year here, and since we played KU at home last season, I am not familiar with the ticket procedure between the two schools regarding students. It seems to me, however, that, for the sake of esprit de corps, if nothing else, some arrangement could be made which would better encourage more of the student body to attend games at other schools, especially when we play KU at Lawrence.

I am as realistic as the next one and am aware that by selling $1.00 tickets to students many potential buyers of $3.50 seats might be turned away. This, however, brings us back to the growing problem of the college's purpose—is it for the edification of the student or for the making of profit?!

'We've Seven Left To Play' Bus Says After Husker Loss

By JAY WORKMAN
Collegian Sports Editor

"The only good thing about that game was that it wasn't the last one of the season—we have seven more to play," coach Bus Mertes said after his Wildcats lost to Nebraska university's football team, 14-7, Saturday in Memorial stadium.

"It was a real heartbreaker, and at times we were our own worst enemy. We should have gone after them in the first quarter.

"The turning point was when they got their first touchdown. We tired faster when we got behind and looked sloppy at times.

"Our passing wasn't too good but you have to pass or the halfbacks will play up close to the line and stop the running plays. Nebraska had a real fine defense and a lot of hustle, but I don't think they had a better ball club than ours. They were better than Wyoming or BYU though."

Mertes had nothing but praise for the running of Cat halfback Keith Wilson, who was the top ground gainer with 66 yards on 14 carries in the season's Big Eight opener.

Quarterback Dick Corbin was the second high K-State runner with 38 yards on 10 tries and halfback Ben Grosse had 36 yards on eight attempts.

Corbin was the top Wildcat passer with 47 yards on two completions from eight tries.

Halfback Gene Sandage lead the Cornhuskers rushing with 48 yards on 11 carries while halfback Doug Thomas was second with 47 yards on 12 attempts.

Quarterback Charles Smith was the No. 1 Nebraska passer as he connected on two of four throws for 24 yards.

Both teams now have two defeats and a single win.

Poll Winner Selects NU By Six, 13-7

A 13-7 Nebraska victory prediction enabled Arnold Hildebrand, ME Sr, to win this weekend's Piskin Prognostications contest.

James Phelps, SEd Soph, and Dennis Elliott, PrV Soph, finished second and third respectively. Phelps gave the Cornhuskers a 13-7 win and Elliott predicted a 13-10 contest in favor of Nebraska.

As far as statistics were concerned, Phelps had the edge over the winner. While Hildebrand did come the closest in passing yardage with a predicted 76 yards to the actual 72, Phelps' picks in the rushing yardage and first downs were best. He hit the first downs right on the button at 14 and gave the Cats an even 200 yards rushing. The actual count on rushing was 208 yards.

Our Mistake

In the Working with Sports column in Friday's paper we said that Arizona beat Missouri, 35-14. Actually Missouri beat Arizona by that score. Therefore, K-State is only eight points better than Missouri, not 50.—Sports Editor.

FOR
GRADUATING

"...a good time for thinking..."

"A man's really got to study to make the grade in engineering, whether it's E.E., M.E., or C.E. But when I was at K-State, we found time to sit around and just talk, at some place like the Union. It was a good time for thinking about our future. We were all pretty hot on being right, no mistakes, and we knew what we wanted out of life. I'm sure it's the same way with you."

"...we wanted to get off on the right foot..."

"We knew we wanted to get off on the right foot with an outfit where we'd have a chance, right off, to take responsibility on important projects. That's why we worked hard at finding out just what various companies had to offer us. We wanted to know about salary, sure. But we also wanted to know about the work we'd be doing about our chances for getting ahead in engineering and management, about the kind of people we'd be working for... and with. And we found that the best place to get the answers was at campus interviews sponsored by the companies looking for engineers."

"...I decided... Emerson."

"As a result of my interviews, I decided to go with Emerson Electric. They offered me a realistic salary, the knowledge that Emerson had important projects to work on, and I could see for myself that there'd be plenty of opportunity to move up fast in a company where engineers and management are young and aggressive, with young, hard-fisted plans for the future."

"...some pretty hot projects here..."

"Right now, we're working on some pretty hot projects here, stuff like the B-58 Hustler bomber fire control system and F-101 Voodoo fighter structure. We're working on missiles, too. But behind this important defense work, Emerson Electric is sound in commercial manufacturing, with a reputation in the electrical field that stretches back to 1890. And that literally means money in the bank."

"...give yourself every break..."

"I think Emerson is a darned good career outfit. But I know every man's got to work out his own future. That's why all I'm really urging you to do is give yourself every break by getting all the answers before you decide. Sign up to talk with the people from Emerson Electric. It's just a half hour of your time, and you'll learn exactly what Emerson can offer you. Remember, it's your future you're going in to talk about."

Emil Kouba Jr. graduated from Kansas State in 1957. His work was in E.E. At Emerson Electric, Emil is working on video gating circuits in Emerson's mortar locator project.

Council Completes Planning On Traffic, Public Relations

The Student Council last night completed action on:

1. Enlargement of the Traffic Appeals board.
2. Opening applications for the Public Relations committee.
3. The possibility of polling the faculty on the name change.
4. Making plans to keep the Manhattan swimming pool open for rush.

Student Council enlarged the Traffic Appeals board from three student members to five at its meeting last night. Bill Schick-tanz, GA Sr, Jerry Thomsen, ChE Sr, and Patsy Salmon, BA Soph, were appointed to the board. Laura Langford, EEd Sr, and Dick Payne, BA Sr, were previously appointed chairman and secretary of the board.

Applications are open for four student members on the Student Governing association Public Relations committee. The deadline for applications is 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 16.

Council discussed the plan for keeping the Manhattan municipal swimming pool open to college students during rush week and the orientation period. The plan was tried for the first time this fall.

It decided to recommend to the Student Council of 1958-59 that a committee be appointed early next spring to make arrangements for keeping the pool open late in the fall of 1958. Council also decided that some form of publicity should be set up to inform the students of the extension.

Barbara Ericson, BA Jr, Lynn Mechesney, Gvt Jr, and Joyce Graham, BA Jr, were appointed to the SGA Office Planning committee.

The Council considered offering its services to the Faculty Senate to formulate a plan for polling the faculty on the Kansas State college-Kansas State university name change. No definite conclusion was reached.

SGA Committee Uses New Appointing Plan

Applications for the Student Governing association Public Relations committee are open until 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 16.

The Public Relations committee will be the second committee appointed by the new student government committee appointment plan, according to Dwight Bennett, Ar 03, chairman of the Committee co-ordinating staff.

The chairman of the Public Relations committee will be a member of Student Council. Four student members will be selected from applications and interviews.

Revised application and interview forms are available in the Student Governing association office in the Student Union Activities center, according to Bennett.

Under the new plan, the Student Council, after conducting interviews, will appoint the chairman and secretary of each committee. The newly appointed chairman and secretary, with a Student Council member, will then interview students for membership.

Members will be appointed by

AWS To Host State Meeting

Final plans for the state Associated Women Students conference were made at last night's AWS executive meeting.

The conference will be at the Student Union Saturday.

Representatives from 9 junior colleges and 27 four-year colleges have been invited to attend. The conference will begin with registration and a coffee hour at 9 a.m., followed by a general meeting in the Union little theater.

Dr. Lahey, associate dean of students, and Patsy Garner, EEd Jr, will extend a welcome to the group. Discussions on AWS procedure and policies will precede the luncheon.

Speaker at the luncheon will be Miss Helen Moore, former dean of women at K-State. She will review the goals of AWS.

"It is a complete rejuvenation of application, interview, and appointment systems for K-State student government committees," Bennett said.

Panhellenic Hears Report on National Sorority chapters in National Panhellenic Conference total 1,700, said Dr. Margaret Lahey, associate dean of students, at a meeting of Panhellenic council, sorority governing body, last night.

There are 800,000 members of national panhellenic and 200 collegiate chapters, she stated. Dr. Lahey and Dr. Mary Frances White, assistant professor of English, Panhellenic adviser, explained the aims of Panhellenic and read the national policies.

The K-State organization is affiliated with National Panhellenic conference, City Panhellenic, and Interfraternity councils on all campuses.

Each sorority will entertain two principals during the conference of Kansas high school principals on campus December 11 and 12 to improve relations according to a decision made at the meeting.

Y-Orpheum Committee Has Six Positions Open

Six positions are now open on the Y-Orpheum Executive committee. Applications must be filed in the Union Activities center by Friday at 5 p.m., according to Lowell Novy, VM Soph, chairman of the Union Program council.

The positions open are the Y-Orpheum producer, assistant to the producer, business manager, director, executive secretary, and a YMCA representative. Oliver White, Union program director, and an adviser will also serve on the committee.

Y-Orpheum, which will be March 28 and 29, is being co-sponsored by the YMCA and the Union Program council.

Rush chairman, Janell Farrell, TxC Sr, Panhellenic president, Dr. Lahey, and Dr. White will meet at 7:15 this evening in Room 205 of the Union to discuss summer rush and guest weekends. The representatives will present the ideas of their houses and give reports on the number of women pledged who attended summer rush parties and were guests on weekends.

KSC To Host 400 Students At Conference

Nearly 400 Kansas high school journalism students and their teachers are expected to attend the fall one-day journalism conference Thursday in the Union.

Separate workshops are scheduled for newspaper and yearbook sections.

Ralph R. Lashbrook, head of the Department of Journalism, will be in charge of the newspaper section. Other speakers include Chester Unruh, Clay Center, on staff organization; Dick Fensler, Manhattan Mercury sports editor, on sports writing; John Mitchell, instructor in journalism, on editorial writing; and Helen Hostetter, professor in journalism, on feature writing.

The yearbook section will be headed by C. J. Medlin, Royal Purple adviser whose yearbooks have won 21 all-American awards. Aubrey Bilger, Salina high school journalism instructor, will discuss staff organization and selling subscriptions and advertising. David von Riesen of the Studio Royal in Manhattan will discuss photography.

Skits Introduce Queen Candidates

Homecoming queen candidates from the sororities and dormitories are being introduced by original skits to fraternity men this week.

Three gamblers and Lady Luck will be characterized in Alpha Xi Delta's take-off on "Guys and Dolls" to present Roberta Wray, SEd Jr.

Beauty, Brains, Money, and the Ideal will be musically depicted by Alpha Delta Pi to tell about Susan Schober, PEW Jr.

A quartet and a 1920's style show will present Chi Omega's "Derby gal," Pat West, ArG Soph.

Gamma Phi will do a take-off on "Know How To Tell a Good Fraternity Man," to introduce Pat McDermott, BA Sr.

Van Zile will introduce Margaret Walker, HT Jr, and Kay Fitzgerald, EEd Soph, in rhyme.

A fairy tale about the life of a Homecoming queen will introduce Clovia's Ilene Davey, HT Jr.

The Tri Deltas have a Polynesian theme to tell how the inhabitants of Delta island picked a queen, Barbara Lowe, DIM Sr.

Kappa Delta pantomimes the word "homecoming" and their candidate Annette Maxwell, SS Fr, in a take-off on "Pantomime Quiz."

Frank Buck, cannibals, bonga-bonga maids, and a wise old owl will introduce Kappa Kappa Gamma's Rosemary Derks, Eng Sr.

A chorus line of "Pi Beta Phi Press" members will present "extra special" news about Janice Graham, TJ Sr.

Alpha Chi Omega delegates from various countries will declare Emma Lou Douglass, PEW Soph, as the "universal favorite."

"Northwest Hall Storybook" tells the story of a mau-mau who has a fairy godmother, to introduce Jan Stewart, Soc Fr, and Audrey Schwab, HEN Fr.

The 10 sororities and three women's dormitories will be taking skits to introduce their candidates to each of the 22 K-State Fraternities tonight and tomorrow night before voting begins Thursday. All K-Staters are eligible to vote for the queen.

(Ed McCoy, PrL Sr and vice-chairman of the newly organized Kansas State University association, received this letter from a former K-Stater, Mel Baughman. He submitted it to the Collegian for publication.)
To the Editor:

This letter is to offer my support as an alumnus of Kansas State college to the Kansas State University association in its efforts to clarify K-State's position among educational institutions.

Roger Myers' editorial in the Collegian of September 30 together with other recent statements, convinces me that it's about time for some positive action to be taken on the KSU question. If Michigan State, Oklahoma State, and Florida State are worthy of being called "university" then Kansas State college should be called Kansas State university. I match K-State against any and all of the above institutions in every respect.

Since leaving Manhattan and returning once more to the East, I have been on campuses (or campi) of institutions from Wake Forest in Winston-Salem, N.C., to Rutgers in New Brunswick, N.J., and out to the five Associated Colleges of Claremont, Calif. I still like K-State. Its Schools of Arts and Sciences, Engineering, Vet Medicine, Home Economics, and Agriculture certainly are colleges and thus Kansas State is a university. And—perish the thought—if some confusion should arise because of the similarity of the names KSU and KU, it would only be in the thinking of the fuzzy-minded, for there are vast differences between K-State and its annex down the Kaw.

So let's make it Kansas State university. Ours is an institution which merits the added distinction accruing thereto.

Mel Baughman, BS '56.

Quotes from the News

By UNITED PRESS

Little Rock, Ark.—Dr. Clifford J. Earle, executive secretary of the Social Action department of Presbyterian church, on the position of the church in relation to integration:

"The churches of America, by their response to racial segregation, are being tested and weighed as never before in our history. If the churches do not respond in faithfulness, if they remain in the rear of the struggle for justice, they may continue as institutions, but will they not cease to be the living church through which God speaks and acts?"

France's Minister Has Little Power

By LOREN HENRY

"CHANGE OF THE FIRST MINISTER in my country does not mean a complete change in politics, but just a change in one person's ideas," Pierre Carminade, ME Soph, from Versailles, France, says.

He went on to say that the American people put too much emphasis on the fall of a Prime Minister. The French prime minister has very little actual power.

"With a strong Germany under its present form of government, Communism will not have very much influence in Europe," Pierre says, pertaining to the possibility of Communist domination of Europe.

Communist influence in France is not very strong, because it is not the French way of thinking, according to Pierre. The Communist party got its present strength in the French government immediately after World War II when France was trying to recover from the war.

"IT IS NOT HARD to influence hungry people, if someone offers them something free and that is what the Communists did in France," Pierre comments about the Communist party's strong hold in France.

Pierre came to K-State on a recommendation from friends in Missouri. He says that K-State is a "very nice" school.

After receiving his primary and secondary education in Versailles, Pierre went to college in Paris for a year and half. He worked in Paris for another year and half, then decided to attend K-State.

Last summer Pierre worked for a firm in Omaha as a design engineer.

"I DON'T KNOW whether I will return to France after graduation. I have been offered a job here in the states and friends have suggested that I get my citizenship papers," the Frenchman observes.

Pierre's father works in a chemical engineering plant in Versailles.

"I don't know whether my brother will attend college in this country. If he should decide to seek schooling here, I will not try to influence his choice of colleges," Pierre smiled.

Ah for the Life of a Student-Errant—$28 Job and All! Texas Lady Makes Mistake, Messes with John Law

By Sharon Totten

NOW THIS IS REALLY TOUGH! It seems that everyone has problems these days.

Take the Indiana university student who came into the office of one of the administrative officials recently.

"I'm desperate," the student said, "I've just got to have a job. If I don't find one, I'll have to leave school."

In spite of the late application, the official was able to find one opening. "Well, we have a part time job here that would pay you $28 a month. Would that do?" he said.

"Oh, no sir, I couldn't possibly get by on less than $30. You see, it costs me at least a dollar a day to run my car."

A UNIVERSITY OF TEXAS COED has been scaring away some of her dates lately, but entirely against her will. When going through enrollment, she wasn't sure of her new phone number . . . but decided to list it on all her cards as she remembered it.

Now men who call get a masculine sounding, husky-voiced answer. The Daily Texan advises date-seekers to hang up promptly and informs them the unknown voice is the Austin chief of police. The coed used the chief's unlisted number by mistake.

Four Oregon State coeds in a new dormitory had their lunch hour cut short recently when the dorm elevator quit, leaving the female foursome stranded between the fourth and fifth stories of the building.

Sadly in need of a Superman, the women were content to wait calmly until they were freed by an elevator repairman two hours later. At any rate this all boils down to the fact that people who ride in nonfunctioning elevators may get the shaft.

THE ASIAN FLU seems to be occupying the thoughts of most everyone these days. The Daily Texan reports this incident:

Scene: A women's dormitory. Two minutes before 12:45 a.m. on one of those nights.

Action: The usual.

And then suddenly a window was thrown open on the second floor and a female voice bellowed:

"Stop! Don't you know that spreads Asian flu?"

Now we've heard everything! According to the Michigan Daily, approval of plans for a co-educational dormitory at the University of Michigan seems a certainty. The Daily says, "The co-educational dormitory will offer a compliment to the modern concept of co-education."

IT'S AMAZING what a small typographical error can produce.

The Oregon State Daily Barometer recently claimed that during the coming "Nickel Hop," appropriate trophies for men's houses will be awarded on the basis of "the amount of script the individual loving (instead of living) groups buy."

Winston-Salem, N.C.—Hampton Evans convinced his friends he was sober, but the police—well, that was another story.

Officers arrested Evans after he created a traffic jam by walking the centerline of a busy downtown street.

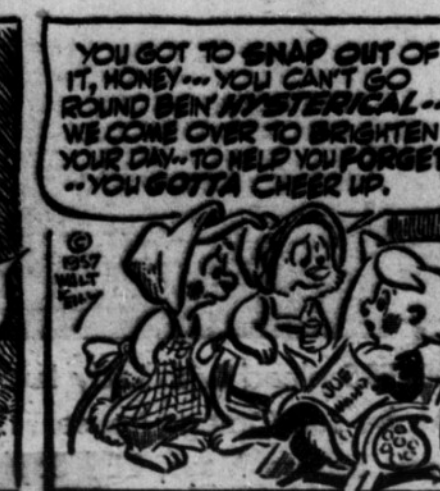

Tokyo—Take it from Masaru Sasaki, a man who knows, vanity can be costly.

Sasaki, who admitted snatching more than 20 fountain pens daily from train passengers, said it was easy because "people owning high-class fountain pens appear to want to show them off."

K-State took advantage of a rain-softened practice field yesterday to get in two hours of contact work. The Cats worked against a 13-man defensive line practicing offense against goal-line stands.

The Cats, who lost 14-7 to Nebraska Saturday narrowly, used an opportunity to tie NU when they were twice held for no gain on the Husker one-yard line.

Three men who started the Nebraska contest, right half Keith Wilson, center Ellis Rainsberger, and tackle Jack Keelan, watched the scrimmage wearing no pads because of minor bruises.

KS Regents Solicit Aid for Waters Hall

The Board of Regents has requested an emergency fund of $63,500 from the State Finance council to put an incombustible roof on East Waters hall.

An estimated $1,500,000 fire gutted the building on August 25. According to Dr. C. A. Agg,

KS Faculty To Give Out Flunk Slips

Five and nine-week low grades and flunk slips will no longer be mailed to students, but will be given to the students personally by their instructors during or at the close of the first class following the five or nine-week period, according to A. L. Pugsley, dean of academic administration.

The instructors will still send a copy of each low grade to the deans.

The limited services of the College Postal center were responsible for the change.

Voting Begins Thursday For Homecoming Queen

Students may cast their votes for homecoming queen Thursday and Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., according to Warren Keegan, Ec Sr. Booths will be set up in Anderson hall and in the Student Union for the election. In order to vote, students must have their activity cards.

Students may vote for only one candidate. The girl receiving the most votes will reign as homecoming queen. The four girls receiving the next highest number of votes will be attendants to the queen.

The five finalists will be announced next Tuesday on the Union terrace. The queen will be presented at half-time of the K-State-Colorado game October 19.

Sorority Rush Chairmen Meet To Improve Rules

Suggestions were made to improve the present system of six-guest weekends at sorority houses at a meeting of the nine sorority rush chairmen last night in the Union.

Response of the rush chairmen to a suggestion for general Panhellenic weekends instead of many six-guest weekends, was favorable, according to Jannell Farrell, TxC Sr, Panhellenic president.

Rush captains will present the ideas they received at the meeting to their sororities. The ideas of each house then will be presented to Panhellenic council for settlement.

state fire marshal, the fire was probably caused by faulty electrical wiring on the second floor.

Another $3,750 was requested to weatherproof the north wall of the building, while $2,000 was requested to provide temporary heating and lighting and to close, temporarily, the openings of the burned-out windows.

The action was taken on a recommendation made by a committee appointed by the Board of Regents. The committee was composed of Arthur D. Weber, acting president; R. F. Gingrich, director of the physical plant; Glenn Beck, acting dean of the School of Agriculture; John Brink, state architect, and two other architects.

Work will begin as soon as possible to prevent further weather damage to the building, according to Daniel D. Beatty, K-State's business manager.

The committee requested that the mill be built in a new location, and a one-story building be erected in its place. The one-story building would be used as classrooms and offices.

The board asked John Brink to prepare plans and specifications for the rebuilding of East Waters and the mill.

READY TO GO is Barbara Lowe, K-State's candidate for American Royal queen as she talks to her mother over the phone about her coming trip to Kansas City.

I will try to represent K-State to the best of my ability," Barbara said. She is anxious to see one of the top horse shows in the nation while in Kansas City.

K-State's candidate will register at the Continental hotel in Kansas City at 11 a.m. Wednesday. She will be personally interviewed by five judges during the first three days and will attend various dinners and participate in a talent show with the other contestants.

The queen and two princesses will be presented at a coronation ball Friday, October 18, and will then reign over American Royal week, October 21-26. Eight ladies-in-waiting will also be named.

Barbara is still wondering just what is in store for her at the show, but she has gotten some tips from Carol Holmquist, EEd Sr, who was K-State's American Royal candidate last year. Carol was selected a princess at the 1956 show.

At K-State Barbara has been a member of Whi-Purs, Dietetics club, and Angel Flight. A member of Delta Delta Delta sorority, she edited the organization's rush booklet last summer and is now publicity chairman. She is the Tri-Delt candidate for homecoming queen.

"Miss K-State" was a title received by Barbara in the 1955 K-State summer school beauty contest. She went on to represent Kansas in a national college queen contest at Asbury Park, N.J.

"I had a wonderful time and met many interesting college girls from all over the United States," says Barbara about her experiences there. She appeared on television and for photographers in New York City before going to Asbury Park where she modeled various outfits in a style show. She was in the top 15 of 42 college contestants.

In 1952 Barbara was selected the most outstanding girl at the Kansas State Fair at Hutchinson with nine blue ribbons for her achievements, and in 1953 she attended the National 4-H Congress in Chicago as the outstanding girl in the foods division from Kansas.

Many Parking Spaces in KS Faculty Lot Wasted Daily

Figures are available to the Traffic Control board which might lead to the reclamation of part of the two faculty parking sections for students.

These figures show there are many spaces in the faculty lot that are being wasted each day.

A survey of the faculty lot was made every hour on the hour for two days of two weeks by the campus police. The survey showed that many parking places in the faculty lot are consistently vacant. However, we are not at liberty to disclose the daily average.

With all due respect for the many time-consuming activities of the student and faculty members of the Traffic Control board, this is a current problem and should be dealt with immediately.

The traffic board is not a subcommittee of any SGA or faculty organization. It gives its recommendation directly to the administration. With such a clear channel to work through, action on this matter could be quick and decisive.

The Traffic Control board has a good record of getting things done. It didn't take 'em long to give the lot away.

The chairman of the board has admitted the extra lot was experimental and the results, if unsatisfactory, could be changed. We think the experiment was unsatisfactory.

There are concrete facts to be had, now—facts on which an accurate estimation can be made. The Collegian would hate to see these facts pigeonholed.—Roger Myers.

THIS PICTURE was taken looking south from the roof of the Student Union. It was snapped at about 2 p.m. on a Friday. If you will look closely at the upper one-fourth of the picture, you'll notice quite a few parking places. Now, scan the bottom three-fourths of the cut and see how many parking stalls are empty. The picture includes most of the Student Union parking lot so we're not fudging any. The difference between the top and bottom is that the top shows the faculty area and the bottom shows the student space.—Ed

Ike Says Russian Satellite No Security Threat America Will Fire Satellites in December

By PAT ROBERTS

Washington—President Eisenhower announced today that the United States will start firing earth satellites into outer space in December.

Eisenhower told his news conference that in his opinion, based on long conferences with American scientists, the Russian satellite now circling the earth poses no threat to American security.

The President told newsmen that the first American satellite to be fired in December would not carry intricate instrumentation but would be sent in outer space as a test vehicle.

He said several similar satellites probably would be fired into space before the United States puts up an artificial moon with complicated instrumentation.

Faubus Under Fire

Little Rock, Ark.—Gov. Orval E. Faubus, under fire to put up or shut up, faced close questioning today on his charge that troops enforcing integration at Central high school have invaded the privacy of girls' dressing rooms.

Faubus scheduled a news conference this morning at 9:30 CST.

He gave no hint of what he would discuss in his first full scale meeting with the press since making his charge. However, reporters were certain to ask for clarification of a letter in which he said he had received complaints that paratroopers had accompanied Negro girl students into the dressing rooms.

The Faubus letter, to the general commanding the troops at Little Rock, was denounced by the White House as untrue and vulgar. School and Army officials also denied the Faubus charges.

Flu Epidemic Grows

A medical expert warned last night that 20 to 28 per cent of the nation's population will be stricken with flu during the next few weeks.

Dr. Alexander Langmuir, chief of the epidemiology branch of the U.S. Public Health service's communicable disease center at Atlanta, made the prediction at a meeting of the Indian medical association at French Lick, Ind. However, Langmuir added, "We'll be through with the Asian flu by Christmas."

Reports from around the nation indicated flu outbreaks were gaining in strength with the onset of chilly weather.

Langmuir said there is evidence the Asian flu virus which has swept the world originated in the Netherlands rather than in Asia. He described it as "an old flu bug that keeps coming back."

"It seems to come in cycles," Langmuir said, "recurring every two or three years during a 10-year period."

Moon Tension Grows

Barcelona, Spain—An American lawyer said today present international law would give Russia the right to claim the moon if it became the first nation to hit it with a missile or land space men there.

The lawyer was Andrew G. Haley of Washington, D.C., one of the few specialists in space law. He spoke against the background of predictions by U.S. delegates to the International Astronomical congress that Russia may hit the moon within the next few months and may be able to land space men on it or circle it in the next few years.

Haley listed present international law as a possible cause of dangerous tension in the comparatively near future. He said he was proposing to the Congress that the moon be declared "a free and independent autonomous (self governing) area."

Turley, Buhl To Throw In Today's Series Game

By UNITED PRESS

The New York Yankees pinned all their hopes on bullet Bob Turley to keep them alive in the sixth game of the World Series today, and also to keep the Milwaukee Braves from stripping them of the world championship title.

Down three games to two, the Yankees were 3-2 choice to beat right-hander Bob Buhl today although the Braves were quoted 9-5 favorites to win the series.

The Yankees faced the bleak prospect of being without the services of sluggers Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron for the remainder of the series. Mantle is suffering from a torn tendon in his right shoulder while Skowron's ailing back has failed to respond to treatment.

Adding to the Yankees' troubles was the report that pitchers Johnny Kucks and Art Ditmar had contacted the flu.

Milwaukee had quite an imposing hospital list of its own as the teams prepared to square off at Yankee stadium following yesterday's off-day. Southpaw Warren Spahn was confined to his hotel room with the grippe while Red Schoendienst was a doubtful starter because of a groin injury suffered in the fifth game of the series.

Turley and Buhl both failed to survive the second inning when they started against each other in the third game of the series at Milwaukee last Saturday.

Yankee manager Casey Stengel said he probably would start rookie Tony Kubek in center field although he pointed out he might change his mind at the last minute and use left-handed hitting Joe Collins in Mantle's spot.

games will be played if the fields can be remarked in time.

Yanks Pick Mathews As Outstanding Brave

By UNITED PRESS

Lew Burdette looks like the odds-on choice to wind up as the World Series hero, but the still-nubbed New York Yankees insist Eddie Mathews is "the guy who really killed us."

From Casey Stengel on down, the Yankees all agree that Mathews has proven the most valuable member of the Milwaukee club so far during the series, and that's quite a bouquet considering Burdette's two victories.

"The guy is hitting only .200 but if Milwaukee didn't have him in the lineup, this could have been an entirely different series," Stengel commented.

"Before the series started," he added, "we all knew he could take you out of the game with one shot and just in case we didn't know it, he reminded us with that 10th inning homer of his on Sunda. But I'm not talking about his hitting so much.

"Where he's really opened our eyes is in the field, why, he plays that third base splendidly. Maybe you didn't realize it, but he saved the game for the Braves on Monday just as much as Wes Covington did with that fancy catch."

Stengel, however, is only one of the many Yankees who has become enchanted by Mathews' all-around performance in the series.

"I just didn't think he was that fast," Coleman says.

"None of us did," offered short-stop Gil McDougald. "We all thought he was merely a fair runner but the truth is there aren't many who can beat him getting down to first base."

Pulitzer Winner To Speak At College Assembly Friday

Bruce Catton, winner of the 1954 National Book award and the Pulitzer Prize for history, will speak at an all-College assembly Friday on the history of the Civil war.

Catton, who is editor of American Heritage, a popular history magazine, has written numerous books about the Civil war period.

His first book, published in 1948, was "The War Lords of Washington." His trilogy on the Army of the Potomac began with "Mr. Lincoln's Army." The second volume was "Glory Road," and he concluded the work with "A Stillness at Appomattox," which won for him the Pulitzer Prize for history.

Catton was born in Michigan and educated in Ohio. He attended Oberlin college from 1916 to 1920 with time out for a stretch in the Navy as an enlisted man.

He left school at the end of his junior year to go into newspaper work. He worked for the Cleveland News, the Boston American, and the Cleveland

Bruce Catton

Plain Dealer as a reporter. He then went to work for the Newspaper Enterprise association. With the NEA he ran a Sunday section, wrote editorials and book reviews, and was Washington's correspondent in 1939 and 1940.

In 1941 Catton went to work for the government as an "information man" for the War Production board. After the war he was director of information for the Department of Commerce under Henry Wallace and Averell Harriman. Since leaving that job he has devoted his full time to writing.

Hot Dog Concessions Change Management

Kansas State's athletic department this year took over the operation of all concessions at Wildcat football and basketball games. Ray Wauthier, K-State baseball coach and acting head of the Department of Men's Physical Education, is concessions manager.

"It will take us a year to get lined out and running smoothly," said Wauthier. "We will have to build new booths in the Field House before the basketball season starts."

The concessions operation previously had been let to professional concerns.

"We felt that under our own management we could improve the service offered K-State fans," explained H. B. (Bebe) Lee, Wildcat athletic director. "And we felt that we could realize more income from the operation also."

Income from concessions is channeled into athletic scholarships at K-State, the Wildcat director added.

The concessions are being operated by members of Riley County Home Demonstration units. They donate all wages from their work toward building funds for the Georgiana Smurthwaite co-op house for women students to be built on the K-State campus. The new dorm will house 50 coeds

'Engineer' Staff To Convention

Representatives of the K-State Engineer are attending the Collegiate Engineering association conference at Northwestern university in Evanston, Ill., October 10-12.

Those representing the magazine are James Lewelling, EE Jr, editor of the magazine; Evie Warner, Ar 04; Ruth Collins, Ar 04; Bob Baldwin, CE Jr; Hubert Guest, Ar 05; and Laurence Kasper, AED Sr.

Awards will be made for last year's Engineering magazines. One hundred seventy engineering magazine staffs will participate in the conference.

Anderson Is Given An Indefinite Term

Severt Earl (Andy) Anderson, 210 South 17th street, charged with the theft of $2,075.47 from the K-State Union, was sentenced to the Kansas State Reformatory at Hutchinson under the indeterminate sentence law by Judge Lewis L. McLaughlin, District court.

At present Anderson is confined to the Riley county jail.

In Kansas, the statutes fix minimum and maximum terms but permit the exact term to be determined by a parole board. The sentence will not be fixed until after the prisoner has served long enough for the board to observe his behavior in jail.

Anderson will have a chance to make an appeal for parole at a later date in District court. No appeal has been asked for yet, according to Sheriff Gilbert Peterson.

Anderson was employed at the Union since its opening in 1955 and was games manager from the fall of 1956. He was a business administration sophomore.

Authorities have recovered $1,700 in cash and Anderson told the county attorney, Richard Rogers, he would try to make up the difference.

The metal cash box Anderson tossed in the Kaw river has not been found. Because the metal box contained mostly checks Sheriff Peterson said the search for the box was being abandoned.

Eleven Units Planned for Wed Staters

Plans for the 264 new apartments for married students will soon be sent to the Federal Housing and Home Finance agency for approval, according to A. Thornton Edwards, director of housing. The plans are presently in the hands of the state architect.

Edwards expects construction to get underway this semester and indicated that part of the project might be finished by next fall. He expects the rest to be finished by the fall of 1959.

There will be 11 buildings built, with 24 apartments in each one. Each building will have 16 one-bedroom apartments and 8 two-bedroom apartments.

"In the future we expect more people without children, probably newlyweds; hence the reason for more one-bedroom apartments," Edwards said.

The one-bedroom apartments cost $62.50 and the two-bedroom cost $67.50 a month. The apartments are furnished and all the bills are paid. There is a limit on the amount of electricity the occupants can use.

All of the new buildings will be located north of Jardine drive, making a total of 15 buildings on that side of the street.

Union Information Desk Has Lost, Found Items

Students wishing to locate lost items may get them by inquiring at the Union information desk. All articles found in classrooms, offices, and other campus gathering places have been turned in to the Union lost and found department, which is the only one on campus. Books, articles of clothing, watches, glasses, and other miscellaneous items have been turned in, and students are asked to claim them.

Exchangees Find U.S., Italy Different

By KATHY SCHULTIS

The only way to have a friend is to be one, so the old saying goes. To Sandra Smerchek, MEI Sr, and Chiara Bini, Bac Jr, the saying has a special sentimental value. The two coeds exchanged homes last year while attending college. Sandra lived with Chiara's family in Bologna, Italy, and Chiara lived with Sandra's parents in Manhattan.

Chiara has attended school at Kansas State two years, this year making the third. The cost of coming to the United States from Italy was financed through a Fulbright scholarship.

The two girls found living customs somewhat different in the two countries. "The beginning of my stay in the United States seemed so strange," said Chiara. "However, I have adjusted and like it very much now."

Sandra didn't speak Italian and found that making her way around Italy wasn't too easy upon arrival. "I was sick when I arrived. I didn't have any money, and nobody met me. Somehow I managed to get to Bologna, where Chiara's parents met me," Sandra said. She explained that she learned the Italian language in a hurry after her arrival.

The homes in the two countries presented quite a contrast to the girls. Chiara's parents own a villa in Bologna. As she explained, "In Italy the home are called villas, and they are built on many levels and surrounded by a fence with a gate. They resemble apartment buildings." Sandra's parents live in a one-story ranch type home in the west part of Manhattan.

As a result of exchanging places for one year, the two coeds have become the best of friends. "I would call her my sister," said Chiara. "In Italy it is customary to call good friends brothers and sisters."

Sandra wasn't the first foreign exchange student to stay with the Binis. An English girl, a German girl, and a French boy stayed at Chiara's home before Sandra did. The students had exchanged places with Chiara's brother and two sisters, who were attending colleges in England, Germany, and France.

Sandra studied at the music conservatory in Bologna. "I was the only foreign student there at the time," she explained. She spent the weekends touring the nearby countries. "There were so many places to go and so many things I wanted to do that I didn't spend much time studying," she said.

President James A. McCain, his wife, and daughter visited Chiara's parent while Sandra was staying with them. Mrs. Bini, according to Chiara, had a dinner party in their honor. "It was just fabulous to see President McCain and his family and to have them visit with the Binis," said Sandra.

Chiara found studying in America somewhat easier than studying in schools of her home land. She explained that only one test a year is given and students are expected to remember everything from the year's work.

Mathis, Presley Top Local Record Scene With 'Chances Are' and 'Jail House Rock'

By Imogene Lamb

JOHNNY MATHIS and Elvis Presley secured top berths in Manhattan disc ratings this week. Johnny Mathis' "Chances Are" is No. 1 on Manhattan jukeboxes, and "Jail House Rock," by Elvis Presley, climbed from third in record sales last week to top spot this week.

"Chances Are" fills the eighth position sales-wise, and in a quick switch, has surpassed last week's Mathis hit "Twelfth of Never." "Twelfth of Never" was tenth last week, but was knocked out of the top ten bracket this week.

"Honeycomb," by Jimmy Rodgers, occupies the No. 2 position on both polls. Last week it was first on sales lists and second on jukeboxes.

"DIANA," in the No. 1 jukebox position last week, slipped to third place this week. "That'll Be the Day," by the Crickets, fills third place on record sales lists.

"Mr. Lee," by the Bobbets, in position No. 5, is a newcomer to the jukebox top ten this week.

Pat Boone's "Remember You're Mine" also put in a top ten appearance on jukeboxes and is now in eighth place. Last week "Remember You're Mine" was No. 6 on sales lists, but it is in fourth position this week.

"Brigadoon" is available in the original cast album with David Brooks, Marion Bell, Pamela Britton, and Lee Sullivan. Hit songs from the show are "Waitin' for My Dearie," "The Heather on the Hill," "Come to Me, Bend to Me," "Almost Like Being in Love," "From This Day On," and "Brigadoon."

Ballot for KSU in Referendum May Aid Grads Seeking Jobs

THE COLLEGIAN has received two letters from Kansas State graduates supporting our contention that the title, university, carries with it more prestige than college.

Two letters do not constitute an impassioned outcry by any means. They do, however, mean that people who have dealt with the implications of one title or another are in complete agreement as to which title is more effective.

The title of college, as we have mentioned before and will emphasize again, connotes a small school. A small school connotation gives prospective employers the impression that a prospective employee's education was not comprehensive.

SOONER OR LATER, college graduates compete for jobs. Almost all these competing college graduates will get jobs. But what kind of jobs will they be? Will a job be high-paying, or will it be a lower salaried position?

The classification of degree you graduate with may easily determine your first job. You may never get the chance to show your ability if you're stuck down low on the ladder. And, without a chance to show your ability, you will probably remain on the lower rung.

We don't claim that jobs are given on the basis of whether you have a BS or a BA, but the difference might cost the graduate $50 a week when he's hunting for work.

THE POINT IS that you should vote for the name change. The sub point is, to get anything done about changing the name, K-Staters are going to have to turn out for the October 31-November 1 referendum in record numbers.

The biggest student turnout on record for an election is 35 per cent. Thirty-five per cent of the K-State student body is slightly over 2,000. Two thousand votes for the name change wouldn't convince even K-Staters, let alone the Board of Regents.

So dwell on the pocket book aspect of changing the name and decide now that you will vote when the referendum rolls around—Roger Myers.

Readers' Forum

Dear K-Staters:

As alums we'd like to express our thoughts regarding the K-State name change. We feel that K-State has "grown up" along with such schools as Ohio State and Michigan State who in recent years have matured from college to university.

Since graduation, we have had the opportunity to associate with young men and women from various sections of the country representing different colleges and universities. Throughout, their opinions agree with ours, that "university" augments prestige to an already great name such as Kansas State.

K-State, in reality, is a university. So let's make it known to the world. How about it Staters—when it comes to a vote let's bring our school up to date with a loud "aye" for Kansas State university.

Sincerely,

Lt. Marion F. Soder, BS '56

Russian Satellite Brings New Concern to World

Compiled From United Press
By Pat Roberts

London—Moscow announced today the Russian earth satellite had traveled the equivalent of five round trips to the moon, a statement that heightened world concern over push-button warfare and disarmament.

The problem of disarmament received a new note of urgency today by the United Press Washington report that Russia may have fired an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) with a Hydrogen bomb warhead.

President Eisenhower called a meeting of the National Security Council in Washington today for hard discussions of the effects of the Russian advancements in the ICBM and other weapons.

Western Europe, in editorials in leading newspapers, appealed to United States to give the world a firm lead in dealing with the Soviet Union over international control of missiles and space travel. It also was relying on reports the U.S. was speeding its own missile program.

Moscow was taking every advantage of its propaganda victory in launching the satellite and was sending three of its top scientists to today's U.N. session to dramatize the situation.

The "Moon of Peace" showed no signs of slowing down. World scientists reported today the satellite was closer to the earth than ever, but British scientist Martin Ryle said "the satellite's got a lot of life in it yet."

A spokesman at the Mullard laboratories said signals from the satellite were "loud and clear" when it passed over Britain this morning.

Faubus Position Firm

Little Rock, Ark.—Gov. Orval E. Faubus feels that only the removal of Negro students from Central high school by a "third party" will break the deadlock between the Governor and President Eisenhower, a reliable source told United Press today.

The Governor feels that such a "third party" as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People should pull the Negro students out of integrated Central high school to allow a cooling off period, the source said.

Mrs. Lucius C. Bates, President of the Little Rock chapter of the NAACP was not available for comment on whether any such idea of transferring six girls and three boys back to Horace Mann (Negro) school would be likely.

Flu Claims Six Deaths

Health officials today counted at least six new deaths blamed on Asian flu in mounting outbreaks of the disease across the country.

Milwaukee's flu epidemic hit its peak and was expected to continue another three weeks before declining. But in New York, scene of today's final World Series game, a flu epidemic appeared on the wane.

Three of the latest deaths believed caused by flu or flu-induced complications were in Michigan, two of them in Pennsylvania and one in Utah.

The disease continued to rage through the South. Louisiana health authorities reported 300,000 flu cases since July 14 and a total of 51 deaths blamed on influenza and complications. But the outbreak there was believed to be on the decline.

Satellite To Beep For Science Day

One of the highlights of the annual high school science conference at K-State Saturday will be the taped recordings of "beeps" made by the Russian earth satellite as it passed over Kansas this week.

Nearly 700 high school students and science instructors from all over Kansas are expected for the science day event. Demonstrations and exhibits for that day will show the kinds of work which scientists do, and the latest development in the world of science.

Students interested in science as a career will get special opportunities for counseling.

Walter Scott Houston, instructor in English, who is the director of an official moon watch station near Manhattan, will tell the science day visitors what has been observed so far, and will discuss the operations of the moon watch station.

The "beeps" were recorded by the Manhattan station, an official unit of the Smithsonian Astrophysical observatory which was being set up to help track the American satellite, which is scheduled to be launched next June.

The station's tracking mechanism was re-oriented so that it was possible to track the Russian satellite for the first time Tuesday night.

"The Russian satellite has provided us with an excellent chance to try out our electrical equipment, and it is working just as we'd hoped," Houston said.

The Russian satellite's orbit lies in, or near, the earth's shadow, and is not visible, except perhaps near the poles. It is expected to be visible in Kansas around October 18, Houston said.

Orders Now Accepted For Basketball Ducats

Orders for 1957-58 K-State basketball tickets are now being accepted, reports Frank Mosier, Wildcat ticket manager.

Included are 10 cage events to be played in Mike Ahearn field-house. One of those is the December 21 double-header in which California U. plays Kansas U. in the first game, and Kansas State meets Washington U. in the second.

Remaining home opponents for the Wildcats include Texas Western, Iowa U., Minnesota U., and the six conference foes.

The season-opener is December 3 against Texas Western.

Mosier explained there is the customary limit of four tickets per order on the K-State-KU game here March 8, and on the contest orders will be accepted by mail only. This was necessary, he added, so that postmarks can be used to insure filling requests on the first-come-first-served basis.

Closing date for season ticket orders is November 1, Mosier said. For last year's season ticket holders to take advantage of priority, they must order and remit prior to that date.

'No Sweat or Worry About Game'—Larsen

By UNITED PRESS

Don Larsen faced the biggest game of his life today the same way he went into the perfect game, with "no sweat, no worry and no windup."

"What the hell," shrugged the big, likeable right-hander, "in another couple of hours I'll either be a hero or a bum, but there is no sense worrying about it."

"I'm not looking for another perfect game. I'm no hog. All I care about is winning, and if the score is 10-0, I'll be perfectly happy, too."

Southpaw Whitey Ford, who already has pitched two games in this series asked manager Casey Stengel to start him in today's game and probably would have been started had he not been called on to warm up during the late stages of yesterday's game.

"It wouldn't make the slightest difference to me if Whitey went out and beat them," Larsen said, obviously sincere. "We're all playing for the same club."

Big Don will be carrying a responsibility of more than $100,000 when he faces the Braves in today's series' windup, but he'll enter the contest with the easy, relaxed attitude of a guy sitting in on a five and ten-cent poker game.

When Larsen was notified he was to start the finale, he accepted the news with his customary calm.

Hank Bauer, who rooms with Larsen, came into the room after awhile and Don kidded him about his game-winning homer.

"Have your fun," Hank grinned back, "only make sure you don't disgrace this room tomorrow."

"Disgrace the room," Larsen replied. "Why, you know I'm gonna hit a home run in the ninth inning to beat 'em, 1-0."

Keith Wilson Twists Knee May Miss COP Contest

K-State's standout halfback Keith Wilson may not make the trip with the Wildcats for the non-conference game with College of Pacific Saturday at Stockton.

Wilson twisted his knee in scrimmage yesterday and will be x-rayed today in an attempt to determine the extent of his injury. What the examination discloses will decide whether or not he will see action Saturday night.

BEN GROSSE KICKS another field goal in practice with Ron Beshk holding. Grosse made three fieldgoals last season to place second in the nation in that category. The 177-pound halfback is presently the No. 3 Wildcat rusher and the second best punter and punt returner.

Final World Series Tilt Sees Key Men Injured

By UNITED PRESS

It's the man who pitched the perfect game against the man with the "perfect pitch" today when the "big city" Yankees and the "rural America" Braves wind up the 1957 World Series.

Don (perfect game) Larsen vs. Lew Burdette; Casey Stengel trying for a record-tying seventh world championship and Fred Haney trying for his first; the Yankees trying to save a measure of New York's baseball honor and the Braves trying to make the Milwaukee dream come true, that's the drama that'll be unfolding before some 68,000 fans at Yankee stadium.

At the 11 a.m. (CST) game-time, the Yankees will be favored at 7-5, whether it is Larsen vs. Burdette or Whitey Ford for the Yankees.

All square at three games each after the Yankees won yesterday's 3-2 squeaker, both teams come down to the "big one" with key men suffering from physical ailments. The Yankees are unlikely to get anything but spot duty from sluggers Mickey Mantle and Bill Skowron and the Braves probably won't have the services of spark-plug Red Schoendienst and might be without those of pitcher Warren Spahn, a 21-game winner.

In Larsen, the Yankees are going with an erratic, hard-throwing right-hander who reached the pinnacle of World Series fame last October 8 when he pitched his perfect game against the Brooklyn Dodgers. It was the only such performance in World Series history and the first perfect game in the majors since 1922. But, despite that epic performance, Larsen proved to be a disappointment in the American League this season and wound up with a 10-4 record.

In a very real sense, he's out to redeem another lack-lustre year with another tremendous single-game performance.

Ben Grosse Is Outstanding As Fieldgoal Kicker for Cats

By MIKE SCANLAND and BILL BIDWELL

To K-State football fans the name Ben Grosse is synonymous with fieldgoal kicking.

Grosse sprang into prominence last fall when his 35-yard fieldgoal provided the margin of victory in K-State's 10-7 victory over Nebraska at Lincoln. He kicked two more fieldgoals last year to rank second in the nation in that department.

And yet the 177-pound junior halfback did not develop the skill to a great degree until his sophomore year at K-State.

"Herb Cormack, backfield coach, found out I could kick and helped me out. I used to kick 25 to 50 times every practice," Grosse explained.

"He missed that one last Saturday but he'll make some more," Cormack said, "He's a better kicker than last year. He kicks harder and just as straight."

Cormack was referring to Grosse's unsuccessful 31-yard fieldgoal attempt against Nebraska.

"It was a bad center and the ball bounced on the ground before the quarterback got it," Grosse said, "It wasn't even on the tee when I kicked it."

He says the biggest thrill he ever had in sports was the fieldgoal he kicked to win the Nebraska game last year and adds he never doubted it was good after it left his foot. "It was in there all the way. I knew it was going," he stated.

"His greatest asset is his determination to be a top flight football player," said head coach Bus Mertes. Starting on the first string this season, the 5-9 177-pound junior recently has been hampered with the flu.

"Ben is of more value to us as an offensive and defensive halfback than a fieldgoal kicker," the coach added. "He is a very strong and fast runner as he proved last season in the Michigan state game when he ran 64 yards."

Although he developed late as a fieldgoal kicker Grosse had a solid background as a kicker when he came to K-State. He punted, kicked off, and kicked fieldgoals in high school. Grosse shares Wildcat punting duty with Keith Wilson and after three games has a 43 yard average.

"He's a better than average punter. His average is over 40 now but I'd settle for 38 by the end of the season," Cormack said.

He'll make a lot of yards for us before the year is over. He's pretty fast and runs hard; a good, strong, all around player that works hard and likes to play. He had the flu, and it slowed him down. Wilson took over at left half and will be hard to move out of there because he's been great," Cormack said.

It may not surprise anybody to learn that Grosse rates two Oklahoma players as the best he has ever faced. There are halfback Tommy McDonald and center Jerry Tubbs; both All-Americans last year.

"That Tubbs really shook me up when he hit me. McDonald can fake you out and he's got terrific speed," Grosse said.

After last Saturday's 14-7 loss to Nebraska, Ben said the Cats can win five out of the seven remaining games, "If we quit making so many mistakes."

He believes K-State can defeat KU, Colorado, Missouri, Iowa State, and College of Pacific.

"College of Pacific will be a tough game but we can beat 'em," he said.

His sophomore grid season boasted the kicking of three field-goals to rank second in the nation. He also had a rushing average of 8.7 yards a carry.

He lettered in track last season with his work in the dashes and shotput. He gets around 48 feet with shot.

Although his home is near Jamestown, Grosse went to Concordia high school after his freshman year.

Grosse was an all-around athlete at Concordia where he captained the NCKL championship football and basketball teams. He was named honorable mention on the all-state football team and to the all-area and all-NCKL league first units.

He decided to concentrate on football at K-State because, "I thought I would have a better chance in football and I like it better anyway."

A physical education major, Ben wants to coach and teach physical education after graduation from college.

AKL's Plan Open House

Members of Alpha Kappa Lambda welcome students and faculty members to open house in their new home at 1919 Hunting from 1:30 p.m. until 5 p.m. Sunday. "Tours of the house have been planned to give interested persons an opportunity to see what it is like," says Ray North PrL Sr.

Robert A. Anderson, assistant director of admissions and registrar, and AKL faculty adviser, will stand in the receiving line with Mrs. Wayne B. Granger, house-mother, and Barry Rupard, BA Jr, president.

The AKL's moved into their new home last May.

Western dress and casino props will highlight Alpha Gamma Rho's annual Roulette party Saturday night at the chapter house.

Acacia entertained its par-tion party last Wednesday at the house for Bob Sanders, Ar 02, Wichita; Gene Meier, PEM Jr, Bunker Hill; and Gene Olander, EE Soph, Topeka.

The Alpha Gamma Rhos entertained the Alpha Xi Deltas at a picnic at Sunset Park October 3. Following the picnic, everyone gathered around the fire and sang songs.

KS Students May Sign for Dance Classes

Students interested in attending dance instruction classes should sign up in the Union activities center, according to Mike Dole, ChE Jr, chairman of the Union Dance committee. Instructions will begin next week.

Classes will meet on Monday and Tuesday nights in the Union dive and on Thursday nights in Northwest hall from 7 to 8 p.m. for 10 consecutive weeks, excluding vacations. The registration fee is $3.

Mac and Jerry Hart, a husband and wife dance team, will instruct the classes. The Harts have taught in Arthur Murray and Murray Dale studios in New York City. Dance steps to be taught are the jitterbug, tango, fox trot, mambo, rhumba, cha cha, waltz, and merengue.

Rummage Sale

All kinds of clothing, costume jewelry, and old linens will be sold at a rummage sale at the Manhattan Community center, Thursday, October 10, from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. according to Don Hauptli, EEd Sr, housemanager of Lambda Chi Alpha.

The rummage sale is an annual project of the Lambda Chi Parents' Club.

The proceeds from the rummage sale will be used to buy new dishes for the Lambda Chi house.

Delta Sigma Rho Initiates

Dan Hahn, Sp Jr, and Dave Nuttle, AH Sr, will be initiated into Delta Sigma Rho, national forensics honorary, at a meeting tonight at 8 in the Student Union.

The initiates were selected on the basis of scholarship and forensics (debate, discussion and oratory) participation.

Phil Reid, EE Jr, president of Delta Sigma Rho, will conduct the initiation, which entitles the new members to life membership in the honorary.

Purple Pepsters

Delegates to the national conference of Phi Sigma Chi, national honorary pep club fraternity, were elected at a meeting of the K-State Purple Pepsters Monday afternoon in Eisenhower hall.

Janet Newcomer, PEW Soph, and Judy Higgins, Sp Soph, were selected to attend the conference at Kansas university October 26. Joyce Graham, BAA Sr, president, will also attend.

The organization is selling pom poms to all Purple Pepster and Whi-Pur members for use in the Homecoming parade and at the

The K-State Sports Car club met for the first time Tuesday night for the purpose of organization.

Temporary chairman Don Wester, GA Sr, conducted the meeting and three other students, Mike Gottschalk, ME Jr; Ed Dunlap, ME Sr; and Dave Mangelsdorf, ME Jr, talked to the group.

Permission has been obtained by the club to enter cars in the Homecoming parade. Future activities will be rallies, sports car shows, and possibly some interclub events with the Jayhawk Sports Car club at Kansas university.

Any sports car owner interested in the club should contact Dave Mangelsdorf, ME Jr, for information about the club.

The next meeting will be Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in J 26.

K-State Chant

"Let's Go Wildcats" is the new chant to be heard at K-State games, according to cheerleader Charlotte Strah, ArG Jr, who suggested the yell.

No prize was awarded in the campus chant contest which closed Saturday since there was only one entry. It was sent in by Cerena Biles, EEd Soph.

"We want to thank Cerena for her interest and realize now that the contest was a difficult challenge since the rhythm couldn't be written on paper," the cheerleaders said.

FOR
GRADUATING

"...a good time for thinking..."

"A man's really got to study to make the grade in engineering, whether it's E.E., M.E., or C.E. But when I was at K-State, we found time to sit around and just talk, at some place like the Union. It was a good time for thinking about our future. We were all pretty hot on being right, no mistakes, and we knew what we wanted out of life. I'm sure it's the same way with you."

"...we wanted to get off on the right foot..."

"We knew we wanted to get off on the right foot with an outfit where we'd have a chance, right off, to take responsibility on important projects. That's why we worked hard at finding out just what various companies had to offer us. We wanted to know about salary, sure. But we also wanted to know about the work we'd be doing about our chances for getting ahead in engineering and management, about the kind of people we'd be working for ... and with. And we found that the best place to get the answers was at campus interviews sponsored by the companies looking for engineers."

"...I decided... Emerson."

"As a result of my interviews, I decided to go with Emerson Electric. They offered me a realistic salary, the knowledge that Emerson had important projects to work on, and I could see for myself that there'd be plenty of opportunity to move up fast in a company where engineers and management are young and aggressive, with young, hard-fisted plans for the future."

"...some pretty hot projects here..."

"Right now, we're working on some pretty hot projects here, stuff like the B-58 Hustler bomber fire control system and F-101 Voodoo fighter structure. We're working on missiles, too. But behind this important defense work, Emerson Electric is sound in commercial manufacturing, with a reputation in the electrical field that stretches back to 1890. And that literally means money in the bank."

"...give yourself every break..."

"I think Emerson is a darned good career outfit. But I know every man's got to work out his own future. That's why all I'm really urging you to do is give yourself every break by getting all the answers before you decide. Sign up to talk with the people from Emerson Electric. It's just a half hour of your time, and you'll learn exactly what Emerson can offer you. Remember, it's your future you're going in to talk about."

Emil Kouba Jr. graduated from Kansas State in 1957. His work was in E.E. At Emerson Electric, Emil is working on video gating circuits in Emerson's mortar locator project.

ADPI MEMBERS get a head start on their 1957 homecoming headache. They are, from left: Peg Shannon, BAA Soph; Bea Purcell, BA Jr; Diane Ward, EEd Soph; and Louise Fager, HEB Jr. Voting for the Homecoming queen will end at 5 p.m. today. Next week will be a busy one for Homecoming committees and Greek houses. First official act of Homecoming Week will be the announcement of the Homecoming queen finalists Tuesday at 12:45. There will be a giant pep rally on the lawn under the first floor Student Union balcony. The finalists will receive their capes at the rally.

Speaking, Writing Key in Job Seeking

Prospective graduates must be able to express themselves well, both orally and in written applications, if they hope to land a good job, according to Director of Placement, Chester E. Peters.

Addressing a meeting yesterday of seniors enrolled in Arts and Sciences, Peterson said the person being interviewed for a job must be able to speak clearly and fluently when being interviewed and be able to write good letters of application.

Peters said the individual must know his own interests and capabilities well in order to have a successful interview with a prospective employer.

In addition, the prospective graduate should know some background of the organization which is interviewing him.

Arts and Sciences majors must use their own initiative and get job interviews off campus as well as on campus.

The first federal civil service examination will be given November 16, Peters said. Information about the exam may be obtained at the placement center.

Sigma Chi's

Will Select Darlin' on Sacks Appeal

By CHARLENE STRAH

Fourteen K-State coeds wearing shorts, sweaters, and sacks over their heads will be seen parading in the City park tomorrow afternoon.

One of these coeds will be selected "Derby Darling" on the basis of the best figure at the second annual Sigma Chi Derby Day.

"I think the contest will be a lot more fun this way," said Darrell Rollins, BA Jr, Derby Day chairman. "It is the way several other Sigma Chi chapters throughout the United States choose their Derby Day queen." Last year the queen was elected by those attending the Derby Day dance.

Judges are Herbert J. Wunderlich, dean of students; Dr. Chester Peters, director of placement; Ollie White, program director of the Union; Loren Kottner, Union director; and Ken Gowdy, BS '55, Sigma Chi alumnus.

Festivities will begin at 9:30 a.m. with a parade from Second and Poyntz to the City park. Theme for the parade is "Holidays of the Year." Floats entered by sororities and dormitories will be in competition for three trophies.

Afternoon events will begin at 2 p.m. with the presentation of the parade trophies and the selection of a "Derby Darlin'." Following this, women from all organized houses will participate in various contests and trophies will be presented to the housing groups which accumulate the highest number of points during the afternoon.

Contestants in the "chip in flour" event will search for a chip in a horseshoe filled with flour. Others in relay teams will pass a grape from hand to hand. The pair who can toss an egg the farthest without breaking it, will win the egg toss.

In the "chug-a-lug" contest coeds will chug-a-lug of Coke through straws. Final event will be the "deck-a-pledge" contest in which each women's group decorates a Sigma Chi pledge in a unique costume.

At 8:30 p.m. Sigma Chi's and their dates will attend a monster party at the Sigma Chi house.

Candidates for "Derby Darlin'" are Jane Fulton, EEd Jr, Delta Delta Delta; Rosemary Dague, Eng Sr, Kappa Delta; Carolyn Banks, Psy Fr, Southeast hall; Janice Wolverton, PEW Jr, Alpha Chi Omega; Ruth Woellhof, EEd Jr, Alpha Xi Delta; Winkle Killian, Art Jr, Pi Beta Phi; Jeanne Hill, Sp Soph, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Kay Chamness, EEd Jr, Chi Omega; Nancy Butcher, Pth Soph, Waltheim hall; Glenda Drake, BA Soph, Van Zile hall; Sybil Foster, BA Soph, Gamma Phi Beta; Carolyn Moore, BA Sr, Alpha Delta Pi; Sue Coleman, EEd Fr, Northwest hall; and Joan Evans, HE Soph, Clovia.

The Civil War opened a chapter in history on whose final outcome relies the question of the black race, the white race, and the manner in which they get on together, said Bruce Catton, Pulitzer prize-winner, at this morning's all-College assembly.

"How does a family of simple men get along with itself?" is the current challenge left to us by the Civil War, Catton said. "Do we believe what we say we believe?" That is in the brotherhood of man under the fatherhood of God.

Terming the Civil War the costliest national experience and most terrible war the U.S. ever engaged in, Catton said, "It brought the race problem out from under the rug and forced us to grapple with it."

Catton called the race problem a "profound piece of unfinished business," one which is no longer a matter of North versus South.

The question that faced the men of 1860 was, "How do white and black get along together?" Outright abolitionists were actually a small minority in the North.

The feeling that the Negro did not belong was paramount. Even Lincoln hoped the Negro would migrate to some other place. In the 1860's there was an underlying current of pure racism; most northerners were extremely hostile toward the Negro.

The Civil War brought the problem of slavery out into the open. In the beginning the enlisted man from the North had only enlisted to put down a rebellion.

Mums for Homecoming Selling at Voting Stalls

Mums and Homecoming ball tickets may be purchased at the voting booths in Anderson hall and the lobby of the Union today.

Blue Key and Mortar Board, senior honoraries, are sponsoring the sales which will continue in the Union and Anderson hall through Friday of next week.

Dairy Team First in U.S.

K-State's junior dairy judging team made it a sweep of national honors at Chicago Tuesday as they topped 15 other teams from over the United States to capture the International Intercollegiate dairy cattle judging contest.

Previously, the senior dairy judges had placed first at the National Dairy Cattle Congress at Waterloo, Iowa. Both teams are coached by G. B. Marion, associate professor of dairy husbandry.

The K-State dairy products judging team, also competing at Chicago Tuesday, ranked sixth among 10 teams in a regional contest. Harold A. Suelter, DM Jr, was seventh high individual in the contest, with Ed Combs, DM Sr, 19th, and Tom Townsend, DM Sr, 23rd. Suelter was high individual in judging milk. Townsend ranked third, and Suelter fifth, in ice cream. Ravon R. Thiemert, DM Sr, was the alternate.

Over the Ivy Line Will There Be Anybody For Tennis? (Not at This Rate)

By Sharon Totten

IT WAS ONE of the first lessons in women's elementary tennis at the University of Kansas.

"Hold your racket as if you were shaking hands with it and hit the ball firmly across the net," the instructor counseled.

This task seemed awfully hard. The balls were flying everywhere except where they should have been.

Finally an exhausted coed, after running to the farthest corner of the court for a stray ball, shouted over to her partner, "Sure I want to lose weight, but I don't want to lose it all over the court!"

AND HERE IS A FOOTNOTE taken from the Oregon Daily Emerald . . .

"As the new 'Russian moon' rises, we can imagine the subversive implications of the innocent renditions of such old favorites as "By the Light of the Silvery Satellite," "Blue Satellite," and Elvis' own "When My Red Satellite Turns to Gold Again."

According to the Daily Kansan, the Asian flu is nothing but a common flu with a passport.

The Brand, Hardin-Simons university student newspaper, was "Jest Jokin'" when it told these tales:

Wife: "Oh dear, I've missed you so much." Then she raised her revolver and tried again.

Porter: "Carry your bag, sir?"

Gruff old man: "Let her walk."

A small porcupine was taking a morning walk. Suddenly he stepped back into a cactus plant and asked: "It that you, Ma?"

DID YOU HEAR about the guy who'd been unlucky all his life? But things changed—when they dug his grave they struck oil.

The Northern Star, Illinois university daily newspaper, is running a series of jokes, anecdotes, tales, and puns collected by one of America's best humorists. . .

And in parting I leave you with one. "I think," opined Will Rogers, "that it would be better if more people worked for their dinners, and fewer dressed for them."

Monkish K-Staters Drive and Search, Covet Faculty Lot

TWO K-STATERS drove through the full-to-the-brim student parking lot yesterday, casting covetous glances at the numerous empty parking spaces in the faculty lot. Fifteen minutes later they were still driving, still searching for a parking place, and still casting covetous glances at the faculty lot.

"Damn," said one of the students. The other mumbled an "Ugh" because there was nothing else to say. But running through his mind was a poem that he had heard somewhere.

THREE MONKEYS sat in a coconut tree.

Discussing things that were said to be.

Said one to the others, "Now listen you two,

There's a certain rumor that can't be true,

That man descended from our noble race,

Why the very idea is a disgrace. . . .

Here's something you'll never see,

A monk build a fence around a coconut tree

And let the coconuts go to waste, Forbidding all other monks a taste.

Why if I'd build a fence around this here tree,

Starvation would force you to steal from me. . . .

The student pulled into a faculty parking space, still thinking about the poem, but now he was replacing the words with some of his own.

HERE'S ANOTHER THING you'll never spot,

A monk build a fence around a parking lot.

And let the parking spaces go to waste,

Forbidding all other monks a place.

Why if I'd build a fence around the Union lot, you'd have to cheat (and probably get caught). . . .

Which is exactly what he did. No sooner had he parked his car than a faculty member was standing in back of his car, pad in hand, copying his license number.

A Totten Tale.

Maebashi, Japan — Akikichi Sakai, widower of the woman killed by Army specialist William Girard as she was gathering shell casings on an Army firing range: "Life is extremely valuable. However, one should hate the crime not the person connected with it."

Seattle—Retired Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson, in warning that the U.S. long range guided missile program should not be allowed to intensify the world armaments race:

"I wouldn't underrate or overrate missiles, but in themselves they're just another weapon. They won't solve world problems."

The Students Say

Polled Staters Favor KSU Name Change

By Loren Henry

A spot check was taken to see how students felt about changing Kansas State college to Kansas State university, and whether students would vote in the coming referendum. Of views given, most students were in favor of the name change.

ROGER TOINTON, LDs Sr—I am going to vote for the name change because K-State stands to benefit by this change and I can see no ill effects, therefore we might as well gain what we can.

MARILYN TINDALL, TJ Soph—I am voting for the change because (since I am from Oklahoma) people in Oklahoma will recognize it as a major school instead of a 'cow college' or another Kansas State Teachers college.

GARY ALBRIGHT, DM Jr—I will vote against the name change because if they wanted it to be a university in the first place, why didn't they call it a university.

LOY REINHARDT, AH Jr—I am in favor of the change because people look up to a university more than a college.

PHYLLIS STRAND, BMT Fr—I would like to see the name changed because KU wouldn't look down on us as much.

VERN KNOPP, CE Jr—I am voting for the name change because any degrees granted will possibly have more prestige.

GENE ALLEN, DM Jr—I am opposed to the change because I think it would be too confusing with KU, and anyone knowing anything about K-State knows it has as high standing as a university.

FAYE LARSON, Eng Soph—I would like to graduate from a university, and K-State is university size.

JACK VANHORN, DH Sr—I am in favor of the change because as long as we are a university, we might as well be called one.

COY ALLEN, AEd Jr—There is too big a distinction between a college and a university, and we are a university.

KARLA OPPLIGER, HET Sr—I am voting for the change because a master's degree from a university carries more prestige.

ANN EKLUND, HEA Sr—I am for the change because it raises our status.

PAT RYAN, BMT Sr—I am voting for the name change because a university is known to give better education.

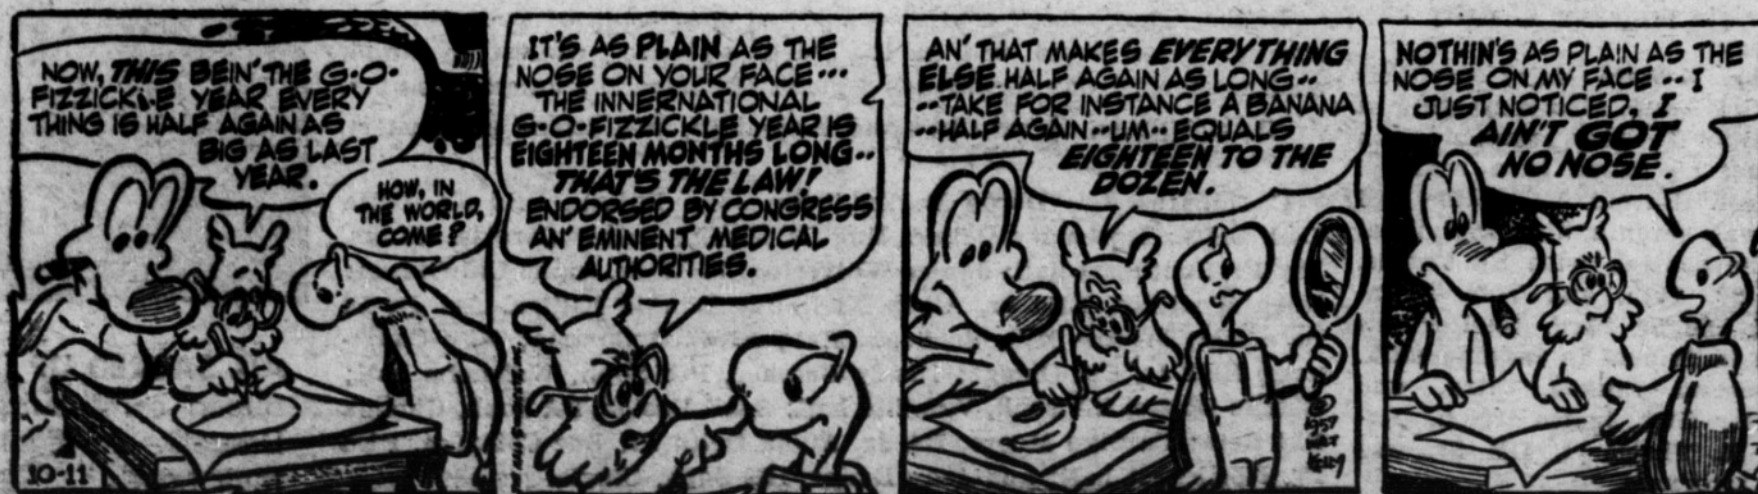

DENNY BASSETT, FTc Jr—I think we should be known as something besides a 'cow college' and I think we should have the advantages of a university, so I am voting for the name change.

NANCY SMITH, HET Sr—I am voting for the name change because it will give me more prestige to graduate from a university.

BERT COGDILL, BS Jr—I will probably vote for the name change because it sounds better.

Ike Holds Cabinet Meeting Soviet Satellite Main Topic

By United Press
Compiled by Pat Roberts

Washington—President Eisenhower summoned Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy and the nation's missile chief today prior to a cabinet meeting expected to be dominated by Russia's missile and satellite achievements.

The developments came on the heels of Russia's promise to send a second satellite spinning around the globe next month before the United States has one in space.

McElroy and Assistant Defense Secretary William M. Holaday in charge of missile research and development meet with Eisenhower at 8:30 a.m. EDT. The cabinet meeting was set for 9 a.m. EDT.

It was the second day of high level administration talks behind closed door, continuing a reappraisal of the nation's missile and satellite programs which was touched off by the launching of the first Sputnik a week ago today possibly with an intercontinental ballistic missile.

There was no indication whether the discussions of the giant advances in Soviet rocket technology would result in any drastic revision of the U.S. ICBM program. But after a meeting of Eisenhower and the National Security Council yesterday, defense officials indicated there would be an all-out effort to perfect an intermediate range ballistic missile.

Flu Moves to Midwest

The nation's flu outbreak, which has infected more than one million Americans so far, spread westward into Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa.

In the East, epidemic-stricken New York reported one flu suspected death yesterday to bring that city's total of such deaths to nine since the beginning of the month.

The latest outbreak of the ailment was at Omaha where 1,200 public high school children were absent with flu-like illnesses yesterday. Health Director Dr. Edwin Lyman of Omaha said he "would not be surprised if some of the illness is Asian flu." He said it would take two or three weeks to make a definite diagnosis.

KS Flies, 60,000 Strong Buzz Fairchild 3rd Floor

By JIM FIEDLER

Millions of people spend millions of dollars to rid their homes of millions of flies, yet here at K-State we are raising flies. Milton T. Ouye, Et Gr, encourages them to breed. There is no cause for alarm. He is not raising them to harass us, but to gain additional information on the action of insecticides.

Today the 78th generation of non-resistant house flies lives in comparative luxury on the third floor of Fairchild hall. This may sound as if the Entomology department has been raising flies for quite some time. Such is not the case, for from the time a freshly laid egg is deposited in a special bed that is provided for the flies by Ouye, the time a new fly is capable of laying an egg and starting a new cycle is approximately 12 to 14 days.

The flies are kept in small glass cages in an air-conditioned room. The temperature in the room is maintained at approximately 80 degrees. Ouye makes daily trips to the fly room to gather eggs and to feed the flies.

"The food that the flies are fed is a special mixture of sugar and powdered milk," according to Ouye. This mixture is used by experimenters that are working with flies all over the country. They all use the same food to control and co-ordinate the different experiments.

In the process of caring for the flies, Ouye puts a wad of cellulose cotton in a paper cup and saturates it with water. This cup serves as a source of water for the flies and the cotton serves as a place for the flies to lay their eggs. "I gather the eggs once a day and plant them in a crock of larva food that I mix up," said Ouye.

Ouye, who is from Hawaii, is working on his doctor's dissertation. He has a research assistantship with the Entomology department. The fly project he is currently working on is financed in part by the U. S. army. He has approximately 60,000 flies on hand from day to day. "I can get any amount I need up to several million in just a few weeks by increasing the number of eggs that I hatch out," he said.

Five Business Firms Looking for Grads

Recruiters from business and industrial firms will be on the K-State campus, starting Monday, to interview students who will receive degrees either in January or May, according to Dr. Chester E. Peters, director of placement.

Firms scheduled on campus Monday include the Mare Island Naval shipyards, Sinclair Pipeline company, Ernest & Ernest Accountants, Celanese Corporation of America, and Sohio Pipeline company.

There were a few signs last spring that the rush for technical personnel was slackening. More companies were able to meet their quotas than in the past, and though average starting salaries were up approximately $35 a month, the salary rise was not as sharp as it had been in the 1955-1956 recruiting season.

There also appear to be some "soft spots" in the recruiting picture, caused mainly by cuts in defense spending. Aircraft industries, for instance, will not be recruiting as heavily as previously. Some aircraft companies have cancelled interviewing dates; others will not recruit until spring.

On the other hand, demand is expected to be greater than a year ago for non-technical graduates.

Salaries for the coming year's graduates probably will remain close to last year's levels, Peters believes. At K-State this average was $475 a month for beginning engineers and scientists, $373 for business administration graduates, $390 for accounting graduates, and $360 for liberal arts graduates.

Approximately 500 interviewing dates are anticipated this year at K-State—slightly more than last year. There are 375 interviewing dates already scheduled.

Cats Visit Pacific For Football Game

K-State's football team journeys to College of Pacific for a non-conference tilt tomorrow night at 10 p.m. CST in Stockton in hopes of evening it's season record of two defeats and one victory.

A gapping hole was left in the Wildcat lineup when the second ranked Cat rusher, halfback Keith Wilson, was felled by a knee injury in practice Wednesday.

Second unit fullback Ralph Pfeifer has been moved to replace Wilson. Pfeifer played halfback for K-State two years ago as a sophomore and should fit in at that position well. He won't be able to replace Wilson's passing arm though.

Highspeed football comes from the trusty right arm of Tom Flores, 187-pound quarterback for C.O.P. Last year he hit 73 passes for 1,119 yards and 11 touchdowns. Since 44 of those passes went to Gob Denton and Farrell Funston—this year's starting ends—it seems likely the Tiger quarterback will be throwing Saturday night.

College of Pacific is the only remaining undefeated and untied team in California.

The Tigers have rolled non-stop over three successive foes, beating San Diego State, 32-6; Fresno State, 34-12; and Tulsa, 21-13.

The Tigers bring an offensive minded team into their fourth game. They have averaged 195 yards rushing and 179 passing so far.

K-State, disappointed, 14-7, by Nebraska last week, is eager to do it again.

"They are all men we have lots of faith in," coach Bus Mertes said, "they have bounced back before."

"We know Saturday's opponent is rugged. College of Pacific is one of the strongest independents in the West. They were rated that way in pre-season polls, and have proved it by rolling over three in a row.

"Our biggest strength is in the tremendous spirit of the K-State club—their desire to prove to their fans that they are a good ball team. The future doesn't look rosy, but most of the men on our squad are the same who played the last two years. They always have been able to rise up and come back. I don't think they have changed."

The K-State coach recalls that the Wildcats had taken their worst beating of the year (66-0) by Oklahoma last season just before raring up to take a 10-7 win from Nebraska.

"I don't feel that our loss to Nebraska has in any way diminished the good spirit and feeling within the men," he said.

This is the first meeting in history between K-State and College of Pacific, but it marks the second year in a row the Tigers have met a Sunflower state team. They tied Kansas, 27-27, at Lawrence last year.

The Wildcat line is outweighed four pounds a man by the Tigers', 205 to 209, but the Cat backfield averages nine pounds more, 181 to 172.

New York in Mourning After Braves' Triumph

By UNITED PRESS

New York city mourned the blackest year in its sports history today while the rest of the nation hailed it as year in which the National League went West and took the New York Yankees' scalps with it.

"A great thing for baseball," said commissioner Ford Frick after the Milwaukee Braves' 5-0 series clincher and National dream came true with yesterday's League president Warren Giles echoed the thought with his comment, "a tremendous thing for the league and baseball as a whole."

But to New York, the Yankees' defeat was the final blow—the third strike—in a year when the Giants elected to go to San Francisco and the Dodgers quit Brooklyn for Los Angeles.

The Braves' World Series victory means that baseball's story definitely has gone West. The two franchise shifts started the trend and the Yankees' defeat was the clincher as the eastern monopoly on World Series triumphs finally was broken.

For not since 1948, when the Cleveland Indians beat the (Boston) Braves, has a world championship of baseball resided in the mid-west. Since '48, the Yankees had won six world titles and the Dodgers and Giants each one. In all but one of those years (1954 when the Giants routed the Indians in four games), the World Series had been nothing more than an annual spectacle to be seen in New York.

Burdette, of course, emerged as one of the greatest heroes in World Series history. No pitcher since Stan Coveleski in 1920 had started and won three games in the same series and Burdette's two-runs-in-27 innings, capped by 24 1/2 consecutive scoreless frames, rivaled anything in series competition since Christy Mathewson pitched three shutouts against the Philadelphia Athletics in 1905.

Second-guesses there were, of course. What happened to Stengel's supposed magic touch? And what happened to the famed Yankee defense? The players who never are supposed to tighten up committed three official errors and three others of commission in the decisive seventh game.

The 7-5 Milwaukee victory in the fourth game was the turning point.

This was the game Eddie Mathews won with his two-run 10th-inning homer and it was Mathews who struck the two-run double yesterday that put the Braves on the glory road to stay. It kayoed Don Larsen and gave manager Fred Haney both managers were striving desperately for in the decisive game—the lead.

Mathews' double caused Stengel to remove Larsen and hits by Hank Aaron and Wes Covington plus an infield out enabled the Braves to lead by 4-0 in the third inning. Burdette protected it the rest of the way with Del Crandall's eight-inning homer simply putting Stengel deeper into a strategic hole than he already was.

Wildcats Practice But Wilson Ailing For COP Contest

Bus Mertes ran his Wildcats through a two-hour practice yesterday in preparation for the football game with College of Pacific Saturday. The Cats divided their time between offensive and defensive scrimmage.

Starting halfback Keith Wilson was on crutches and will not make the trip to Stockton. He wrenched his knee in practice Wednesday. Also on the injured list was reserve halfback Terry Lee.

Ralph Pfeifer, second unit fullback, has been moved to halfback to replace Wilson.

Mertes said his 39-member traveling squad's biggest problem will be pass defense.

"C.O.P. has a tough ball club," he said, "if we play our best I think we can hang in there with them."

Gridirons Full Tomorrow; Army-ND Play Renewed

By UNITED PRESS

Unranked Southern Methodist, one of the surprise teams of the young season, tangles with troublesome Missouri tonight to kick off an attractive college football weekend which sees Army renew its old rivalry with Notre Dame and mighty Michigan State engage Michigan tomorrow.

The Mustangs, who opened their season with an upset 13-6 win over California, and then tied highly-regarded Georgia Tech the following Saturday, are 13-point picks over Missouri, which tied Vanderbilt, beat Arizona and dropped a 28-0 decision to third-ranked Texas A&M.

Tulane, with a 1-2 record, is a one-point pick over Georgia, which has dropped decisions to Texas, Vanderbilt, and Michigan. Miami (Fla.), bouncing back to beat Baylor after dropping a tough 6-0 decision to Houston, is a seven-point favorite to beat North Carolina, upset winner over Navy last Saturday.

Houston is a seven-point favorite to beat North Carolina, upset winner over Navy last Saturday; and the Air Force academy is a slim pick over George Washington in other Friday night games.

The Army-Notre Dame game at Philadelphia Saturday, which is expected to draw a capacity crowd of over 100,000 to Municipal stadium, brings together two old rivals, who haven't met on the gridiron in 10 years.

Army, a three-point favorite because of a well-balanced ground and air attack, whipped Nebraska, 42-0, and Penn State, 27-13, in its two starts, while Notre Dame, with eight of its 22 regulars felled by the flu (non-Asian), has yet to be scored on this year in two starts. The Irish, battling back after their worst season in history, upended Purdue, 12-0, and routed Indiana, 26-0.

The Cadets are ranked eighth in the nation by the United Press board of coaches, while Notre Dame is tied for 11th with Rice, which tangles with seventh ranked Duke in a night game.

Five intramural football teams kept a clean winning slate after football action yesterday.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon won its third game without a defeat by beating Phi Delta Theta, 19-7. Eddie Smith threw two touchdown passes to Bill Sinderson for the Sig Alphas and Chuck Wingert romped 50 yards for another Sig Alpha score.

357 club toppled the Rho Alphas, 24-6, to win its second game without a defeat. Don Lank, who scampered 45 yards for one TD, threw two touchdown passes to Jerry Robertson to pace the 357 club. Leonard Needles caught a pass from Warner for the winner's other TD.

C. Douglas Gunn tallied three touchdowns and threw two touchdown passes to Tom Martin to lead Beta Theta Pi over Pi Kappa Alpha, 30-19. The Betas have not been defeated in two games.

Tau Kappa Epsilon turned back Kappa Sigma, 30-24, to post its second win without a loss. Jim Shane and Harold Ghormley paced the TKE's with two TDs apiece. Shane scored his touchdowns on pass interceptions and Ghormley scored his on passes from John Dorst. Dorst passed to Alan Rader for the other TKE touchdown.

Four different Delta Tau Delta players made touchdowns as the Delts defeated Acacia, 26-18. Larry Foulke, Melvin Burdorf, Bill Patton, and Richard Jennings scored the Delts' TDs, all on pass plays. Dave Craig was on the throwing end of three of the Delts' TDs.

Bill Suder, who rambled 60 yards on the kick-off for a touchdown, hurled three TD passes to Ed Simons and one TD pass to Dick Evers as he passed Delta Sigma Phi to a 33-18 win over Lambda Chi Alpha.

Beta Sigma Psi edged Alpha

Gamma Rho, 21-19. Jim Rafferty passed to Virgil Walters for two of the Beta Sigs' TDs and to Harold Dorsson for the other.

Sigma Chi blanked Alpha Tau Omega, 18-0. Ron McKinnie, Don Allison, and Bob Byers scored the winners' TDs.

This afternoon's schedule:

Theta Xi vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon, military NW, 4:15; West Stadium vs. House of Williams, military NW, 5:15; Wesley Foundation vs. A.I.A., military NC, 4:15; Sigma Phi Nothing vs. Jr. A.V.M.A., military NC, 5:15; D.S.F. vs. West 4:15; House of Brec vs. Y.M.C.A., military NE, 5:15; O.K. house vs. Minster Foundation, military NE, South Jardine, campus SE, 4:15; Vets vs. Hillbillies, campus SE, 5:15.

A Campus-to-Career Case History

Bill Tyer discusses features of a training program for operators with Miss Edith Sanders.

"There's always something different"

"In my job, there's always something different coming along—a new problem, a new challenge. When I got out of college I wanted to make sure I didn't settle down to a job of boredom. There's never been a chance of that at Bell."

That's Charles W. (Bill) Tyer talking. Bill graduated from Texas Christian University in 1953 with a B.S. in Commerce. He went right to work with Southwestern Bell in Fort Worth.

How did he make his choice? Here's what he says: "From what I'd seen it was an interesting business with tremendous room for expansion. And a big feature with me was the opportunity to choose my location. I wanted to work in the Fort Worth area."

"I came in under the Staff Assistant Program for college graduates. I spent several weeks in each of the company's five departments. Then I went back for six months of intensive training in our Traffic Department."

"After training, I was promoted. One of my first jobs was setting up and supervising a customer service improvement program."

"In January, 1956, I was again promoted. My present job is assistant to the District Traffic Superintendent. My responsibilities include instruction of PBX operators, employee and public relations, and scheduling operators to handle calls to and from 185,000 telephones."

"No—there's no chance for boredom!"

Bill Tyer is typical of the many young men who are finding their careers in the Bell System. Other interesting careers exist in the Bell Telephone Companies, Bell Telephone Laboratories, Western Electric and Sandia Corporation. Your placement officer has more information about these companies.

Guests Lead KSCF Discussion Meetings

"Duty to Ourselves" and "Christ and Youth" are two of the topics which have been presented to the interdenominational religious group since the beginning of school, according to Homer Bullard, ME Sr, Christian witness chairman for Kansas State Christian Fellowship.

"Duty to Ourselves" was discussed in a fellowship meeting Tuesday night, September 17, when Ray Moarles, of San Francisco, spoke to the group. He also sang several spirituals to the accompaniment of his Hawaiian guitar.

Percy Phillips, assistant pastor of the East Side Baptist church in Topeka, talked of "Christ and Youth" at a picnic at Sunset Park recently. Later he sang to the accompaniment of accordin and guitar.

"Our Personal Relationship to God" will be the next topic featured Tuesday night at 7 p.m. when the Rev. Howard Brumme of the Seward avenue Baptist church in Topeka will speak to the group, Bullard said.

You'll be pleased with a Collegian classified.

Colorado Next Foe After 7-7 COP Tie

By JIM BELL

Stockton, Calif.—K-State missed another win by a narrow margin, in a 7-7 tie against College of the Pacific, Saturday, with hope of better things to come as the Cats look to a homecoming battle with Colorado this weekend.

Arriving home yesterday evening, the K-State squad will begin preparation for the Buffaloes today. Saturday, CU whipped Arizona, 34-14, in Boulder with halfback Bob Stransky leading the way. Stransky, the nation's leading ground gainer, scored three touchdowns and an extra point.

Against COP, under dog K-State effectively bottled the nation's 1956 fourth leading passer, Tom Flores, and ground out a distinct statistical edge. The Wildcats dominated first-half play, but the Pacifics made the second half their half to overcome an early K-State lead and emerge with the tie.

Ray Glaze, K-State fullback, rammed across for the lone K-State touchdown with 2:18 left in the first period. The play climaxed a 98-yard drive on K-State's first possession of the football. Ralph Pfeifer teamed with Glaze to do most of the work in the 19-play scoring series. He carried seven times (Continued on page 3)

Jimmy Hoffa Temporarily Barred from Taking Office

By PAT ROBERTS

Washington—A federal judge today temporarily barred James R. Hoffa and other newly elected officers of the Teamsters union from taking office.

Hoffa was elected president of the union to succeed Dave Beck at the recent teamsters convention in Miami Beach, Fla.

Federal Judge F. Dickinson Letts signed a temporary restraining order, in effect suspending the convention's decision and set Monday, Oct. 21 for a hearing.

He ordered Hoffa to show cause why he should not be prevented from taking office.

A temporary restraining order normally expires in 10 days.

The judge acted on a plea by 13 rank-and-file teamsters who charged that 80 per cent of the convention delegates were illegally selected to insure victory for Hoffa and his slate.

Flu Mars Integration

Little Rock, Ark.—Two of the nine Negroes who integrated Central high school under the bayonets of paratroopers September 25 stayed at home today with influenza.

It was the highest absenteeism among the Negroes since they started school. The two sick students are Melba Patrillo, 15, and Terrance Roberts, 16.

Melba has been sick since Friday. Their parents said they expect both children to be back in classes tomorrow.

The Negroes, as usual, were taken to school in an Army station wagon, guarded in front and behind by soldiers in jeeps. Guards accompanied them across the schoolground to the entrance.

A light rain was falling and the Negroes hurried from the station wagon into the school. A few white students at the entrance ignored them.

Reach Space Agreement

Cambridge, Mass.—The United States and Russia have agreed to exchange all moonwatch information on the Soviet satellite, it was announced today.

Leon Campbell, supervisor of American moonwatch operations, told newsmen here he reached the agreement at Barcelona, Spain, with his Russian counterpart, Mrs. A. G. Massevitch.

Both were attending the 8th annual Congress of the International Astronomical Federation in Spain.

Campbell said the exchange will be between the Smithsonian Astronomical Observatory here and the Russian Academy of Science; but details have not yet been worked out.

Dr. J. Allen Hynek of the Smithsonian observatory said at the same time the United States is "far ahead of Russia in tracking the man-made moon and the third stage rocket" circling the globe with it.

Campbell said Mrs. Massevitch came here last summer to gather information on American moonwatch plans and many of our ideas were adopted by the Russians in their tracking systems.

Reds Propagandize U.S.

Washington—The U.S. Information agency has been unable to "blank out" a heavy barrage of Soviet propaganda overseas about race incidents in the United States, Director Arthur Larson reports.

"Soviet propagandists strongly publicized every anti-integration incident in the United States," Larson said in a semi-annual report to Congress.

Larson listed such incidents as one of the three most difficult problems faced by his agency during the first six months of this year. The others were the Girard case in Japan and Nuclear testing.

He said his agency did its best to keep the record straight by telling the world of progress made in the United States toward integration both in schools and other segments of American life.

But his report, issued last night, said "the effort did not succeed in blanking out heavy press usage in many countries."

Larson said the Communists also exploited the case of Army Specialist 3/c William Girard, who is charged with killing a Japanese woman with a grenade launcher, and the Formosa riots against the U.S. embassy in Taipei.

He said the Russians gave repeated emphasis to U.S. atomic testing in an effort to brand American disarmament proposals as meaningless. The Russians failed to mention their own testing.

Nobel Award Given

Oslo, Norway—Former Canadian External Affairs Minister Lester B. Pearson won the 1957 Nobel Peace prize today.

The Norwegian Storting's (parliament) Nobel committee gave no reason for making the award to Pearson. But observers said the decision appeared to be an implied pat on the back for the North Atlantic Treaty organization and similar international groups with which the Canadian diplomat has been associated.

Officials feared the award might spark a major controversy with the Soviet Union. It was recalled that Russian Diplomats had objected strenuously when another Western statesman, former U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall, won the peace prize in 1953. Thus far, there has been no protest from the Soviets concerning Pearson.

Other names most frequently mentioned had included those of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India and President Eisenhower. But experts believe neither had received serious consideration from the Nobel committee.

Morse Attacks Ike

Madison, Wis.—Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) has labelled President Eisenhower "the great quitter of American politics for his administration's failure to and the statistics support us, that Kansas State should have won).

But take it from an old world traveler (who's been to California—at least Stockton, Calif.—for two almost whole days), and stay in Kansas. You never had it so good.—Jim Bell.

Telegraphic Tabloids

Cincinnati—Lawrence August Ruther IV, of Flint, Mich., is suing the city of Cincinnati "for all it's worth" because, he said, he was held without charge by police.

Ruther said "physical and mental damages" he suffered were equal to "all the money and property in the city of Cincinnati," which he said amount to exactly $31,121,111,101.99.

keep pace with Russia's education program.

Morse said the Russian program helped produce Sputnik the satellite by training the best Soviet youths in science and engineering.

The U.S. was aware the Soviet Union was "embarking on a concentrated education program," Morse told the Wisconsin Democratic convention Saturday. But he added federal education bills have been defeated in congress since the end of World War II.

Morse blamed Eisenhower for failing to follow through with an administration bill for education of our youth to their full capacities is a national responsibility."

Manned Satellites Soon

Washington—Three U.S. aircraft companies are developing passenger-carrying space satellites fitted with television and photographic equipment for reconnaissance, Aviation Week magazine reports.

Russia also is working on such a satellite, it said. Such a vehicle, able to visually record vast areas of land and sea, would have enormous military as well as scientific value.

The magazine said in an article issued yesterday that Lockheed Aircraft Corp. presently is working on a preliminary earth-circling reconnaissance satellite.

Later versions would be manned, it said.

It said the Lockheed vehicle was known as the "Pied Piper," or more popularly as "Big Brother."

"The feeling is that Pied Piper could not be ready in the unmanned version before 1960 unless a tremendous effort is placed behind it," Aviation Week said. The manned version, even on an accelerated schedule, is closer to 1965, it added.

Sea To Furnish Water

Chicago — Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton today predicted that by 1972 some cities and industries will be meeting their mounting water demands by converting sea water to fresh water at a price they "can afford to pay."

Seaton, who spoke at today's opening season of the Inland Daily Press association's annual meeting, warned that within a relatively few years water could be America's top internal problem.

He outlined a number of the Eisenhower administration's programs for trapping and conserving rain water, which now runs largely to the sea unused.

We must go to the sea itself and bring back fresh water to make life possible on the land," Seaton said.

for 41 yards, while Glaze was hitting for 30 yards on six carries.

Don Zadnik kicked the conversion, and it looked as though the Kansans were out to make a rout of the affair.

But the Pacifics, while down most of the first half, came roaring back during the final two quarters to score and threaten to win the contest. The COP touchdown was the result of a 64-yard, 12-play drive. However, a K-State holding penalty aided the Pacific cause, giving the West coast team a first down on the Cat 20 yard line. Shortly after, the Pacifics gained another first down on the K-State five.

At this point, Wildcat linemen dug in a little deeper and repelled three attempts through the middle for a net gain of four yards. With the ball resting on the one, and a fourth down, COP passing ace Flores flipped the ball to end Farrell Funston alone in the end zone as the middle of the line stacked up.

That was the only passing yardage for COP during that final half, and only the 16th yard gained through the air for the Pacifics during the entire game—but it was enough. Halfback Chuck Chatfield kicked the extra point, and that ended scoring for the evening.

K-State spent most of the second half in its own territory with one golden opportunity to score. That came shortly after the last quarter opened as Gene Meier administered a hard tackle to COP's Flores as the quarterback was fading to pass in his own territory.

Flores lost the ball, and it rolled back to the Pacific 16 yard line with K-State's Jack Kelan finally falling on it. In four plays, the Cats had a first down on the COP 6, but the tough Pacific defense stopped the Cats short of the goal three times. With a fourth-and-one situation, quarterback Dick Corbin lost the ball, and COP recovered on its own seven.

During the first half, Kansas State drove inside the Pacific 30 three times besides the scoring thrust. Ben Grosse set up two of the scoring opportunities on long returns of a punt and a pass interception. Gene Keady set up the other with a 26-yard burst around left end from scrimmage.

Those drives took the Cats to the Pacific eight, 13 and 29-yard lines, but the Cats could not score.

Pacific had one good scoring opportunity in the first half immediately following the opening kickoff. COP marched down to the K-State two-yard line before losing the ball on downs.

During the third period, COP drove to the K-State 30, before Jim Luzinski intercepted a Flores pass on the 25. Later in the final period, COP's little halfback Jack Larscheid returned a Grosse punt to the K-State 24, and with time running out, Flores attempted three passes, all incomplete.

With 1:40 left in the contest, Pacific's Norm Bass dropped back to attempt a fieldgoal. Kicking at a wide angle and in a drizzling rain, Bass missed, wide and short of the mark.

K-State took over on its own 20 electing to run out the clock and settle for a tie rather than game with passing for a last-minute score.

Illness, Classes Halt Friday's IM Gridders

Classes, illness, and darkness were the three biggest winners in Friday's intramural football action.

The DSF-Westminster Foundation game was postponed because neither team had enough players. Class conflicts rendered both teams short of enough men to play.

The class problem also hit Theta Xi as they had to forfeit their contest with Sigma Phi Epsilon because of the absence of too many players.

The House of Brec forfeited to the YMCA because most of the team was out with illness.

Although Sigma Phi Nothing was also plagued with sickness, they were able to gain a post-ponement with Jr. AVMA. The game was called because the officials feared that darkness would set in before game completion.

The Hillbillies made up for any lack of scoring by the other teams in a 46-13 triumph over Vets. Bill Johns passed to Owen Sutter for four of the Hillbilly tallies.

The House of Williams downed West stadium 24-18. Three touchdown passes from Jim Weyer to Bob Couyn paced the winner's attack.

The OK House stopped South Jardine by a 21-12 count.

This afternoon's schedule:

Delta Upsilon vs. Beta Sigma Psi, military NW, 4:15; Farm House vs. Alpha Gamma Rho, military NW, 5:15; Alpha Kappa Lambda vs. Sigma Alpha Epsilon, military NC, 4:15; Delta Sigma Phi vs. Phi Delta Theta, military NC, 5:15; Sigma Nu vs. Delta Tau Delta, military NE, 4:15; Sigma Chi vs. Acacia, military NE, 5:15; Phi Kappa vs. Kappa Sigma, campus SE, 4:15; Pi Kappa Alpha vs. Tau Kappa Epsilon, campus SE, 5:15.

Wildcats Blast Drake In Cross-Country Run

Paced by Tom Rodda and Duane Holman, who finished 1-2, respectively, K-State drubbed Drake in a dual cross-country meet, 20-30, Friday. The team with the low score wins.

Rodda's time was 15:47.5 and Holman's time was 14:49.

Bud Howery of Drake, who beat Rodda last year, was third. Jesse Unruh, K-State, finished fourth. Terry Turner, Arlan Stackley, Loren Ray, and Rolland Elliot finished sixth, seventh, eighth, and tenth, respectively.

K-State's team will be trying for its second victory of the year in a triangular track meet with Nebraska and Colorado at Lincoln Saturday.

Tie, Loss, 4 Wins Is Record Earned By League Teams

Four wins, one loss, and one tie was the record chalked up by Big Eight teams over the weekend in non-conference football games.

In the only conference game, Iowa State upset Kansas, 21-6 and showed a lot of power in the Cyclone single wing offense. Iowa State capitalized on two KU fumbles and an intercepted pass to smash the Jayhawks.

Pittsburg overpowered Nebraska, 34-0, at Pittsburgh. The Cornhuskers were weakened by injuries and illness to key men and couldn't make any headway at all against the rugged Pitt line.

Oklahoma State dumped Tulsa, 28-13, as its superior line and halfback Jim Wiggins came from behind to notch the third straight win for the Cowboys.

Missouri upset SMU, 7-6, to prove its power in a game played Friday.

Halfback Bob Stransky, the nation's leading ground gainer, led Colorado to a 34-14 victory over Arizona with three touchdowns in the first half.

K-State surprised College of Pacific with a 7-7 final at Stockton. The Cats were stopped three times inside the C.O.P. 10-yard line as the College of Pacific goal-line defense was too strong for the Wildcats.

Top Entry By D. Elliot

Dennis Elliot won this week-end's Pigskin Prognostics by guessing the closest score of the K-State-College of Pacific football game. Elliot picked a tie game of 13-13, a touchdown too high on each side of the 7-7 score.

He ranked ahead of Marvin Drake, who picked the rushing yardage exactly right at 215 and Jerry Bonner, John Turner, and Arnold Hildebrand who picked the first downs correct at 13.

Charles Solbach was the closest on the passing yardage with a guess of 31 yards.

CLOTHES MAKE THE BMOC

Last week we passed along some fashion hints for coeds. Today we will do the same for college men.

The most important thing to remember, gentlemen, is to dress with verve, with dash, with inventiveness. Don't be imprisoned by the traditional conservatism of men's clothing. Brighten up your appearance with a single earring, or a cavalry saber, or a gold derby.

Guard Against Gaudiness

However, guard against gaudiness. If, for instance, you are wearing a gold derby, do not also wear a cavalry saber. This is too much. Wear a dagger instead, or, for formal occasions, a bowie knife.

Let us turn now to a persistent rumor that a garment called the "suit" is on the verge of making a comeback. Some of you older students may remember this "suit." It was an ensemble consisting of a jacket and trousers, both of which—this'll kill you—both of which were made out of the same material!

The last "suit" ever seen on an American campus was in 1941—and I ought to know because I was wearing it. I was an undergraduate then, and in love—hopelessly in love with a beauteous statistics major named Harry Sigafos. (She is one of the two girls I have ever known named Harry. The other one is her sister.)

I loved Harry madly, though her expensive tastes were the ruin of me. Bit by bit I sold off my belongings to pursue this costly courtship—first my books, then my clothes, until finally I was left with nothing to wear but a "suit". One night I came calling for her in this garment and she, of course, slashed me across the face with a riding crop and sent me from her door.

I slunk home and lit a Marlboro and sat down to think. I always light a Marlboro when I sit down to think, for their good mild flavor is a great aid to cerebration. I always light a Marlboro when I don't sit down to think, too, because Marlboro is my favorite cigarette, and I know it will be yours, too, once you make the acquaintance of that filter, that flavor, that flip-top box. As the man says, you get a lot to like with a Marlboro.

Well, sirs, smoking and thinking thus, my eye happened to fall on an ad in a campus newspaper which said: "WIN A COMPLETE WARDROBE! Touhy's Toggery, the campus's leading men's store, announces a contest to pick the best-dressed man on campus. The winner will receive absolutely free a complete new wardrobe!"

Struck by a sudden inspiration, I took pen in hand and wrote a letter to Mr. Touhy of Touhy's Toggery: "Sir—I see by the paper that you are giving a complete new wardrobe to the best-dressed man on campus. What a ridiculous idea!

"Obviously, to be the best-dressed man on campus, you must first have a lot of clothes, and if you have a lot of clothes, what do you need with another wardrobe?"

"Touhy's Toggery should give a new wardrobe to the worst-dressed man on campus. Me, for instance. I am an eyesore. There isn't a crow in town that will come near me. Three times this month the Salvation Army salvage truck has picked me up. Esquire has canceled my subscription.

"I submit that a vote for me is a vote for reason, a vote for equity, a vote for the American way!"

With a flourish I signed the letter and sent it off, somehow feeling certain that very soon I would be wearing a complete new wardrobe.

And I was right—because two weeks later I was drafted.

Student Council Considers Name Change Referendum

Student Council will visit Greek houses and dormitories on October 28, 29, and 30 to urge a large turnout of the Kansas State college-Kansas State university name change referendum. The referendum will be on October 31 and November 1.

Samih A. Hasayen, ME Sr, and

Dr. G. R. Murkibhavi, VM, were appointed to the International Relations board.

Max Bishop, ArE Soph; Becky Culpepper EEd Sr; Dick Hotz, MT Jr; Kay Nordstrum, HT Soph; and Jim Shane, His Sr, are new appointees to the Activities board.

In another action, the Council gave the Activity Ticket committee permission to study the possibility of having photos on activity tickets as permits to basketball games. Council members voted to have identification of single and married students also designated on the cards. The Athletic council will be asked to consider, and possibly provide, tickets for guests of K-State students.

Election committee and Drives committee applications are open until 4 p.m. Wednesday, October 23, according to the Council.

Student Council also voted to send delegates to the third annual Student Council on National Affairs December 11-14 at Texas A&M. It will decide later on the number and method of selecting delegates.

Other items of business discussed by the Council were the college post office boxes, and the K-State-Kansas university peace pact. The method of selecting student organizations to be assigned post office boxes will be proposed by the Student Activities board and approved by Student Council.

Following the joint KU-K-State Student Council peace pact banquet at 7 p.m. October 22, Council members will inform the student body about the pact and promote its enforcement.

McCain Writes Weber, Will Miss Homecoming

President James A. McCain will not be back for Homecoming day, according to A. D. Weber, acting president at K-State, who received a letter from McCain yesterday. Mrs. McCain and his daughter, Sheila, contracted a type of Asian flu the day before they were supposed to sail home.

McCain and his family will arrive in Manhattan October 24. They will leave Europe on the Queen Elizabeth on October 17. The McCains were originally scheduled to leave on the Queen Mary on October 10 and be back on October 17.

Influenza Hits KSC, Could Be Asian Flu

An influenza epidemic has struck the campus, according to Dr. B. W. Lafene, director of Student Health. The flu is being typed to determine if it is Asian flu.

Lafene said students with mild attacks of flu must remain in dormitories, fraternity and sorority houses, or other residences as all beds are occupied at Student Health. No visitors are being allowed in Student Health until the epidemic is over.

Those remaining at residences with the flu should keep Student Health personnel posted as to the severeness of the case. Others are urged to keep resistance to the disease as high as possible by proper physical care.

Only 2,500 students have obtained the Asian flu vaccine, according to Lafene. He urged all students to receive the vaccine before stricken with the flu. He also stated that so-called after effects of the vaccine injections are really a mild case of the Asian flu.

Injections of the vaccine are available at the emergency room at Student Health and can be obtained for 50 cents.

Finalists Selected For Homecoming

By CHARLENE STRAH

Homecoming queen finalists for 1957 are Rosemary Derks, Eng Sr; Janice Graham, TJ Sr; Pat McDermott, BA Sr; Susan Schober, PEW Jr; and Roberta Wray, SED Jr.

The five finalists were announced to a pep rally crowd from the balcony of Student Union at 12:40 this afternoon. Each finalist was presented with a blue and gold cape by Blue Key President John Watt. They will wear the capes until halftime of the K-State-Colorado game Saturday when the Homecoming queen will be announced by Senator Frank Carlson.

This evening at 6:30 the finalists will be dinner guests of the Kiwanis club and will eat with the Rotary club Thursday noon. Friday Blue Key members will host a luncheon for the queen finalists in the Union.

Friday evening the five finalists will follow the judges on a tour of the Homecoming house decorations. Saturday morning they will ride in the Homecoming parade.

Miss Derks is from Norton and is a member of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. She has been a commander of Angel Flight for two years and was honorary cadet colonel of Air Force ROTC in 1956.

Miss Graham is a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority, Mortar Board, editorial staff of the Royal Purple, and is society editor of the Collegian, publicity chairman of Purple Pepsters, and secretary of the Board of Student Publications. Her home town is El Dorado.

Miss McDermott's activities include Gamma Phi Beta student counselor, Student Council secretary for two years, and Mortar Board. She holds a Gamma Phi Beta scholarship. Pat is from Kennewick, Wash., and attended Washington State college two years before coming to K-State.

Miss Schober, a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority, is from Topeka. She is head cheerleader and scholarship chairman of her sorority. She was an attendant to the Royal Purple queen last spring.

Miss Wray, another Norton coed, is an Alpha Xi Delta. She is secretary of the student polls committee and constitution chairman of Angel Flight. Roberta is presently reigning as Delta Tau Delta sweetheart. She attended Kansas university as a freshman.

MRS. GEORGE DOCKING speaks to members of the College Social club Monday afternoon in the Union. About 300 women attended the luncheon and program.

UGB To Take Action Against SU Outsiders

Use of Union facilities by high school students, Fort Riley personnel and other outsiders has become a definite problem and action will be taken against such persons if their behavior is obnoxious. This policy was established by the Union Governing board at its meeting last night.

Loren Kottner, Union director, reported that persons under 16 years of age were not allowed to loiter in the Union and would be asked to leave if they violate this policy.

A motion was made by Lowell Novy, VM Soph, seconded by Jim Smith, VM Sr, and passed that records in the juke box in the dive be dance tunes only and that modern jazz records be taken to the browsing library to be played in the high fidelity set.

The group approved changing the music lounge to a TV room and permanently locating the hi-fi record player in the browsing library.

Colorado U. Buffs Have Chips, Will Trade—For Bud's Scalp

By Sharon Totten

THE McPHERSON COLLEGE Spectator has a little poem that is quite apropos for the United States, now that Russia has a moon of its own circling the earth:

Jack be nimble,
Jack be bright,
Start to work
On your satellite.

Then there was the Kansas university exchange student who returned and was telling about buying drinks for an Italian friend in Venice. He said it was the first time he had ever drunk a Venetian blind.

THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO has a problem—how to dispose of an unwanted mascot, a 600-pound buffalo named Mr. Chips.

The Colorado Daily has devised several possible solutions:

1. Bury the mascot at the north end of the football field.
 - a. hole should be 4 to 12 by 8 inches.
 - b. buffalo should be dead during burial.
2. Sell or contribute to Louisville zoo.
3. a. shave buffalo.
b. paint white with non-toxic paint.

Space Satellite Could Be a Russian Spy Sputnik May Be Recording Coastlines

By PAT ROBERTS

Washington—Is Sputnik a spy?

American scientists didn't think so at first. Now, some of them are not sure.

A pile of tape-recordings of the Russian satellite's coded messages are piling up in the U.S. Naval research laboratory and other radio-monitoring stations.

So far they are "just a meaningless collection of squiggles on tape," said one official of project Vanguard, the U.S. satellite program.

Speculation has ranged over the possibility that Sputnik may be an eye-in-the-sky, recording coastlines and even islands and lakes below it through photographic or infrared devices and radioing the information back to Moscow.

If so it could be a military tool of vast importance. If such methods produced a clear definition even of continental coastlines Sputnik would give Russia a far more accurate map of the world than anyone now has. This could mean the difference between hitting and missing a U.S. city with a Russian missile.

Flu Attacks Midwest, Schools Close

Outbreaks of flu attacked the midwest with renewed vigor today, forcing the shutdown of numerous secondary schools and at least one college.

In Milwaukee, which has been in the throes of a flu epidemic since early this month, school officials reported about 14,000 grade and high school students absent yesterday, plus about 150 teachers. Despite the high absenteeism, Milwaukee health officials said the disease may be on the decline in city schools.

Absenteeism climbed to 40 per cent in Madison, Wis., leading officials and football coaches at three high schools to consider cancelling games this weekend.

In the East New York City's flu epidemic appeared to be on the wane.

The University of Minnesota reported about 50 new cases of flu-like illness, and an outbreak at Austin, Minn., resulted in the absence of about one-fifth of the city's high school students.

Spain Hard Hit By Torrential Rains

Valencia, Spain—New and heavy rains poured down on this stricken city today where an estimated 25 to 50 persons were feared dead in possibly the worst floods to hit Spain in this century.

The new downpour hindered rescue operations and blocked supplies of desperately-needed medical and food supplies, some of which were reported ready to be flown in by U.S. Air Force planes as soon as the skies clear.

Thus far, the bodies of 22 flood victims have been recovered. Officials said the final toll would be much higher when a definite count is made.

The one bright note was that, despite the new rain, the muddy waters which overflowed from the Turia river were beginning to recede.

Paratroopers Pull Out of Little Rock

Little Rock, Ark.—The first big pull-out of the Army's integration task force in Little Rock starts today.

Officers will put into effect Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker's orders withdrawing 500 of the 1,000 paratroopers in Little Rock and releasing from federal service 8,500 of the 10,000 Arkansas National Guardsmen federalized September 24.

It was not certain, however, that the red tape and mechanics of getting loaded into transport planes and flying the troops back to Fort Campbell, Ky., could be completed today.

Army spokesmen refused to discuss a report that all troops may be withdrawn over the weekend, leaving local authorities and federal agents with the job of protecting nine Negroes integrated into Central high school.

Brucker announced late yesterday that "in recognition of the generally orderly situation" now prevailing in Little Rock he was drastically cutting the military force on integration duty.

Significantly, he announced that Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker, commander of the Arkansas military district, will utilize the 153rd regiment of the Arkansas National Guard as the major operational force to carry out his mission.

"I have heard about it, but received no official word of any kind," Gov. Orval E. Faubus said when he was asked what he thought about the pull-out.

"We'll just wait and see. There is nothing to comment on that I can see," he said.

Teamsters' Attorneys Fight for Hoffa

Washington—Teamsters union attorneys prepared today to ask the U.S. Court of Appeals to let James R. Hoffa take office as union president.

The union's lawyers want the court to set aside a temporary federal district court injunction preventing Hoffa from taking over command of the nation's largest union for 10 days.

The 44-year-old Hoffa, who was planning to take over from Dave Beck possibly today, also was to be arraigned today in New York on federal wiretap-conspiracy and perjury charges. His lawyers are seeking a postponement of trial on ground disclosures by the Senate Rackets committee prejudiced the case against Hoffa.

Federal District Judge F. Dickinson Letts signed the temporary injunction yesterday continuing Beck in office. Beck has agreed to step down before his term expires December 1.

Letts held there was a chance Hoffa would "consolidate unlawfully acquired power" if allowed to take office with a slate of hand-picked vice presidents.

Letts ordered the union to show cause next Monday why the election and other business at the Teamsters' recent Miami Beach convention should not be nullified. Hoffa was victorious by a 3-to-1 margin.

The judge acted on a plea by 13-rank-and-file Teamsters who charged that the election was "rigged" so that Hoffa could not lose. Godfrey P. Schmidt, attorney for the 13 rebels, said the proceedings at Miami Beach proved that more than 80 per cent of the convention delegates were illegally selected.

Eisenhower Schedules Satellite Talk

Washington—President Eisenhower scheduled a White House meeting today with the nation's top scientific brain to assess this country's progress in the cold war of science.

Phi Delts And Jardine Top IM Golf

Phi Delta Theta and South Jardine copped the golf championships of their respective divisions Saturday at the Stag Hill course.

The Phi Delts won the fraternity division with a combined four-man total of 304 while South Jardine topped the independents with 313.

Carlis Cassell won individual fraternity scoring honors. Cassell, a Phi Delt, shot a four-under-par 68. According to Frank Myers, intramural director, Cassell may have set a front nine record as he shot through the first nine holes with a 31.

Dale Burton and Carroll Beardslee, both from South Jardine, shared scoring honors for the independents, each shooting a 74.

The other placing teams in the fraternity class were Sigma Alpha Epsilon with 315, Beta Theta Pi with 328, Sigma Phi Epsilon with 330, and Kappa Sigma with 334.

Only four independent organizations had their required four men competing in the tournament.

Trailing South Jardine in the scoring were Phi Epsilon Kappa, 324; Rho Alphas, 409; and AIA, 410.

OSU's Team Good, But Has No League

By UNITED PRESS

Oklahoma State university, a football team without a conference, is playing well enough to be a leading contender for a league championship, with no chance of winning one.

About the same time it dropped the old name Oklahoma A & M college, OSU resigned from the Missouri Valley conference and was taken into the Big Seven, making it the Big Eight. It will not compete in Big Eight football until 1960, however.

Coach Cliff Speegle's squad boasts a record of three wins against a single loss. The three losers are Missouri Valley teams.

K-Stater Needs Column Writer On KSC Life

Would you like to write a column on student activities in the K-Stater magazine this year?

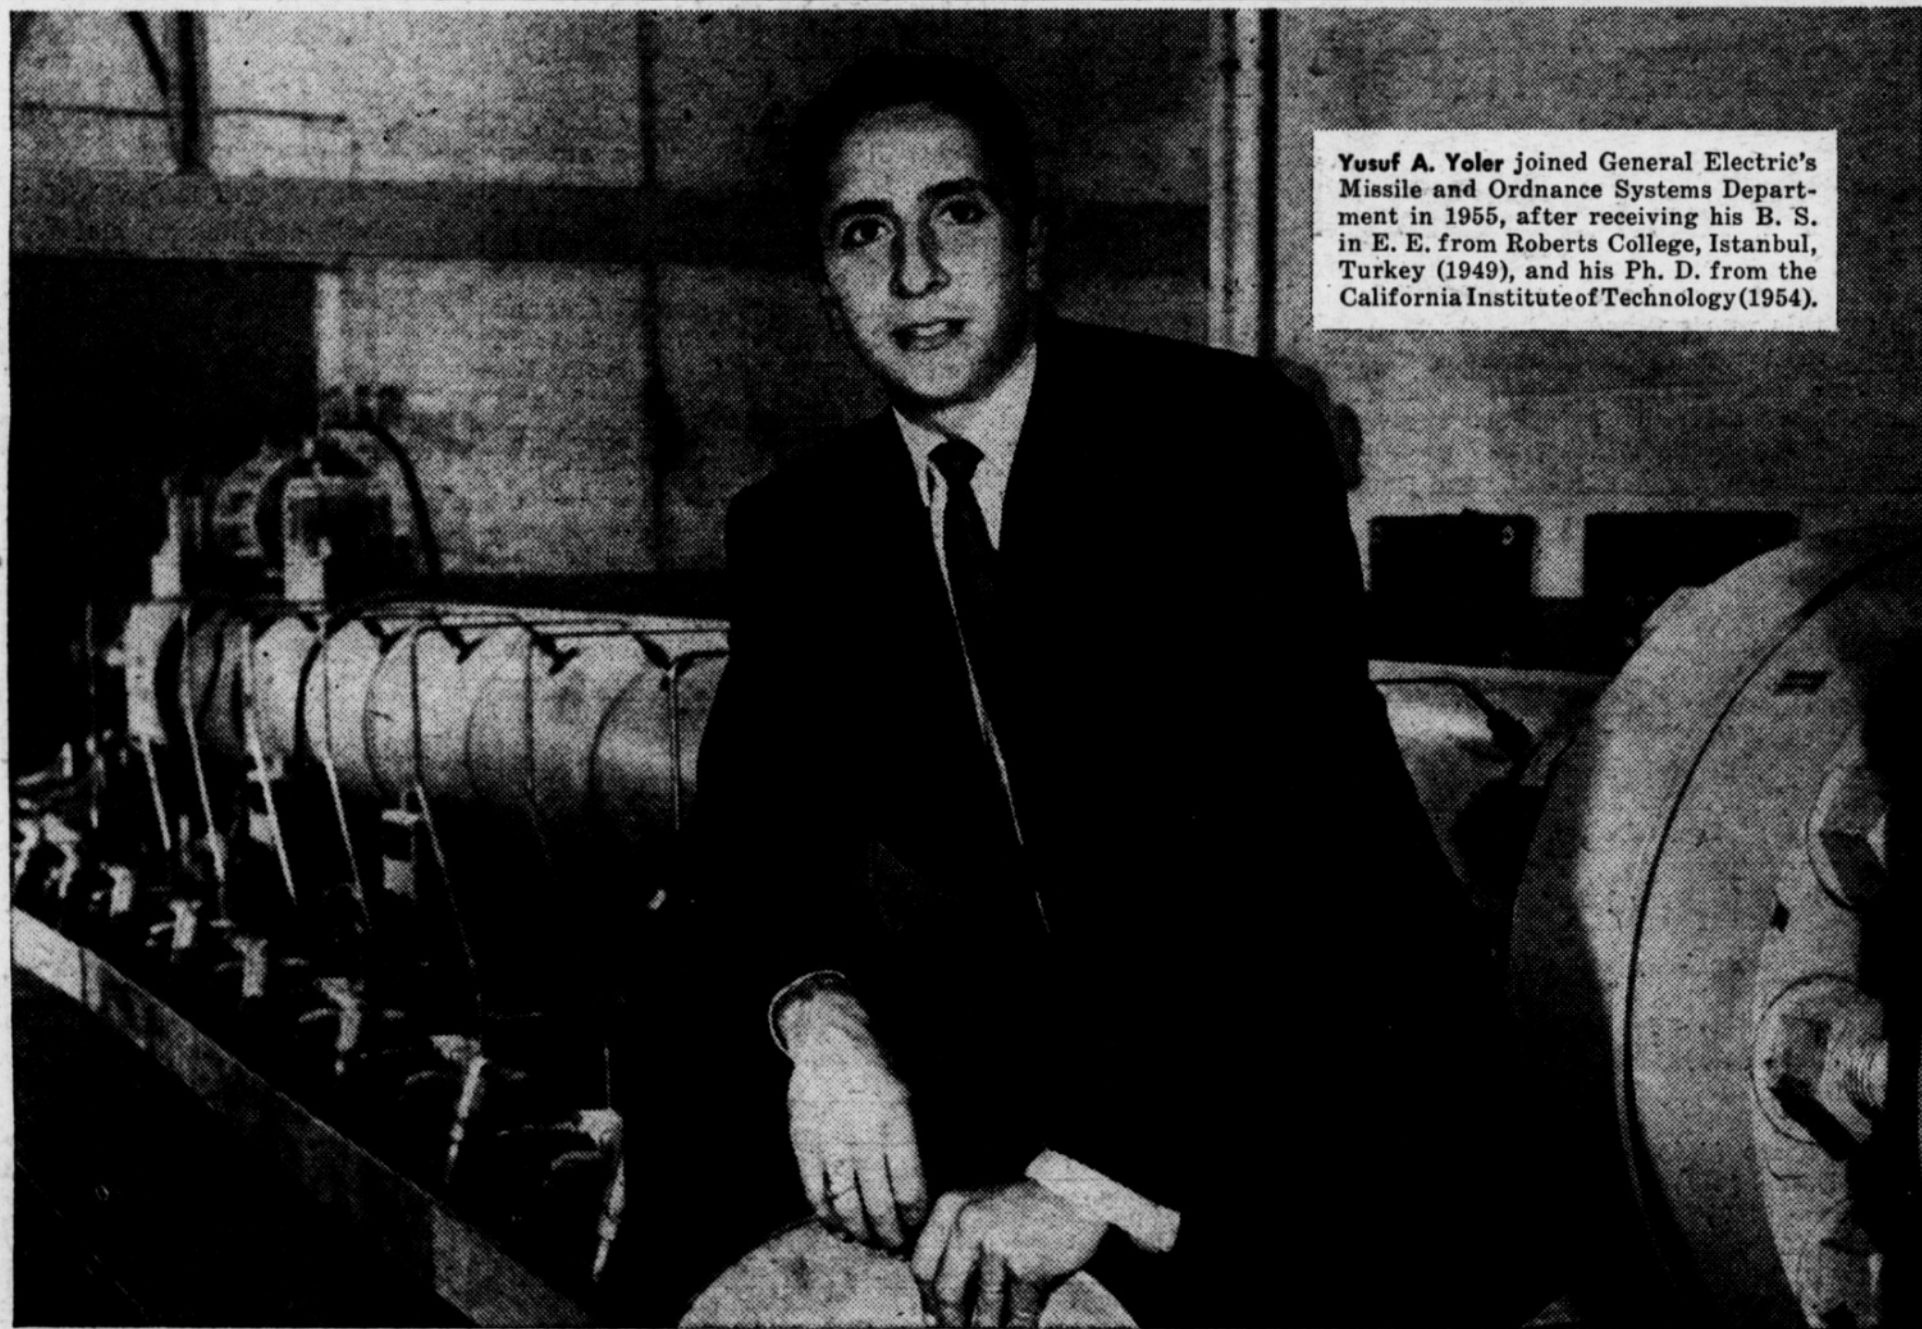

Any interested student except second semester seniors, may submit a 500 to 800 word entry along with a suggested title by November 5 to Miss Helen P. Hostetter, editor, in care of the journalism department. From these entries one student will be selected to write the column in the December, March, and June issues of the KSC alumni magazine.

The column is to be a report and comment on college life. Miss Hostetter suggests that this first column may include reports on such things as Student Union activities, music programs, the K-State Players, Homecoming, and changing the name of K-State.

Each contestant is also asked to submit a title for the column. Other colleges and universities use such names as "Inside the Campus," "Tomorrow's Alumni," and "Rolling Along."

The winning writer's picture will be used with the column.

The K-Stater, a quarterly magazine, is now in its seventh year of publication. In the summer of 1956 it placed first in a national contest for its appearance. Since it has never placed in student activity reporting, a column is needed.

Yusuf A. Yoler joined General Electric's Missile and Ordnance Systems Department in 1955, after receiving his B. S. in E. E. from Roberts College, Istanbul, Turkey (1949), and his Ph. D. from the California Institute of Technology (1954).

"In a big company, a young man can get to tackle big jobs"

"The thing that has impressed me most in my two years at General Electric," says 28-year-old Yusuf A. Yoler, manager of Aerodynamics Laboratory Investigations, "is the challenging opportunity open to young people here. My field is guided-missile research — the nation's top-priority defense job. Because of the scope of the company's research and development program, I've had the opportunity to work with technical experts in many related fields. And I've seen at first hand the responsibility which General Electric has given to younger men — proof to me that in a big company a young man can get to tackle big jobs."

The research being done by Dr. Yusuf A. Yoler is significant not only to himself, but to General Electric and the security of the nation as well. At present, the company is participating as a prime contractor on three of the four long-range ballistic missiles pro-gramed by the U. S. government. Yoler, who is playing an important role in this work, directed the design and development of the world's largest hypersonic shock tunnel — a device which will "test-fly" missile nose cones at speeds over 15,000 mph.

Progress in research and development — as well as in every other field of endeavor — depends on how well young minds meet the challenge of self-development. At General Electric there are more than 29,000 college graduates, each of whom is given the opportunity to develop to his fullest abilities. In this way, we believe, everybody benefits — the individual, the company, and the country.

Six Judges Name Criteria for Floats

Criteria for judging the Homecoming parade floats have been released by the six judges who will pick the winning entries.

They will be judged on the basis of originality, workmanship, unity, and readability. The float must be original in that it's the only one of its kind in the procession depicting the Homecoming theme.

The workmanship must be neat and the entries must be unified by having all parts of the float correlated with each other. The readability refers to any signs on the float. They must be neat and easily read.

There is a possibility of 20 points on each float—five points possible on each of the four criteria.

All house decoration entrants are reminded to turn in their expenditure lists at the activities' center of the Student Union by 5 p.m. Friday. This deadline must be met if houses are to be eligible for the five bonus points awarded to those decorations that carry out the Homecoming theme without undue extravagance.

The Homecoming committee wants this information in order to determine an average cost of house decorations. The committee will use these figures to determine a maximum expenditure amount for 1958 Homecoming house decorations.

FMOC Ball On Schedule Next Month

Favorite Man On Campus will be announced November 23 at the dance sponsored by the School of Home Economics, according to Dottie Newton, DIM Jr, chairman of the Snowball steering committee.

The dance will be in the Student Union main ballroom at 9 p.m. The Five Guys from Emporia will provide the music for the semi-formal affair.

Tickets will go on sale November 11 in Anderson and at the Union.

Letters are being sent next week to all independent organized houses and fraternities asking them to enter a candidate for FMOC. Voting on the candidates will be on November 21 and 22 in Anderson and the Union.

Vet Doctor Says

Ag, Vet Medicine Different

Veterinary medicine students will demonstrate that veterinary medicine is a branch of the medical sciences and will correct the common misconception that it is a branch of the agricultural sciences at K-State's first Veterinary Medicine Open House Saturday, October 26.

Principles of medicine are the same regardless of human or animal treatment, according to Dr.

George Eberhart, assistant professor in the Surgery and Medicine department.

Comparison of surgical equipment and drugs used for both humans and animals will be on display to show the similarity of the two. Dr. Eberhart said that one drug, pentothal, an anesthetic, was used in veterinary medicine seven years before it was used in the medical field.

Another aspect of the Open House will be to show the public how the veterinary medical profession plays a part in the health of the nation.

A demonstration will be given to show how an animal surgeon prepares for an operation. Sound movies of a surgeon performing an operation will be shown.

Sales To Close Friday On Mums, Ball Ducats

Mums and Homecoming ball tickets will be sold through Friday of this week in the lobby of the Union and in Anderson hall.

The white, bronze, and yellow mums come in two sizes. Small corsages are $1.53 and large ones are $2.04. Mortar Board members, who are sponsoring the sale, will deliver flowers Saturday morning and will also sell the mums at the football game Saturday afternoon.

Homecoming ball tickets are being sold by Blue Key for $2 a couple. Tickets may be purchased at the booths or at the semi-formal dance which begins at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Ten Flush Bowl Queen Candidates Announced

FLUSH BOWL QUEEN candidates met at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house one evening this week for dinner and a good chat with "Mother J." The girls, all from organized houses or sororities, will be judged next week-end, and the queen will reign over the entire affair.

Ten candidates have been chosen by the various sororities to compete for queen of the 10th annual Flush Bowl Saturday, October 26. The event is sponsored by Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta fraternities.

The candidates are Sandra Mays, EEd Soph, Alpha Xi Delta; Nancy Payne, EEd Soph, Pi Beta Phi; Lee Lutz, EEd Soph, Kappa Kappa Gamma; Lois Boes, EEd Jr, Chi Omega; Sue Greiveldinger Sp Fr, Alpha Chi Omega; Dixie Brown, HDA Sr, Alpha Delta Pi; Ilene Davey, HT Jr, Clovia; Mary Rose, EEd Jr, Kappa Delta; Rosie Austin, BMT Soph, Delta Delta Delta; and Donna Geis, PEW Jr, Gamma Phi Beta.

Trophies will be awarded to sororities entering the best floats in the parade at 1:30 p.m. the day of the contest.

President James A. McCain will be asked to crown the queen at half-time. Charles A. Jacot, assistant dean of students, and Col. Charles H. Wilkins, head of the Department of Air Science, will be judges of the candidates.

A touch football game will be held at 2:30 p.m. at the city park between the Sig Alphas and the Phi Deltas. Cheerleaders from the two houses will lead cheers during the game.

Rifle Team Will Meet CU Riflers

The K-State Army ROTC rifle team will risk their undefeated status this Saturday when they shoot against the Colorado university riflers at 10 a.m. at the Military Science rifle range.

K-State, which has won three straight matches, will have to face last year's Big Seven rifle champions when they meet the Buffaloes.

Queen's Name, Not Just Finalists, Should Be Released Before Game

THE NAMES of too many near-queens were announced yesterday. The five finalists were given, but the name of the Homecoming queen should have been released.

From a publicity standpoint, the Homecoming festivities will suffer badly because of this "delaying action." If the queen had been announced yesterday, newspapers all over the state would have been able to give it front page coverage.

There is a dearth of news around the latter part of the week. This fact has been substantiated by the Kansas City bureau chief of the United Press.

BIG CIRCULATION NEWSPAPERS like the Topeka Capital and the Kansas City Star and Times would have had the information and pictures to make K-State's 1957 Homecoming the most widely publicized in a decade.

Two major wire services, the United Press and Associated Press, have a photographer representative in Manhattan. The third wire service also has a representative in Manhattan. The Kansas City Star and Topeka Capital also have correspondents in town. Coverage would have been immediate and thorough.

Television stations could have sent cameramen to get moving pictures of the queen. While in town, they could have gotten pictures of the Homecoming house decorations. Once on TV these pictures could have been seen throughout the state.

KANSAS STATE doesn't get chances for publicity like this very often. This was a natural and it was passed up for an intangible, small amount of suspense.

There is a precedent for announcing the name of the queen early. It was done in 1955. The name was announced early and the Collegian published two pages of pictures of the Homecoming queen.

The queen got state-wide coverage and Kansas State benefitted. Last year the queen was announced at halftime. On the Monday after Homecoming, there was one picture of her in the Collegian, the newspaper that's supposed to represent her. There is very little news value left when Monday rolls around.

We don't know if her picture made any paper other than her home town paper, but if it did it got poor play. An abundance of good action football pictures on Sunday squeeze out even the picture of a pretty girl.

So by holding back the release time, the queen is being treated unfairly. Early publication of the queen's name wouldn't slight the other finalists—the students themselves have already slighted them by picking one as queen.

HOW WOULD YOU keep the queen and her attendants busy for five days before the halftime crowning ceremonies? By drawing up a schedule of Homecoming events over which the queen and her attendants would reign.

The suspense element would not be lost through early disclosure. Announcement of the queen early would merely mean that the suspense period would occur sooner.

Most other Big Eight schools announce their finalists on Thursday and the queen on the following Monday. This gives them nearly a week to publicize the queen, who deserves it, and also the attendants, who generally get left out in the cold when the final announcement is held until halftime.

DELAY UNTIL HALFTIME is high school sentiment.

And this brings us to the point which the reader might think to be our main pain—the campus newspaper is the last to announce who was Homecoming queen.

Would you rather see a one column mug shot of your queen in a state newspaper, or a page of pictures in the queen's campus newspaper? The Collegian is not proud to print news all the students already know about.

Five days of mild suspense have cost Kansas State five days of all out publicity. —Roger Myers

Ike May Step Up Missile Program, Cools Hope for Planned Tax Cut

By PAT ROBERTS

Washington—President Eisenhower is considering recommendations from top U.S. scientists for stepping up missile development in the race with Russia into space.

The highly secret scientific appraisal coincided with an abrupt warning from top administration spokesmen that more money may have to be poured into the nation's military effort, cooling off hopes for a tax cut.

Eisenhower, awaiting the arrival tomorrow of Queen Elizabeth, scheduled a talk today with Budget Director Percival Brundage. The conference was considered a possible further step in the continuing massive reappraisal of the missile program in the light of Russia's sending a satellite into orbit around the earth.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was expected today to assess the impact of the Red Sputnik on American foreign policy at a news conference.

Money is the key to Democratic opposition demands to jack up the missile and the U.S. satellite effort.

The Red Sputnik itself continued spinning around the globe every 96 minutes amid scientific speculation it may soon enter the earth's atmosphere and burn up. A Naval research laboratory spokesman said it has been losing altitude due to air resistance. He said it dipped to a low of 147 miles in a pass over Washington Monday.

In Cambridge, Mass., scientists at the Smithsonian Astrophysical observatory said they hope soon to solve the "celestial mechanics" behind the mysterious force tugging at the satellite's third stage rocket which is speeding ahead of the artificial moon.

The President, it was understood, received specific recommendations from his 13-member science advisory committee yesterday. There was no indication what the recommendations contained or if they would signal a shift into higher gear for the missile program being sought by congressmen who claim Russia has taken a significant lead over this country in the field.

Children Hardest Hit by Asian Flu

Flu outbreaks killed at least 12 persons, five of them Pennsylvania school children, in a continuing rampage among the nation's young.

The disease appeared to be gathering strength from one end of the nation to the other, with children the chief victims of the Asian flu and other respiratory ailments.

At least seven deaths blamed on the flu were reported in Pennsylvania in the past 48 hours. One flu-connected death each occurred in Wisconsin, Utah, Ohio, Michigan, and Indiana.

Flu outbreaks forced the shutdown of dozens of schools throughout the country and at least four colleges—Washington and Jefferson college, Washington, Pa.; Lehigh and Lycoming colleges in Pennsylvania, and Beloit college, Beloit, Wis.

Queen Elizabeth Arrives in Virginia

Jamestown, Va.—Queen Elizabeth II today arrives in historical Virginia to make her first visit to the United States since she ascended the British throne.

A dazzling reception awaited the young queen scarcely a dozen miles from where Lord Cornwallis heralded the freedom of this country by surrendering his trapped forces.

The Queen and Prince Phillip were scheduled to arrive by Canadian Royal Air Force plane at 2:30 p.m. EDT at Patrick Henry airport not far from where their nation planted the first English-speaking colonies in the new world 350 years ago at Jamestown and Williamsburg.

When told to move on, one of the boys said "We can't; we're here in the interests of science."

"What are you talking about?" asked the deputy. "We're watching Sputnik," came the logical reply.

H.O.W. Gets IM Win Over Kasbah, 20-6

House of Williams defeated Kasbah, 20-6, to win its third straight football game in intramural football action yesterday.

Jim Wier threw touchdown passes for the House of Williams to Bob Cohan, Roger Congleton, and Roger Kvasnicka. He threw to Kvasnicka for two extra points.

In other action Jr. AVMA beat Newman club, 24-7. Wayne Randall threw passes to Phil Randall and Benny Osborn for touchdowns for the Jr. Vets. Phil Randall tossed one TD pass to Ralph Grosdidier for the other Vet score.

West Stadium downed Rho Alphas in the only other intramural football game. The other scheduled game, between Sigma Phi Nothing and Wesley Foundation, was not played because the players from Sigma Phi Nothing were recuperating from the flu.

injured in practice last Thursday. It is not known if they will be ready for duty by Saturday.

Another pair of halfbacks are on the sick list, Terry Lee with the flu, and Ron Beshk with a knee injury.

Mertes said the Cats are really hustling, but that Colorado has a topflight backfield with Bob Stransky as the nation's leading ground gainer and the third fastest man in the Big Eight in Eddie Dove.

Ducats Already Sold Out For KS-Jayhawk Basketball

On the basis of ticket orders already received, the K-State-Kansas basketball game of next March 8 already is a sell-out, reports Frank Mosier, Kansas State ticket manager.

The Wildcat ticket office began accepting basketball ticket orders October 7, and was hit with a flood of requests for the March 8 game, Mosier said. He explained that more orders were now on hand than can be filled for the KU game. They will be filled on first-come-first-served basis, using postmarks to establish priority, he pointed out.

Tickets for the Wildcat-Jayhawk game will be mailed by January 1, Mosier said, and refunds will be made to those customers whose orders cannot be filled.

The Wildcat ticket manager said tickets were available for all other games on the K-State home basketball schedule, including the December 21 double-header in which K-State meets Washington and Kansas plays California. However, the deadline for season ticket orders is November 1, he cautioned. For Wildcat fans to take advantage of season ticket priority, they must order and remit prior to that date.

Angel Flight Trio Will Compete For Air Force ROTC Queen Title

Three K-State women have been named to compete for the title of Queen of the Air Force ROTC ball November 2. They are Jan White, HE Jr; Harriet Harwick, EEd Soph; and Pat Vopat, ChW Soph.

These women were chosen from Angel Flight by members of the Arnold Air Society. Poise, interest, and personality were the standards used for the selection.

The AFROTC association members will elect one of the three women as their queen next week. The winner will be named at the ball which will be held in the Student Union.

Jan is a Kappa Kappa Gamma and comes from Kingsdown. Pat is a member of Alpha Xi Delta and was raised in Luray. Her parents have recently moved to Hays. Harriet is a Delta Delta Delta from Columbus.

The ball, which is the same day as the K-State-Oklahoma university football game, will begin at 9 p.m. Music will be furnished by the 10-piece Hank Schooley orchestra with June Baker, vocalist.

Schooley has been a featured star and arranger with Vaughn Monroe, Horace Heidt, and the late Glen Miller.

The coronation ceremony will be at 10 and there will be a floor show at 11 featuring Howard Huntington, a magician; Larry Thompson, who performs a juggling act on skates; and Lennie De Santi, a baton twirler.

Thompson has appeared on Ed Sullivan's Toast of the Town program and Miss De Santi was runner-up in a recent national baton twirling championship.

Tickets will be on sale a week before the ball. The cost will be $2 per couple.

Tomorrow is Tramp Day. Student Council has voted to let sleepy students wear the same clothes to their Friday classes that they will wear tonight while working on house decorations and floats, according to Mary Lou Ficke, Soc Sr, chairman of the Homecoming committee.

The council felt that students will probably be working on decorations at their respective houses and dorms until the completion deadline Friday at 5:30 p.m. and would lose valuable time changing clothes to go to class.

Tramp Day was started in 1955 to aid the tired students. At first it was called Hobo Day but the name was changed to Tramp Day because it seemed more appropriate, Miss Ficke said.

KSC Judging Teams To Compete in 'Royal'

K-State will send three judging teams to the American Royal in Kansas City, Mo., this week. They are the senior livestock team, wool judging team, and meats judging team.

The senior livestock team will judge 12 classes of livestock consisting of four animals in each class. Some 22 college teams are expected to enter the contest, which will be held Saturday.

On Tuesday, the meats team will judge nine classes of carcasses and grade 20 beef and 10 lamb carcasses.

Competing with seven other college teams, the wool team will judge seven classes.

Flu Epidemic Hits Campus

A flu epidemic is spreading over the campus, according to Dr. Benjamin Lafene, head of Student Health service. Students with mild cases of flu are being kept in their rooms with only the more severe cases being taken to the hospital. Dr. Lafene said the flu is being typed to see whether it is the Asiatic variety.

Approximately 15 students in West Stadium came down with the flu yesterday, and it may spread to the dormitories, fraternities, sororities, and organized houses, according to Lafene.

Classes Out Saturday For Homecoming Fetes

There will be no classes Saturday, according to A. L. Pugsley, dean of Academic Administration. Classes will be dismissed for Homecoming.

KS Sports Car Club Will Promote Driving Ability

By DAN KERSHAW

Promoting driving skill and pointing out the differences between sports cars and other vehicles are the primary purposes of the Sports Car club which was recently organized at K-State, according to David Mangelsdorf, ME Jr

Mangelsdorf and two other K-State students, Don Wester, CA Sr, and Mike Gottschalk, NE Jr, originated the idea of a sports car club at K-State, and on October 6 the three students met to organize the club.

The emphasis in the club is not on speed but on road ability and driving skill. According to Wester, temporary chairman, the club will try to increase the feeling of comradeship among sports car drivers. There will also be an exchange of technical knowledge among the club members.

"If at all possible we will try to work out some service arrangement with local garages," Wester said. He explained that at the present time sports car owners have to go to Topeka or Kansas City to get their cars serviced.

The club is open to students and faculty members who own sports cars and foreign cars. There will be limited membership for non-college personnel and people who do not own sports cars.

The club will take part in rallies, competition in maintaining average speed, sports car shows, mechanical obstacle races, and possibly inter-club activities with other sports car clubs such as the Jayhawk Sports Car club of Kansas university. The rallies and obstacle races will be open to entrance by the public.

According to Mangelsdorf, the club will possibly do service projects for the college and the community. Such projects would be directing traffic after athletic events and taking traffic polls on the campus.

The first activity in which the organization will take part will be the Homecoming parade Saturday. Club members will drive approximately 14 cars in the parade.

GETTING READY for a spin are Don Argabright, Ag Jr, and Daryl Becker, Ag Sr. Becker, a member of the newly-formed sports car club, is the owner of the Corvette.

Homecoming Queen Elected by Very Few

(Ed. Note—This letter was written as partial punishment for taking College property. Needless to say, The Guilty Ones' names are not being published.)

Dear Editor:

Many students in their short term of college life find themselves indulging in acts of vandalism. For example, several students were recently out riding, when suddenly they found themselves passing by the horticulture farm—where they happened to notice a nice-sized watermelon patch.

Being normal college students, the temptation of a nice juicy watermelon trickling down their esophagus was greater than the mental block against such vandalism. Not realizing the risk involved, they proceeded to load five melons into their car.

On leaving the patch they were stopped by a college employee. Suddenly, as in a nightmare, they found themselves confronted by a wall of trouble. Their punishment for this deed consisted of more than most students would realize, including being placed on college probation for the remainder of the year and being deprived of certain apparently necessary privileges.

If you have ever committed such acts that would prove detrimental to experimental work, you were evidently, like these students, not aware of the years of time, painstaking labor, and the great amount of money involved in research.

For example, the watermelons that these students attempted to take were involved in an experimental project being co-conducted by sixteen states over a period of several years. Most students do not realize these important facts.

Although the Experiment Station was involved in this particular instance, it goes without saying that other property is equally important to the owner and definitely should not be taken or disturbed.

The Guilty Ones

(Gary Haynes graduated from Kansas State last year with a Bachelor's degree in technical journalism. He spent four years on the K-State campus as a Collegian photographer, and as such, has been close to the homecoming queen situation. Now working in Manhattan prior to going into the Army, Haynes asked to write a guest editorial giving the views he has formulated on the matter.—Editor.)

LET'S IMAGINE the entire KSC student body voting Thursday for their ONE choice of 17 homecoming queen candidates. Let's use 6,000 as a round number for our example.

Saturday, these students will presumably sit in the stands and cheer "Their" queen as she's crowned. "Their" queen?

Under the present homecoming queen election setup, the girl on that field wearing that crown possibly was elected by as few as 354 of those 6,000 voters. Hardly representative, would you say?

The largest turnout of voters in K-State history is slightly more than 2,000. Imagining even an equal number for the recent homecoming queen election, it is possible that a group of 122 persons, roughly the size of the K-State band, elected the queen. That's 6% of the total vote.

THIS YEAR, 17 candidates were selected by 17 groups; only one election was held and presumably those 17 groups voted for their candidates.

As an illustration, say the first candidate got 101 votes. Four more, 100 each; the remaining 12 candidates get 99 apiece. A total of 1,689 votes have been cast, and 501 of those, less than a third, have elected five finalists. Logical so far, but wait! Those 1,188 remaining votes, cast, for now-defeated finalist candidates, are discarded. The single extra vote "Girl One" got makes her queen! The voice of 501 students have drowned into oblivion the voices of twice that many fellow students, yet the queen "represents" the whole group.

This is a case of the tail wagging the dog.

FANTASTIC! No, it's a possibility. And as long as something like this is possible, the system needs revamping, it seems.

Sure, the popular candidates will probably be elected by a greater-than-one-vote margin. But the rub comes when the support of the defeated 12 candidates' fans can't be shifted to one of the five "finalists" to make the election really representative.

If things are left as they are, why not announce the already-elected queen, right away instead of going through all the present "Mickey Mouse" of having "finalists" announced first.

CALL A SPADE A SPADE, call the 'finalists' the queen and four attendants, and let these other voters whose votes didn't count in the final queen selection be hanged.

Either that or change the system—have a "primary" where finalists are elected. Then have another ballot to select the queen.

Seems that things might be fairer if the tail DID stop wagging the dog.—Gary Haynes.

Then the doctor took Miss Brown to a hospital surgeon, who took the needle out. Today Miss Brown was treating the eye with cold tea and she said it was doing fine, thanks.

Three New Recordings Find Way Onto Top 10; Elvis Presley, Johnny Mathis Have No. 1 Discs

By Imogene Lamb

THREE NEW DISCS whirled into the top ten Manhattan jukebox bracket this week, but sales lists show only a slight reshuffling.

Record buyers put "Happy, Happy Birthday," by the Tune Weavers, "And That Reminds Me," by Della Reese, and Nat (King) Cole's "With You on My Mind" in sixth, eighth, and tenth spots respectively.

The top three on sales lists are identical with last week's ratings. Elvis Presley's "Jail House Rock" leads, with "Honeycomb," by Jimmy Rodgers, second, and "That'll Be the Day," by the Crickets, in third place.

Constancy seems to outweigh change this week. For the second consecutive week, "Chances Are," by Johnny Mathis, and "Jail House Rock" maintained the lead positions on Manhattan record ratings. "Chances Are" is first on jukeboxes, but seventh on sales lists, and although No. 1 on sales lists, "Jail House Rock" is in position No. 9 on jukeboxes.

"Honeycomb" and "That'll Be the Day" are in second and third places on both polls.

The rocket may be seen tomorrow morning at approximately the same time, Clark said. It will proceed in a southeasterly direction. It can be identified by its brightness and motion and will be visible about 6 months.

Big Eight Yardage Leaders Are Cat Homecoming Foes

The Big Eight's two top offenses will meet in Memorial stadium tomorrow afternoon when K-State hosts Colorado in the 22nd annual Homecoming football game. Kickoff is at 1:30.

Colorado leads the confer-earlier conference game. K-State dropped a 14-7 decision to Nebraska; and CU was nipped, 35-34, by Kansas—both games played two weeks back.

K-State may not go into the game without Keith Wilson, 160-pound senior halfback and second leading rusher among the Wildcats. Wilson injured a knee in practice ahead of last Saturday's even more important was the fine job he did on defense—especially pass defense. Ralph will be in that same spot for the Colorado game," Mertes added.

K-State continued to out-rush opponents, whipping C.O.P. 215 to 171 on the ground. That gives the Wildcats a whopping 1042-yard rushing total through four games for a 261-yard average. Interestingly, Colorado is the only team in the Big Eight which has totalled more—1188 in four games.

This week in Colorado the Cats will be playing "one of the finest teams in the midwest," Mertes said. "Colorado is ninth-ranked in offense; seventh in rushing. Bob Stransky, CU left halfback, is second in the nation rushing with 467 yards. Our scout, Sol Kampf, feels the Buffaloes have the most potent backfield in the Big Eight.

"Despite Colorado's impressive record, I feel that this game will be one of the finest our fans will see here at K-State. I know the Wildcats are ready to play a ball game that we have all been expecting from them."

Last year the Buffaloes chopped K-State down, 34-0, to gain the eighth Colorado win in the 12-game series and a trip to the Orange Bowl. K-State's last win in the string was the 28-14 surprise of 1953.

Colorado comes into this game with an impressive 2-1-1 record. The Buffaloes have dropped Utah, 30-26, and Arizona, 34-14. They lost to Kansas, 35-34, and tied Washington, 6-6.

Kansas State has a 3-6-7 win over BYU and last week's 7-7 tie of C.O.P. to go with two losses to Wyoming, 12-7, and Nebraska, 14-7.

Working with Sports

By Jay Workman

K-State and Colorado university gridmen clash tomorrow in a game featuring the best offensive ball clubs in the Big Eight so far this season. K-State has a total of 1291 yards and the Buffaloes 1509.

This would stack up well against football teams in any conference in the nation.

As proof of the Big Eight's inter-sectional power, we remind you of Missouri's 7-6 defeat of SMU last weekend.

And we believe that our conference isn't any more unbalanced than any other. For example Iowa State tripped up the favored Jayhawks last week by a 15 point margin. Many pre-season prognostications had the Cyclones last and Kansas second in the conference.

Of course Oklahoma is far and away the outstanding team—in fact it is our pick for the best in the country—and we're not the lone Ranger on that!

We know the Big Ten has some good teams, but we think Big Eight squads would win more than their share of the contests in any sport if they were in the same conference. Actually the Big Ten is the most overrated league in the nation—and the Big Eight the most underrated.

And wait 'til Oklahoma State starts official competition!

Anyway, K-State is in the Big Eight, and we're for K-State. We feel sure that the Cats can win some ball games during the rest of the season and know that they are only three yards from an undefeated record this year.

For the third time in four games, K-State fell one yard short of a clinching touchdown last Saturday against C.O.P. A fumble killed the Wildcat bid on the one.

Against Wyoming and Nebraska, too, the Cats were stopped on the one-yard line, leaving them just one yard in three different games away from an unbeaten campaign. A touchdown would have meant a win against Wyoming and C.O.P. and a tie with Nebraska.

"I'm in favor of a 99-yard football field," laughed coach Bus Mertes.

The Wildcats have a tough foe on their hands tomorrow, and will need continuing and even stronger support from the fans to help them win.

The gridders put in two hours of work on the practice field every day for the once-a-week public showing. So let's show the alums here for Homecoming what real school spirit is like and back that hustling team of ours!

Gene Keady tops the Wildcat rushers with a 7.5 average. Dick Corbin leads the passers with 145 yards on 32 throws. Jim Luzinski is the leading receiver with 80 yards on four catches. Ben Grosse ranks first in three departments; punting with a 40-yard average, punt returns and kickoff returns with a mean of 25 yards in each. K-State has 58 first downs to 44 for its opponents.

ence with 1509 yards of offense in four games. K-State trails the Buffaloes with a 1291-yard total. Both have stuck to the ground most of the route—season rushing totals show 1188 yards for Colorado and 1042 for K-State.

The league's two top individual rushers also will meet, as Bob Stansky, out front with 467 yards on 78 tries, runs at left half for the Buffaloes and Gene Keady, with 247 yards on 33 carries, plays right half for K-State.

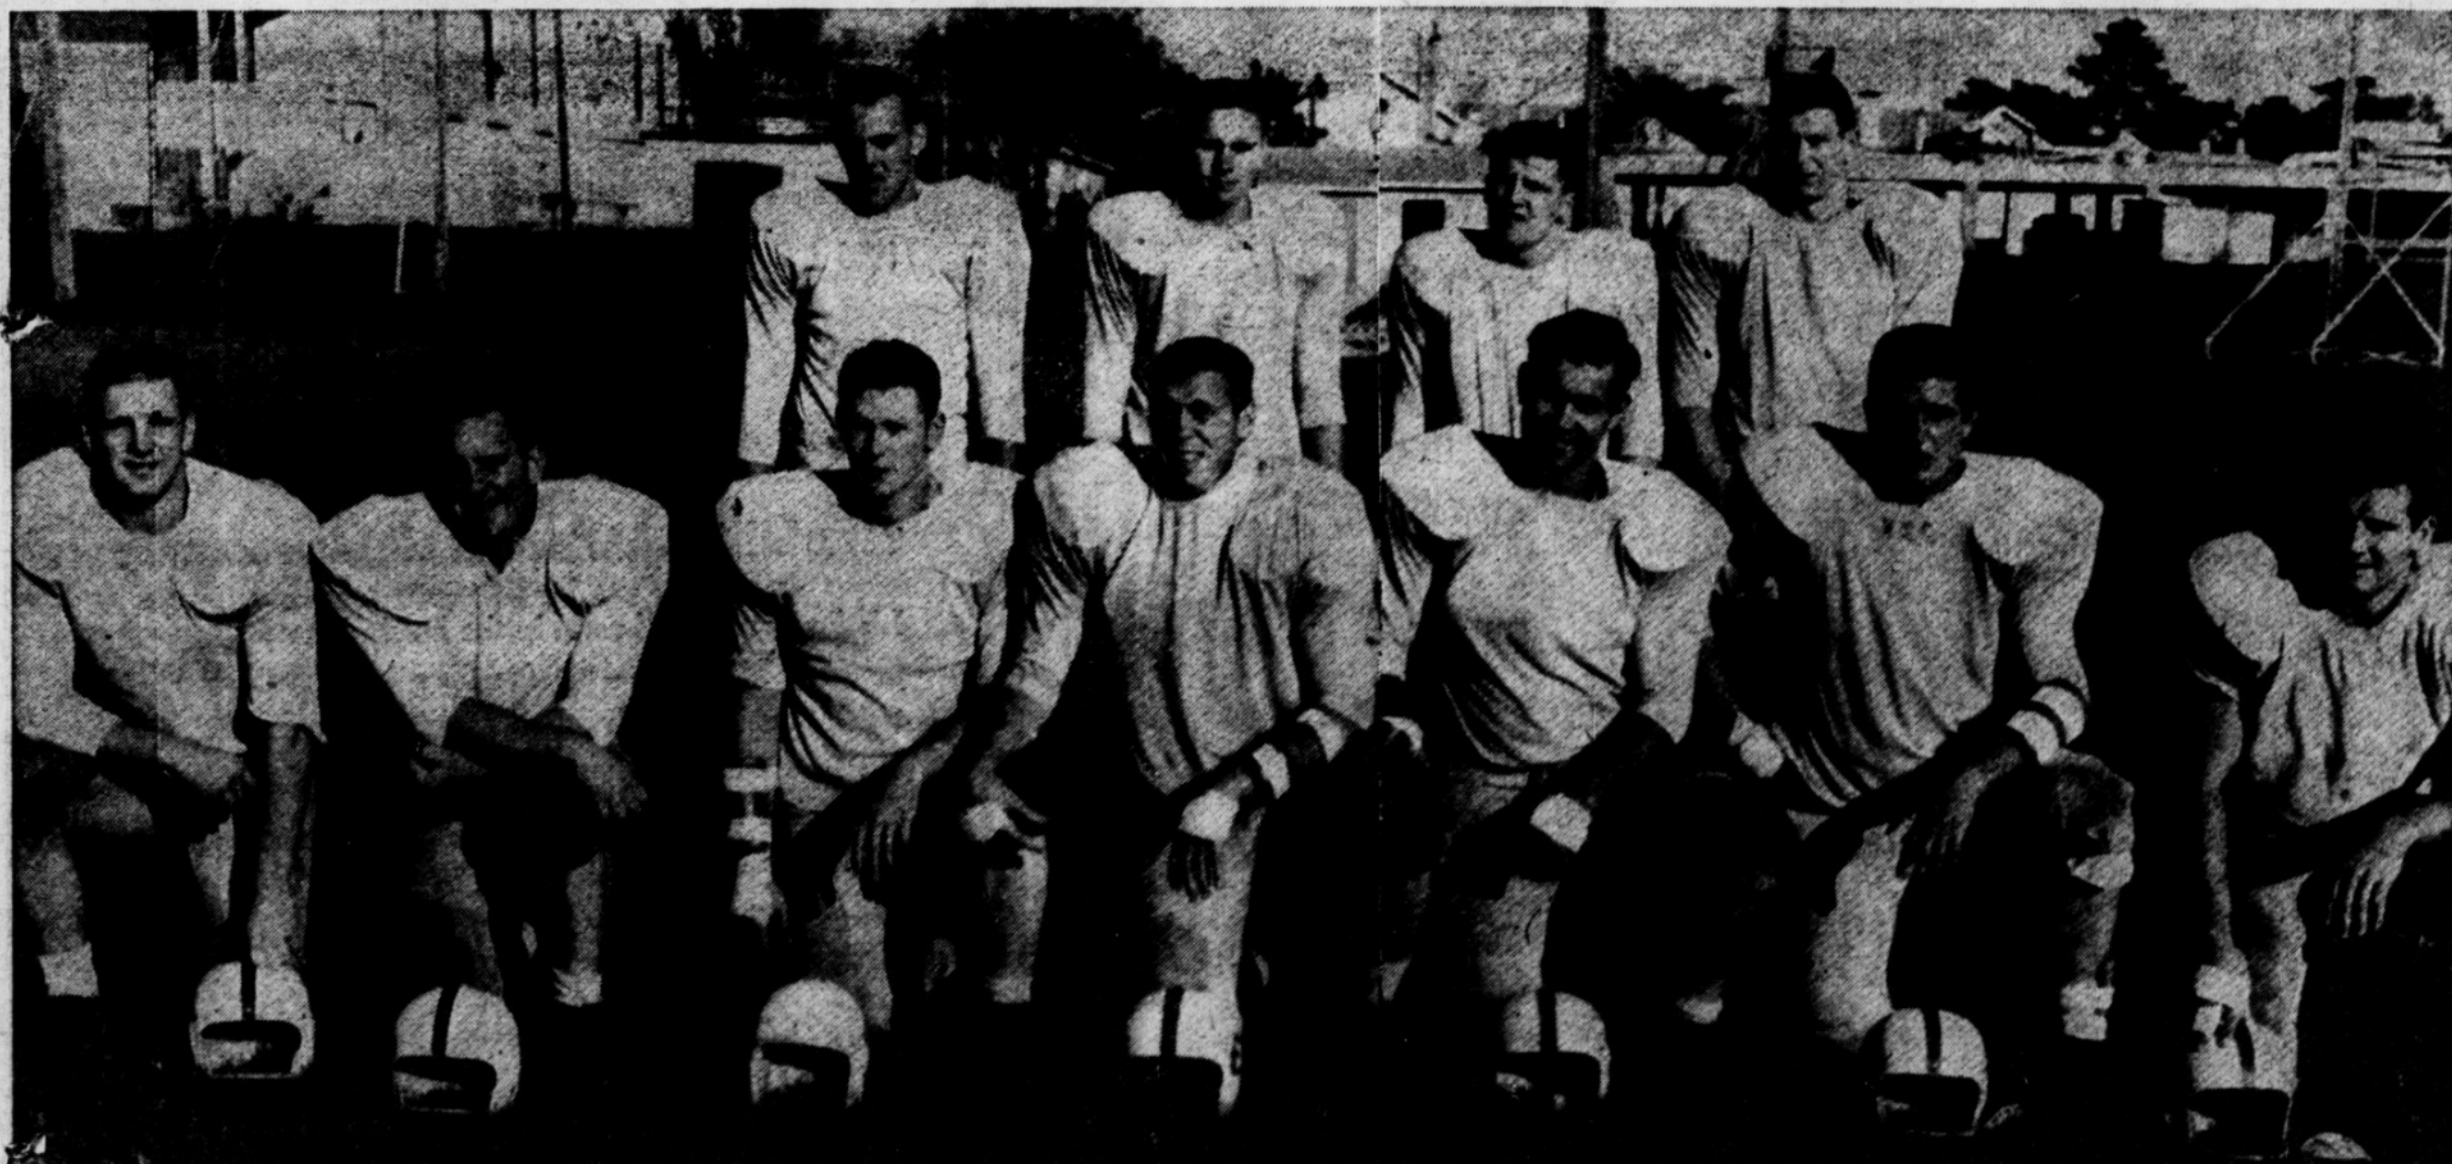

There is another parallel between the two teams, too. Both have been disappointed in one

C.O.P. game. Halfback Ben Grosse, third-ranking Cat rusher, also may be sidelined. He pulled a leg muscle against C.O.P.

The K-State coach saw a bright side to Saturday's tie with College of Pacific. "I had the impression that every one of our men played the best game he has played this season," Mertes said. "In C.O.P. we feel we met our strongest opponent up to this point. However, none of us was satisfied with the outcome. Neither was C.O.P. We played a good, rugged ball game.

"Another pleasing point was that Ralph Pfeifer in his first role as left halfback this season did a tremendous job. He had 54 yards on 16 carries. But

Kansas State 'Has Great Coaching Opportunities'

By ELDON MILLER

"K-State is a school which has great coaching possibilities. I think we can win football here or I wouldn't be here." This is the optimism expressed by head grid coach Bus Mertes.

BUS MERTES has been the guide of K-State football fortunes since 1955. During his tenure the Wildcats have had to encounter the roughest grid competition ever scheduled.

Such perennial grid powers as Iowa and Michigan State joined Oklahoma as "headaches" on Cat schedules.

Despite the rugged opposition, Mertes and his staff of Herb Cormack, Pat Naughton, Steve Sucic, Sol Kampf, and frosh coach Ed Cavanaugh have guided K-State to a record of 7 wins and 13 losses over the past two seasons.

Mertes attributes a lot of success to his aids. "I think it is the best staff in the country or I wouldn't have it. I also think my associates are getting as much as possible out of the boys."

In selecting his assistants, Bus took two things into consideration—each coach's attitude toward the game and likewise his attitude toward the players. Mertes said that each of his helpers likes the game tremendously, and, more important, they liked to work with the boys themselves.

"A head coach is only as good as his assistants," added Mertes. "They are the unsung workers of football. They get less credit than they deserve."

With one exception, the coaching staff is an assemblage of 'youngsters.' Herb Cormack, is the "old man" of the aggregation. Mertes is 37; Naughton, Sucic, and Kampf are 36; and Cavanaugh is 28.

Mertes first appearance at K-State came in 1952, not as friend but as foe. He was then coaching Bradley university and his Braves were K-State's first opponents of the season.

Although he lost the game, Mertes probably gained a greater victory in the long run. He was very impressed with the K-State surroundings and became acquainted with Bill Meek, then coach of the Cats. Several months later Bus was offered a position as backfield coach on the K-State staff and he accepted.

Mertes moved up to the head coaching position in 1955 when Meek left to take over Houston university coaching duties.

HERB CORMACK is a native Kansan who has been coaching teams in Kansas and Iowa since 1928. He was raised in Kinsley and attended Pittsburgh State Teachers college. While at Pittsburgh he lettered in football and basketball.

Immediately after graduation, Herb took over the coaching duties at Mound City high school. After two years he went on to Pleasanton (1930-34) and then to the Iowa City, Iowa, high school in 1934.

Like Mertes, Cormack was also in the Navy during World War II. He returned to Iowa City in 1946 and was named "Coach of the Year" by the Des Moines Register after the '46 season.

Cormack became freshman coach at Iowa State in 1947 and was promoted to the varsity staff as end coach in 1949. After several fine seasons in that category, in which he developed one All-American and two All-conference stars, Herb moved to K-State in 1955.

Cormack, who is married, holds an MA degree in physical education from Iowa university.

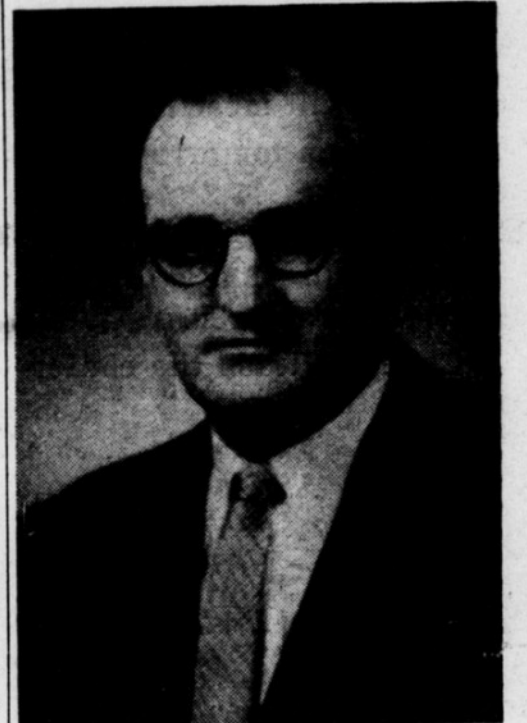

LINE COACH PAT NAUGHTON is a strict fundamentalist. Naughton puts the Cat linemen through many drills following the maxim "fundamentals take practice, practice, practice."

Pat was an end during his playing days. He received his high school football education at Chicago's Austin high school. World War II also found Pat alternating between the Navy blues and a football suit; along with his service ball playing he was also an athletic instructor in the Navy.

In 1945 he played professional football with Rochester, N.Y.

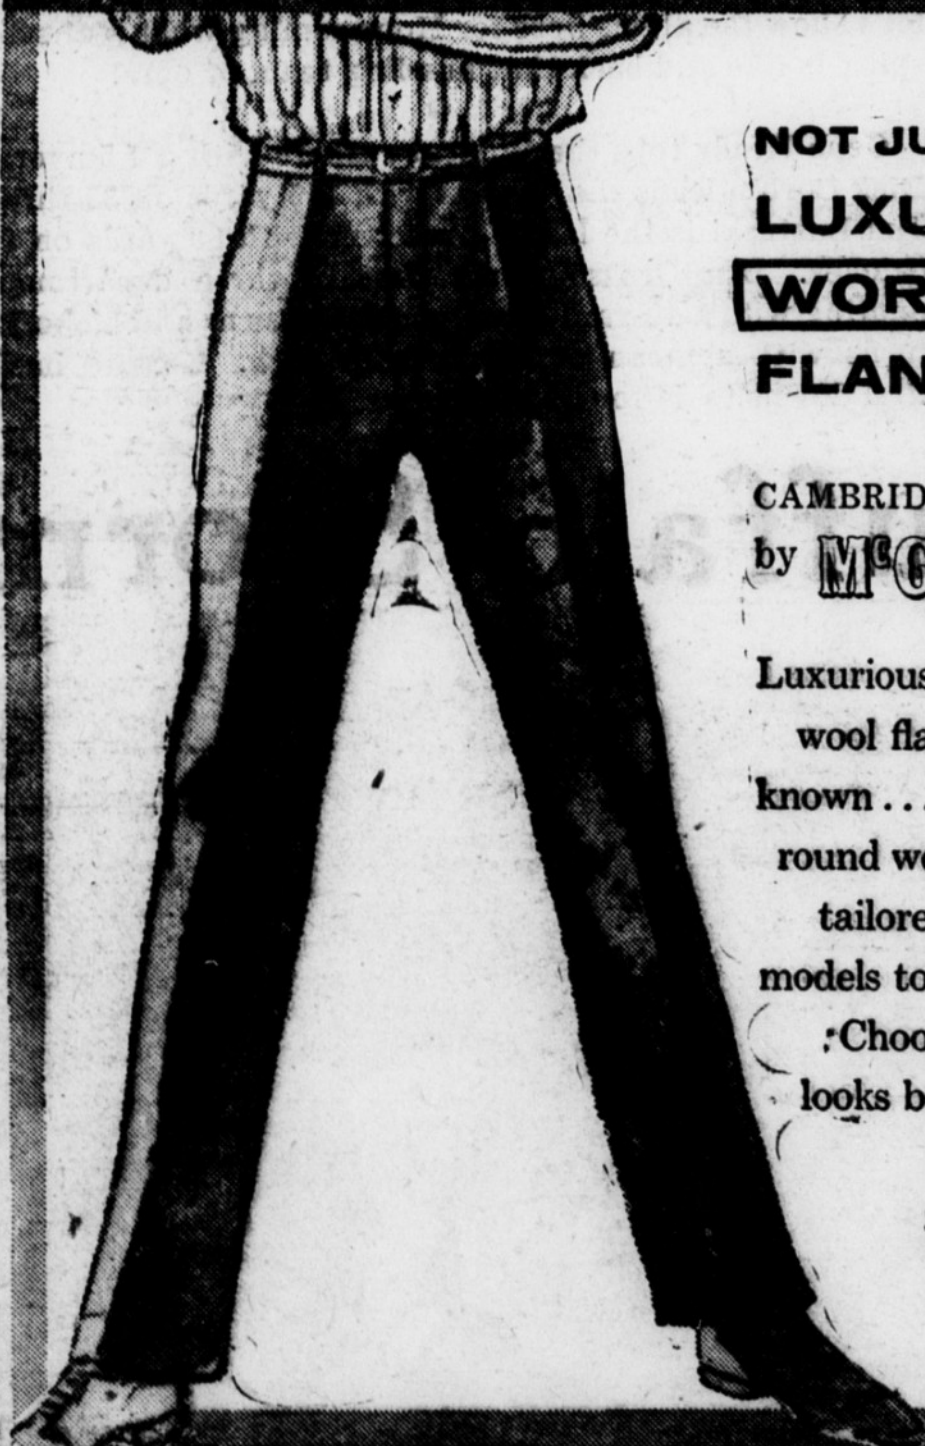

A graduate of DePaul university in Chicago (1951), Naughton spent the 1951 grid season as line coach of DePaul high school; moved to the same post at Fenwick high in Oak Park, Ill., for the 1952 and 1953 seasons; and in 1954 was line coach and scout (Continued on page 19) at Detroit university. He joined the K-State staff in 1955.

All of Pat's knowledge in rugged line play did him little good as far as the gentler sex is concerned. The Irishman resisted as long as he could. He will take the wedding vows in the latter part of November.

STEVE SUCIC, like all of the previously mentioned coaches, has a wide background of playing experience. During the 1941 and 1942 grid seasons Steve played halfback and fullback for Illinois university. His following three years were spent playing Air Force ball. From 1946 to 1948 he played pro football with the Detroit Lions and Los Angeles Rams.

His coaching is also of the well tested variety. He was freshman and assistant varsity coach at Illinois from 1949 to 1952. During the following two seasons he was the head coach at Bradley. He then came to K-State.

Steve is also a native of Chicago. He holds bachelor's and master's degrees in physical education from Illinois. Sue is married and has four children.

SOL KAMPF, who doubles as an assistant and chief scout for Mertes, is one of the sharpest theorists in the game. He follows the new developments of the game closely and has written several articles on football.

Sol is from New York. He graduated from Davis and Elkins college in West Virginia in 1942 with a degree in physical education. He received his master's degree from Indiana university in 1948.

Kampr's background experience includes line coaching at Western Michigan, North Dakota university, Winnipeg professional Blue Bombers, and Bradley. He was an assistant to Mertes at the latter in 1951.

Sol is married and has a five-year-old daughter.

ED CAVANAUGH, unlike his associates, has had rather limited duty as a coach. His first tutoring assignment was at Petersburg, Va., high school in 1953.

He came to K-State the following year.

Ed was a star lineman at Duke university in 1949-50. He received his bachelor's degree in history from the school in 1951 and is now working toward a master's at K-State.

Mertes thinks the K-State fans show a lot of spunk and spirit, all factors taken into consideration. "To instill true spirit it takes winning. I can't ask for a lot of pep unless we are worthy of it."

Glaze Dependable on Defense, Blocking—Mertes

By DAN KERSHAW

"Ray Glaze is a very dependable player. His biggest asset is not his running but his above average blocking. He is also a strong defensive player," coach Bus Mertes said about his regular fullback.

"Ray does the most for his size of anybody we have on the team. He is coming along very nicely after being hampered with injuries last year."

Glaze, 5-10, 175-pound senior, said, "The team still has a lot of spirit and very definitely will be up for the game with Colorado." Our defense is a lot better than our offensive running attack has improved but we are going to have to cut down on mistakes.

Every time we make a mistake the opposition seems to take advantage of it."

"I'm especially looking forward to playing Oklahoma. A player always likes to play against the best in the nation. He has everything to gain and nothing to lose. But I wouldn't even put on a uniform if I didn't think we had a chance to win and that includes Oklahoma."

In three games this season, Glaze has averaged 5.3 yards a carry in 15 attempts for 80 yards. He scored his only touchdown this year against Brigham Young on a one-yard plunge.

Glaze owns two grid letters and

Ray is from Baltimore, Maryland, where he lettered in football, wrestling, and lacross at Patterson Park high school. He was captain of the wrestling team his senior year and was a member of state championship teams in 1951 and 1952.

His major is physical education and after graduation, Ray would like to go back to Baltimore and coach. A former K-State star, Bernie Dudley, also from Baltimore influenced Ray to continue his education at K-State.

Sol Kampf's Main Task Is Scouting

By JOHN RODRIGUEZ

"Scouting can't be overemphasized," says Sol Kampf, K-State assistant football coach and chief scout, "remember, one of the worst scouting jobs in history was when Custer's scout came back to report, 'Those are friendly Indians.' And look what happened to Custer!"

Kampf, in preparing to scout a team, reviews all of his past notes and articles on the team, and looks over movies which Big Eight teams send to each other.

Also, he tries to talk to other scouts, announcers, and sports writers. He arrives at the games about an hour early to see the pre-game warmup. I try to find out what they haven't shown in previous games," he says.

During the game Kampf keeps a running account of the action. Along with attempting to find the strength and weakness of the opposing team as a whole, he keeps tab of individual performers.

After the team is scouted the coaching staff discusses the changes each team made from the previous year.

"The No. 1 thing we ask a scout is about the team's defense," head coach Bus Mertes says.

On the game tomorrow, Kampf says Colorado has a lot of offense to throw at the Wildcats.

New Sports Season Starts Double Duty for DeWeese

By DAN KERSHAW

The man behind the scenes as far as sports publicity goes, is Paul DeWeese, K-State sports information director.

Among the things that go on in his fieldhouse office are preparing football and basketball brochures. He also goes on all the football trips and attended all but one basketball game last year. His job is to cover the action and send out reports to radio, newspapers and TV stations in the surrounding area.

DeWeese graduated from K-State in 1947 and worked following graduation in Fort Collins, Colorado, at Colorado State. He worked there for one year before returning to his alma mater to start work for the Extension information department. Later he moved up to his present job as sports publicity director.

The hardest part of his job, according to DeWeese, is when football and basketball overlap. Information must be sent out on both sports and one season is beginning just as he is wrapping up the other. That means he must get pre-season information out on basketball and finish up the publicity on football.

"Contrary to popular belief, summer is not my easiest time of year," DeWeese said. "There is a heavy request for information on football in June, so I have to get the brochures and programs ready to go."

The job of publicity director does not mean that DeWeese necessarily 'pushes' any one game. His job is to simply inform the people on intercollegiate athletics at K-State.

Despite the hard work that goes with the job, DeWeese says he is very happy with his position. "I don't think you can beat the sports set-up at K-State. It is evenly balanced and one of the top programs in the Big Eight. "After a season is well under way, the job becomes fun and not just a routine," DeWeese added. "I can sit back and enjoy ball games."

PUSHING PERTINENT POOP about all of K-State's athletic happenings keeps Paul DeWeese plenty busy. Right now, in the middle of football season, he is getting out advance information about coming basketball and track events.

Final Homecoming For 13 Footballers

By ELDON MILLER

Twelve seniors will be playing in their last Homecoming football game for K-State this weekend. Another senior, Keith Wilson, will be out because of a knee injury.

Eight of these men will be starting against Colorado, four of them in the backfield. Eleven of the seniors have lettered.

Anchoring the Cat line will be team captain Ellis Rainsberger. The 6-0 199-pound center has lettered two years and was an all-conference guard last season. Rainsberger has also played first team tackle for K-State.

On the left side of the line will be end Don Zadnik and tackle Jack Keelan. Zadnik, who is 5-11 and weighs 190 pounds, has also received two letters. He gained honorable mention on the conference squad last year.

Keelan is the largest man in camp with 228 pounds on his 6-3 frame. Jack has lettered two years. He moved into the tackle slot several weeks after the beginning of the 1956 season and has held it since.

K-State's right side of the line will have senior guard Wally Carlson. The 6-0 220-pound Carlson lettered twice. This is his second year as a first stringer.

The field general for the Wildcats is quarterback Dick Corbin. Corbin has seen much action as signal-caller since his sophomore season. He has two letters. Dick is an even 6-0 and scales 176 pounds.

Teaming at the halfback posts will be Gene Keady and Ralph Pfeifer. Right-half Keady was the leading K-State scorer, rusher, and pass receiver last season after working into the first team position. The 6-0 190-pounder has one letter. He gained honorable mention all-conference recognition last year.

Pfeifer had a brilliant sophomore season at halfback and was a fair fullback last year. Pfeifer is 6-0 tall and weighs 197. He has won two monograms.

Another two-year letterman, Ray Glaze, will be the starting fullback. Glaze stands 5-10 and weighs 173 pounds. Despite his lightness, Glaze has plenty of power.

Two senior ends will be seeing reserve duty for K-State, George Laddish and Dan O'Brien. Laddish, who started last year but has been hampered by injuries this season, has lettered twice while O'Brien has one numeral.

Dick Allen, halfback; Bob Krizan, tackle; and Bill Pulford, guard; round out the senior squad members.

Allen lettered as a sophomore when he was the leading Wildcat punter.

Krizan and Pulford have not yet lettered.

"...a good time for thinking..."

"A man's really got to study to make the grade in engineering, whether it's E.E., M.E., or C.E. But when I was at K-State, we found time to sit around and just talk, at some place like the Union. It was a good time for thinking about our future. We were all pretty hot on being right, no mistakes, and we knew what we wanted out of life. I'm sure it's the same way with you."

"...we wanted to get off on the right foot..."

"We knew we wanted to get off on the right foot with an outfit where we'd have a chance, right off, to take responsibility on important projects. That's why we worked hard at finding out just what various companies had to offer us. We wanted to know about salary, sure. But we also wanted to know about the work we'd be doing about our chances for getting ahead in engineering and management, about the kind of people we'd be working for... and with. And we found that the best place to get the answers was at campus interviews sponsored by the companies looking for engineers."

"...I decided... Emerson."

"As a result of my interviews, I decided to go with Emerson Electric. They offered me a realistic salary, the knowledge that Emerson had important projects to work on, and I could see for myself that there'd be plenty of opportunity to move up fast in a company where engineers and management are young and aggressive, with young, hard-fisted plans for the future."

"...some pretty hot projects here..."

"Right now, we're working on some pretty hot projects here, stuff like the B-58 Hustler bomber fire control system and F-101 Voodoo fighter structure. We're working on missiles, too. But behind this important defense work, Emerson Electric is sound in commercial manufacturing, with a reputation in the electrical field that stretches back to 1890. And that literally means money in the bank."

"...give yourself every break..."

"I think Emerson is a darned good career outfit. But I know every man's got to work out his own future. That's why all I'm really urging you to do is give yourself every break by getting all the answers before you decide. Sign up to talk with the people from Emerson Electric. It's just a half hour of your time, and you'll learn exactly what Emerson can offer you. Remember, it's your future you're going in to talk about."

Events Start With Tour At 6:30 p.m.

K-State's 1957 Homecoming festivities will officially get underway this evening when Greek and organized house decorations are unveiled at 6:30 p.m.

There will be a pep rally tonight at 10:30 p.m. in the city park. Students are asked to bring a replica of a buffalo to feed the giant bonfire. Winners of the Homecoming house decorations will be announced at the rally.

Saturday morning there will be tours of the Union for visiting alums. A buffeteria lunch has been set up in the main ballroom to handle the non-Greek students and alumni.

At 1:30 p.m. the winners of the float prizes and also the badge sales trophies will be announced. Immediately following, K-State and Colorado university will do battle. At halftime, the queen will be announced and kissed by Sen. Frank Carlson and at 9 a.m. the Homecoming ball will begin. The queen will be officially crowned during an intermission of the dance. At midnight everybody goes home and tries to find a sack without an alum in it.

KS Finalists, 'Excited, Surprised, Happy'

By KATHY SCHULTIS

"Lots and lots of fun" is what K-States five Homecoming queen finalists are having this week. All five agreed to this: being a finalist is about the greatest thing that can happen to a woman.

Nothing like this has ever happened to me before," said Pat McDermott, BA Sr, when she found out she was one of the five finalists. "I was 'Spur of the Moment' at Washington State, but it wasn't as big an affair as Homecoming here." Pat explained that Spurs is an honorary organization for sophomore women, similar to Chimes and Mortar Board.

"When I finish college, my first goal is to get eight hours of sleep every night," Pat said. She plans to do public relations work in business after graduation. "First of all," she said, "I want to attend the international Gamma Phi Beta convention which will be in Vancouver, British Columbia. Then I want to tour the Northwest for awhile before working." Pat comes from Kennewick, Wash., and likes Kansas, especially K-State. "I just wish I had transferred to K-State sooner than I did," she said.

"I was thrilled and proud," said Roberta Wray, SED Jr. "The next thing I thought about was whether I could get tickets for my parents for the football game." Roberta said all of the Homecoming activities were really keeping her busy. She is chairman of the Homecoming float entered by her sorority, Alpha Xi Delta.

Playing golf is her favorite hobby. She also likes sports of all kinds. Both Roberta and Rosemary Derks, another finalist, are from Norton. "Rosemary and I were good friends in high school. You can't imagine how thrilled I was when I found out she was a finalist too."

Rosemark Derks, Eng Sr, was "surprised and happy" to be a finalist in the contest. "I'm not very poetic, so I can't think of any adjectives to describe exactly how I felt," she said. Rosemary would like to work on the West coast after graduation from K-State in January. "I would probably teach English. I have many friends on the West coast, so that is where I want to go," she said.

Rosemary listed steak, potatoes with sour cream and chives, and pizza as her favorite foods. She likes to swim and sew. Rosemary is social chairman of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority.

Janice Graham, TJ Sr, commented, "It surely is different to be interviewed than to do the interviewing." Janice is society editor of the Collegian and a staff member of the Royal Purple. "My sister beat me to calling our folks after I found out I was a finalist for Homecoming queen. I couldn't believe it was me when the Pi Phis nominated me," she said.

Janice likes to play tennis, but says she doesn't have much time for the sport this year. She would like to work in Colorado after graduation as a feature article writer for a magazine. "I just don't know what I will wear to the Homecoming dance," she said. "I gave my only cocktail dress to my sister."

Susan Schober, PEW Jr, was "shocked beyond words" when told she was a Homecoming queen finalist. "My mother had brought a dress to me that day, so she was there to see the assembly when finalists were announced." Susan is head cheerleader and a member of Alpha Delta Pi.

"There's no time for anything but fun this week," she said. Susan's spare time is spent keeping a scrapbook of sorority events. "I used to keep many scrapbooks, but only have time for one now," she explained. Susan will be married in June and will graduate from K-State in January, 1958.

New York—The New York Central said "operational difficulties" caused one of its trains to be 37 minutes late yesterday.

When pressed, a railroad spokesman admitted that every member of the train crew apparently overslept and was late for work.

Long Branch, N.J.—Mrs. Sophie Segal and Steve Tarantolo learned their lessons well, much to the chagrin of vocational school cooking and baking teacher, Cy Sommer.

Mrs. Segal and Tarantolo took first and second place in the state Bakers' Board of Trade baking contest. Their teacher, Sommer, was third.

Laurens, Iowa—Thieves looted $600 from a safe in the Laurens high school. But they left an envelope containing $115 that was marked:

"This belongs to Mrs. Joe Workman—hands off."

Elizabeth, N.J.—Diet-watchers take note:

Mrs. Luise Gommel, 101, said the secret of her longevity is "I always eat a lot, and I eat what I like."

Staters See Win, Loss in Colorado Game

By KATHY SCHULTIS

WILL THE WILDCATS beat the Colorado Buffs? This was the question asked students as they gathered for that 3 p.m. coffee break in the Union. Some were optimistic, some were pessimistic, and others—well, judge for yourself:

DICK BRANTINGHAM, BA Jr—It would be a good game to win.

BARBARA NICCUM, Zoo Sr—I think we have a pretty good chance of beating Colorado.

JIM CARPENTER, FTc Jr—We are the two leading offensive teams in the Big Eight, so the game should be an offensive battle. If we can hold our offense, we can win.

KAY STEINLE, Soc Sr—It depends on how many of our own fumbles we recover.

KENT KEINTZ, AE Jr—It will be a close game, but we should win.

CAROL WILMORE, EEd Sr—Win or lose, it should be a great day.

JOHN RODGERS, Eng Sr—I don't think we have a chance.

SHARON KNOX, EEd Jr—I certainly hope we will win.

TERRY WAUGH, EE Jr—If I were betting money, I wouldn't bet. Since I'm not betting, K-State should win.

JEAN SHENK, EEd Jr—We will probably win. It would be nice to show our alums our great team.

HANS J. GOLDMAN, EE Soph—I think it will be a real fine game, if we win.

GENIE BRADLEY, Sp Grad—K-State will play a good game.

ALAN VIANI, Ag Sr—If they don't learn to score inside the 10-yard line, they'll lost 35-14. Otherwise the Wildcats have a good chance to win.

BILL SCOTT, BA Jr—They will have to play better ball than before to win.

NORMAN STOCKHAM, BA Soph—We will get beat by two touchdowns.

JANET McCROSKEY, HEA Jr—It would be nice to win for Homecoming.

TED HEATH, AE Grad—The game will be close, but if K-State can gain all the breaks, we can beat Colorado.

VIRGINIA WHEALY, EEd Soph—I hope we win.

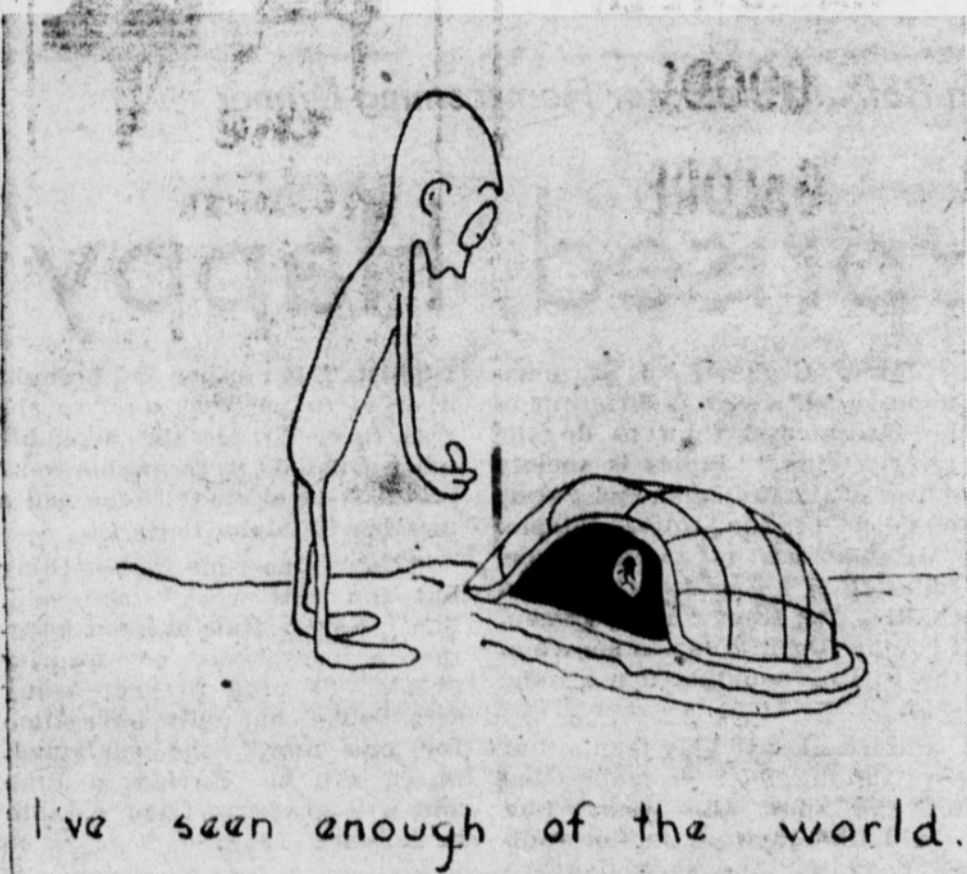

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

Just a few words about the article in Monday's Collegian by your assistant editor, who advised Kansas folk to stay in the Wheat State just because he had his feelings dampened slightly during his state-supported pioneer excursion to California.

I have always appreciated the broad-minded thinking which the Collegian has displayed, but this article could only remind me of a cartoon by Jim Crane, cartoonist for Motive, which is so appropriate here

Alan Cervenka, EE Sr.

Again admitting (as we did October 14) that there must be something good about California we still didn't see it. You may have our share of the place, Alan. Nice to know someone is reading our stuff—by the way, am I the big fellow or the little fellow in the igloo in the cartoon?—Assistant editor in charge of California.

Alligators, Babies, In-Class Murders —Want Any More?

By SHARON TOTTEN

THE ONE AND ONLY alligator on the University of North Dakota campus died of exposure recently. Pledges of a North Dakota fraternity dressed in black and gave him a royal send-off with a full ROTC funeral.

The Dakota Student's comment: "His many friends mourn his passing."

AT THE University of Colorado, Student Union employees are wondering what happened to the excited young man who rushed up to an attendant at the reception desk one afternoon and announced, "My wife is going to have a baby any minute."

He asked to be paged when the hospital called and then disappeared without leaving his name.

A SPEECH instructor at the University of Kansas was shot recently by a madman who charged into the room and bellowed:

"Are you Kuhlke?"

"Yes."

"You out at the Dine-a-Mite Saturday night, Kuhlke?"

"Yes."

"The next time you ask a woman to dance, make sure she ain't married!"

He pulled a revolver and shot twice. Mr. Kuhlke fell to the floor. The gunman waved his revolver wildly at the class, wheeled, and raced from the room.

... It was all a hoax. The speech instructor miraculously recovered to ask a student to describe the event and the assailant.

TRAMP DAY does not especially encourage studying, as typical professor Helen Hostetter notes. Just plain relaxing and thinking about last minute Homecoming decorations occupy much of the average student's thoughts, as indicated by daydreaming, sweatshirt-and-slacks-clad Betsy Burnham, EEd Jr. Miss Hostetter is not really Betsy Burnham's instructor. In fact, Miss Burnham doesn't even take journalism. Also the guy on the left was merely an innocent bypasser. However the picture is true in thought and shows a scene typical in scores of classes today.

'Harry the Cop' Is Dead After 30 Years at K-State

Harry C. (Harry the Cop) Morris, 67, a K-State employee for 30 years, died at 1 a.m. yesterday at the Saint Mary's hospital. He had been retired since 1955.

The familiar blue-uniformed campus patrolman was one of the College's best known figures, and his tip of the cap to coeds and cherry greetings became K-State institutions.

Morris was born in Onaga, September 5, 1890, and started working at K-State in 1926. From 1927 until he became a campus policeman in 1940, he was the library custodian.

He served with the Third Infantry division in France in World War I, seeing action at Chateau Thierry and St. Mihiel.

A resident of Manhattan 32 years, Morris was a member of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, the Harmony Rebecca lodge, the American Legion, and the First Methodist church.

He is survived by his wife, Rosa, of the home, 525 Osage; a sister, Mrs. Isabel Wright, of Onaga; a brother, Duke, of Onaga; an aunt, Nannie Beasley, of Wamego; and two nieces, Thelma Morris of Manhattan and Lorna Smith of Onaga.

Funeral arrangements have not been completed. The body is lying in state at the Burlew-Cowan funeral home.

Gridiron Wife Irons as Spouse Stars on Gridiron

By KATHY SCHULTIS

Wives of K-State football players have one thing in common—that of being avid sports fans, and especially football fans.

Shirley and Ellis Rainsberger have been married four and a half years. She is a native of Columbus, Ga., and Ellis, of East St. Louis, Ill. The couple has three children—Becky, Ellis, jr., and Katherine. "I always iron when listening to out-of-town games. While I iron, I get so excited that I manage to burn myself," she explained. Shirley is also an avid sports fan and even attends some out-of-town football games. She manages to keep busy by being a member of Dames club, sewing her children's clothes, and knitting. The couple lives in East Stadium.

Jane Stinson, wife of Jaydee Stinson, starting right guard, watches every home football game. "Football takes up an awfully lot of time, but Jay likes it. He is playing better this year than ever before." Jane and Jay both come from Lawrence. The couple started dating when they were juniors in high school and were married last New Year's eve. Jane and Jay built a house last summer in Manhattan, but have sold it. She likes to cook, which is a good thing as "Jay sure likes to eat. I usually get what's left."

Janis and Dick Corbin are the newest newlyweds, being married August 18. Janis, Sp Jr, also likes to cook, but says she would rather practice cooking for herself for awhile. About football Janis stated, "I know enough about football now to carry on an intelligent conversation, which really makes me feel good."

Dick is a member of Beta Theta Pi, and Janis is a Kappa Kappa Gamma; both are from Stafford. Janis stated her one pet peeve, "I wish people would give football players the credit they deserve for their good grades. Most of them make better than average grades and that is good considering they are gone so much of the time." Dick maintains a 2.5 grade average and Janis, a 2.8 grade average.

The youngest of the football wives is Judy Allen, wife of Dick

(Ace) Allen. She is 18 and comes from Knoxville, Tenn. The couple has been married since June 1. Judy is a sports enthusiast herself. "I worked out with Dick last summer on the football field. I also played a lot of softball while in high school." The couple enjoys an evening of bridge or canasta. Coming to Kansas was quite a change from Tennessee. "I like the people in Kansas, especially football families. They are the nicest people in the world."

Another Southerner is Doris Wilson, who comes from Birmingham, Ala. She went to K-State one semester and would like to finish college after Keith graduates. Doris and Keith have kept a scrapbook of all the newspaper pictures and articles about K-State football. "The book weighs about 20 lbs. and we try to keep it up to date by working on it every weekend."

Doris said, "I like to cook, and it is a good thing. Keith eats an awfully lot to be as small as he is." The Wilsons went to the same high school in Birmingham and were married August 18, 1956.

AT LEAST THERE IS one thing in common for the K-State football players' wives . . . they are all active sports fans . . . especially in football. One enthusiastic fan has a scrapbook which weighs approximately 20 pounds. A wife from Tennessee said the people in Kansas, especially football families . . . are the nicest people in the world.

Alums of '52 Plan Reunion In KS Union

By LOREN HENRY

Arthur D. Weber, acting president of K-State, will welcome members of the 1952 graduating class back at a luncheon in the Student Union at 11:15 a.m. tomorrow.

Approximately 75 to 100 members of the 1952 graduating class are expected to attend, according to Herman Wilson, temporary instructor of physical education and chairman of the luncheon.

A business meeting will precede the luncheon with Dr. Bob McCaustland, DVM '52, presiding. Others officers who will probably attend are Dr. Bill Kvasnicka, DVM '52, vice president; Mrs. Shirley Bodmer, BS '52, secretary; and Mrs. Diana Lowe, BS '52, secretary.

Wildcat Tradition Is 43 Years Old

In 1915, the Kansas State grid squad was named the Wildcats. Now forty-three years later a wildcat, Touchdown IV, carries on the tradition as the mascot of our school.

The K-State chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, national scouting fraternity, purchased the cat from the Hutchinson, Kansas fire department for $50. TD the fourth had been captured in Carson City, Colorado. Oddly enough, the cat's first visit to the campus was January 15, 1949, when the Wildcats defeated TD's home state Colorado Buffaloes, 48-43 in a basketball game.

The five-year old has never missed a grid tilt and sometimes attends basketball games. He has attended out of town games, both official and unofficial. On November 7, 1953, TD took his first official out of town trip to Lawrence where Kansas State shut-out Kansas University 7-0 for the first Cat win over KU since 1940.

Two years later, TD took his first unofficial trip 'down the river'. Ten days before the intra state battle in 1955, Touchdown IV was cat-napped by some Jayhawkers. After K-State brought a substitute wildcat to Lawrence under armed guard, the KU'ers returned TD safe and sound while their team was getting tromped 46-0.

During off-hours, while not on the campus, TD takes life easy and makes his home in Manhattan's Sunset Zoo.

House Decoration Awards To Be Announced Tonight

By IMOGENE LAMB

Winners of Homecoming house decorations will be announced at the pep rally at 10:30 p.m. tonight in the City park, according to Emily Douthit, Psy Jr, chairman of the house decorations committee.

Trophies for house decorations will be presented before the Homecoming game with Colorado on Saturday afternoon as previously scheduled. This is the first year for the early announcement, and it is hoped it will draw a large crowd for the pep rally.

When alumni register for Homecoming, they will be asked to designate the fraternity or sorority with which they are affiliated, according to Miss Douthit. Before game time, Kenny Ford, secretary of the Alumni association, will give recognition to the house having the most alumni at K-State for Homecoming.

Sorority houses that have entered house decorations are Alpha Chi Omega, Alpha Delta Pi, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Delta Delta Delta, Gamma Phi Beta, Kappa Delta, Kappa Kappa Gamma, and Pi Beta Phi.

Fraternities entered are Acacia, Alpha Gamma Rho, Alpha Kappa Lambda, Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, Delta Tau Delta, Farm House, Kappa Sigma, Phi Delta Theta, Phi Kappa Phi, Kappa Tau, Pi Kappa Alpha, Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Chi, Sigma Nu, Sigma Phi Epsilon, and Theta Xi.

Chrysanthemums the Word Say Mortar Board Coeds

By ELDON MILLER

In 1938, the Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, added a new innovation to the Homecoming festivities—the sale of mums for the game and dance.

These flowers, which sold for as high as 50 cents apiece, netted the Mortar Board a $12 profit. Today the mum selling is yielding a gain of over $400 a year.

This money is the sole source of income for the Mortar Board and is used for scholarships, awards, and campus beautification.

A scholarship fund has been set up to provide two scholarships each year to freshmen women. Need, and a high school scholastic average, are the determining factors in awarding the scholarships.

The freshmen woman who has the highest grade average at K-State also receives an award from Mortar Board.

The Mortar Board has the exclusive right to sell flowers on the K-State campus.

Only once has the organization received any competition. In 1949 a student from Hawaii started a flower shop near the college to help meet his expenses.

The women of the Mortar Board met the challenge, however, and the popularity of mums was soon restored.

The price of mums this year are $1.53 for the regular size and $2.04 for the economy size. They will come in three colors—bronze, white and yellow.

No one knows exactly why the mum is the traditional flower for Homecoming. Some believe it is because it is a fall flower, and grows in fall colors—bronze and yellow. It is a hardy flower, ready to face the cold weather that sometimes comes with Homecoming.

The fashion minded say that mums compliment the suits and other casual outfits worn at Homecoming games.

The flower's size and resemblance to a football may help explain its popularity.

No Easy Street

Brooktondale, N.Y. (U.P.)—Some people who live on Easy Street don't like it at all. The Caroline Town Board, the township authority over this community, has been asked to change the name of Easy Street by the residents who claim they are tired of the ribbing they receive because of the name.

Band Will Perform At Game Saturday

By JOHN RODRIGUEZ

Jean Hedlund, band director, was forced to change his plans for band activity at Homecoming after learning President James A. McCain would not be back in time for the event.

As a homecoming feature, the band was going to welcome McCain back to the campus by spelling out "Hi Jim" on the field. Now Hedlund will feature the twirlers in a twirling demonstration.

During this exhibition, the band will play a waltz. The twirlers are Lynn Mechesney, Gvt Jr; Connie Morgan, HE Soph;

Mary Ann Simpson, Fr; and Susan Mechesney, EEd Soph.

Also during the halftime activities, the band will perform a marching drill and will salute the visiting team, Colorado university, by forming the letters, C. U., on the field.

Before the game the combined bands of Manhattan high school and K-State will play the national anthem, under the direction of Lawrence Norvell, Manhattan high band director.

Saturday morning the band will participate in the Homecoming day parade, which starts at 10 a.m.

No, not a Social Security or license number. But it is a special number to Mr. HS&M. He secured 517794 in 1925 when he saw the first Eton Flannel suit created by Hart Schaffner & Marx. It was so magnificent that he wanted to reserve the name Eton Flannel. Hence, Trademark No. 517794. Why not see for yourself why Mr. HS&M is so excited about the Eton Flannel suit?

Chi Omegas Had First KS Homecoming Queen

K-State's 22nd Homecoming queen will be presented at the K-State-Colorado university football game tomorrow.

Although the past two queens were sophomores, the freshman class has had more queens than any other. Freshmen candidates have won the honor nine times, while sophomores have received the title in seven elections. Only three juniors and two seniors have been queen.

Since 1953, Homecoming queen has been elected by the entire student body. Before that time, many of the queens were elected by those attending the Homecoming dance.

Jeanne Underwood, now Mrs. Glenn Robinson, reigned as the first Homecoming queen in 1936. She was a sophomore and represented Chi Omega sorority. A maid of honor was also named. Since then the number of attendants has varied from two to five.

Twirler Joyce Brower, Chi Omega sophomore, was last year's queen. She now works in Wichita, where she attends modeling school.

Jean Cooper, K-State cheerleader, reigned over Homecoming in 1955. She was a Pi Beta Phi sophomore. Jean is married to Larry Hamilton, an OU graduate, and lives with her parents in Wichita while her husband is overseas with the air force.

The K-State Band's first drum majorette, Marlene Young, took top honors in the 1954 election. Marlene graduated in August and is now teaching kindergarten at Blue-mont school in Manhattan. She was a freshman representing Delta Delta Delta sorority when she was elected queen.

Blythe Guy, Tri Delt junior, was 1953 queen. She and her husband Jack Potts, a K-State graduate, live in California.

Five years ago Kappa Gamma Charleen Dunn was the first senior to reign since 1939. Charleen is now Mrs. John R. Fifield of Kansas City, Mo.

Doris Schwab, now Mrs. Robert Yeager of Wichita, was Homecoming queen in 1951. She was an Alpha Xi Delta sophomore.

The queen in 1950 was Nancy Curtiss, Chi Omega freshman. She is married to Chauncey Gundelfinger who has been in the air force.

Jolene Essau, Tri Delt, reigned over the 1949 festivities as a freshman. She is now Mrs. Ralph Watzig and is an artist for Walt Disney's Little Golden Books in Hollywood.

An Alpha Chi Omega sophomore, Virginia Price, was elected queen in 1948. Her husband is Phillip Day, and they have two children.

Carol Campbell, Pi Phi freshman, reigned in 1947. She is

Game's Clutter Gone Sunday

By IMOGENE LAMB

Cups, paper wrappers, programs, and stray mum petals will remain after the football fans leave the Homecoming game tomorrow.

Many of these same fans, on their way to class Monday morning, will pass a spotless stadium free from any evidence of Saturday's clutter. Who brings about this rapid transformation?

Two grounds keepers and approximately 40 college men on full athletic scholarships, awarded by the Athletic department, complete the cleanup in about two hours, according to Fritz Knorr, assistant to the athletic director.

On Sunday mornings following each of the four home football games, the men start at the top of the stadium with large brooms and sweep the debris down the steps to the bottom of the ramps. Twenty athletes work on each side of the stadium, with one or more persons assigned to a section.

At the bottom of the ramps, the grounds keepers load the barrels of debris into trucks. The debris amounts to several full truck loads each game.

"Cold drink containers are the most prevalent now, but as it gets cooler they will be replaced by hot dog wrappers, pop corn boxes, and coffee cups," Knorr explains.

After the loose clutter is collected, the grounds keepers wash the entire stadium with hoses.

"The full athletic scholarships provide tuition, books, room and board, and an allotment for laundry," Knorr says. "The scholarships are awarded by the Athletic department, and, at this time, affect 100 boys."

As recipients of the scholarships, the college athletes are required to help out on Sunday mornings. Freshman men are helping now since the varsity is busy with football practice.

Floats To Get Trophies

By IMOGENE LAMB

First, second, and third place trophies will be awarded to the winning floats in the Homecoming parade before the K-State-Colorado football game Saturday.

Judges will be members of the faculty, and the judging will take place on the balcony of the Wareham hotel as the parade passes, according to Joanne Taylor, BMT Soph, chairman of the Homecoming float committee.

The pre-game presentation of trophies will begin at 1 p.m. The winning floats will be announced by one of the cheerleaders, and the presidents of Whi-Purs, Purple Pepsters, and Wampus Cats. Carol Hawks, SED Fr; Joyce Graham, BA Sr; and Dick Hotz, MT Jr, will present the trophies.

Ike Wants Free World Missile Program

Compiled From United Press
By Pat Roberts

Washington — President Eisenhower called free nations to create a super scientific alliance that would far outstrip anything the Russians can produce in technological and missile achievements.

"... we have the power," the President said last night. "The only thing to do is put it together."

Eisenhower appealed specifically for grouping of the scientists of North Atlantic Treaty organization (NATO) nations. But he also had in mind the total scientific manpower and resources of the free world.

"NATO should not be thought of merely as a military alliance," he said. "NATO is a way of grouping ability—of our manhood, our resources, of our industries and our factories."

He said the scientific and cultural assets of the free world are so far superior to those of the Communist bloc that it would be "ridiculous to compare" them.

Eisenhower issued the call for scientific unity at a glittering White House dinner for Queen Elizabeth II. He also stressed the ties binding the United States and commonwealth countries in these troubled times.

Meanwhile, a high-ranking government scientist indicated the administration is in the process of stepping up its missile and satellite programs.

Asian Flu Deaths Mount

Deaths blamed on influenza continued to mount today and health officials reported the Asian flu virus now has stricken all sections of the nation.

The worst flu epidemics have killed 13 patients at schools for the retarded in Illinois and Pennsylvania. Outbreaks also were reported in similar state schools near Spokane, Wash., and at Union Grove, Wis.

A United Press count since the start of the week showed at least 36 deaths blamed on flu and complications. There were eight each in Pennsylvania and Illinois, four in Michigan, three each in Indiana and New Jersey, and two each in Iowa, Ohio, Utah, Wisconsin, and New York.

Earlier, the U.S. Public Health service estimated more than 1,500,000 persons bitten by the flu since the first outbreak of Asian flu last summer. At least 360,000 of the cases came last week alone.

The Service said Asian flu has now been diagnosed across the country.

College and high school students appeared to be most susceptible to the disease. More than a dozen collegiate football games were cancelled or postponed this weekend due to campus flu epidemics.

Ike Welcomes Elizabeth

Washington—Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip, basking in the welcome given them by the heart of democracy, set out today on a brisk round of activities that include lunch with Vice President Nixon and dinner with Secretary of State Dulles.

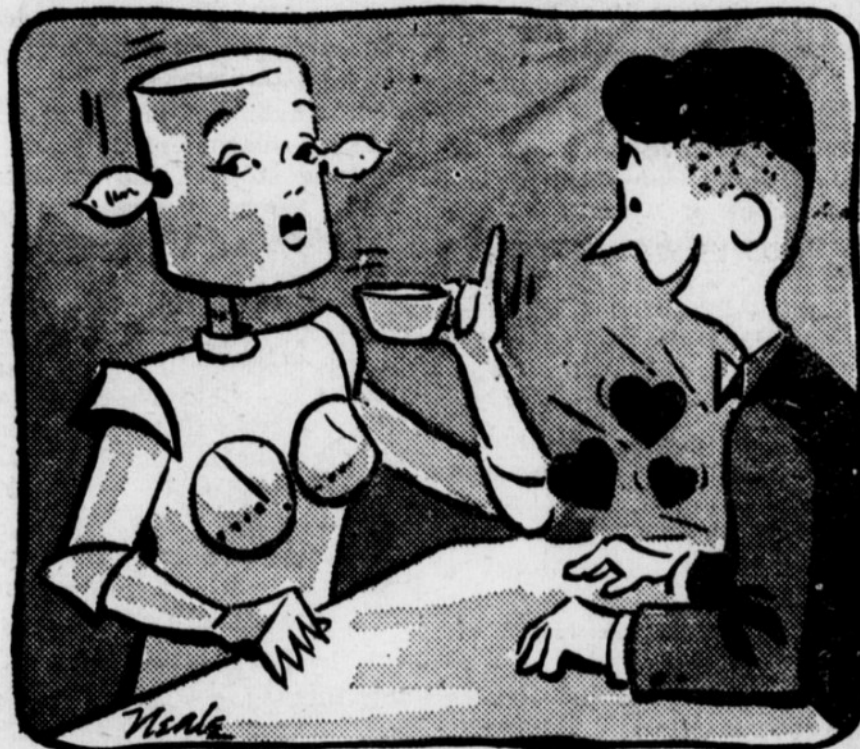

It was the second day of the royal couple's four-day state visit to the nation's capital. Already they had found this city, blase about most visiting celebrities, warm to a pretty queen and a handsome prince.

President Eisenhower, toast-husband at as umptuous White House banquet last night, said this country's respect for Britain was "epitomized in the affection we have for the royal family..."

He spoke of America and the British Commonwealth "marching forward carrying the flag of unity and cooperation" as a keynote to a "great successful future" not only for the present generation but "our children and our grandchildren."

Electrical, Artistic Genius Mauls CU Historically

Historical and mythical characters will be doing all they can this weekend to help K-State beat the Colorado university football team.

According to the organized houses and dormitories, the Buffs are in for a bad time when they invade Manhattan Saturday.

Everything from a proclamation by President Eisenhower to the Genie's answer to Aladdin says the Buffs are doomed.

The CU gridders will be robbed, shot, beaten, killed, and thrown out of town if all the house decoration predictions come true.

At the Alpha Delta Pi house, President Eisenhower will claim the victory for the Wildcats.

Wildcat Hickok will bury the Buffs at Northwest, while Patrick Henry will shout "Give me victory or give me death" for the Cat cause at Southeast.

The Genie will tell Aladdin that the Wildcats are going to slaughter Colorado at the Phi Kappa residence.

"K-State's mutation equals Colorado's mutilation." Mendel's biological theory will be the thought behind the Alpha Xi Delta's decoration. A monk will be watering three horrible (CU) flowers and one pretty K-State flower emerging from the cellar.

Colorado won't escape the wit of Confucius either. At the Phi Kappa Tau house, the ancient scholar will condemn CU with a saying of wisdom.

At the Farm House, Wilbur and Orville Wright will star in a scene of progress from "bi-wings to satellites." The Buffaloes are doomed here also.

Wyatt Earp will help the Wildcats by keeping the Golden Buff penned in the Phi Delta Theta corral.

John Paul Jones, well in command of his ship, the "Bonhomme Richard," will sink the Colorado vessel at the Kappa Sigma house.

Capt. Kid-dy Wildcat, Waltheim's help for the K-State grid-ders, will be keeping the Buff well under control in one of his treasure chests.

Kappa Delta's Charles Lindbergh will give the Wildcats a ride over the foaming brine while CU's buffalo sinks.

If anyone gets hungry while making the tour of Colorado fates, he may stop at the Pi Beta Phi house where General Custer will be selling "Buff burgers" to a Wildcat.

"The Cats get Boulder as Claude (from the comic strip Dick Tracy) gets colder," will be the thought behind the Beta Theta Pi decorations. A Cat football player will be vigorously pounding a rock representing poor Colorado.

"Wildcat" Paul Revere will be riding a Buffalo for K-State benefit at Alpha Gamma Rho.

Even the villain Jesse James will be of assistance as he robs the Buff Victory train at the Delta Delta Delta residence.

The Kappa Kappa Gamma's have acquired the services of Carrie Nation to help rid the Cats of the Buffalo vice.

Teddy Roosevelt will be wielding his "big stick" and taming the Buffalo at the Theta Xi house.

Of course no Homecoming with this theme and opponent could go without having the most logical character of all on the prowl, old Buffalo Bill. Both the House of Williams and Alpha Tau Omega are going to have Mr. Cody render his services to the Wildcats.

Rip Van Winkle has also been chosen by two houses as the person K-State needs to help with Colorado. Both Pi Kappa Alpha and Chi Omega will use the old sleeper, but his exact role as an aid is not definite.

Casey Jones of train wreck fame seems to be the favorite historical character on campus. As of Thursday evening, the Sigma Chis, Sigma Nus, Alpha Kappa Lambda, and Alpha Chi Omegas were all planning to use Casey's train against Colorado.

At Acacia, the Cat will rescue Snow White from mean old CU.

Napoleon Blown-apart will be just what the name suggests at Sigma Phi Epsilon. A Cat will fire a cannon at the unfortunate Frenchman, unseating him from a buffalo. The result—a Napoleon with a hole in him.

Breaking away from the usual Cat-Buffalo portrayals, Delta Tau Delta will show Ponce de Leon as an alum returning to K-State, discovering his fountain of youth at the game.

P. T. Barnum will present a "Wildcat Circus" at the Sigma Alpha Epsilon house, where a three-ring circus will be set up in the front yard.

Here we go again! A weekend of nothing but confusion, mess, and jangled nerves. Chicken wire, tissue paper, lumber, paints, and plenty of ingenuity have been thrown into structures which will form a spectacular array of house decorations by 6:30 p.m. today. Organized houses and dormitories are again preparing for Homecoming weekend.

This year's festivities will follow a theme of historical and mythical characters, all predicting a rough time for the Colorado Buffaloes and a victory for the Wildcats.

The theme of last year's decorations was famous proverbs and slogans. In the sorority division, the Alpha Chi Omegas won with "There'll Be a Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight."

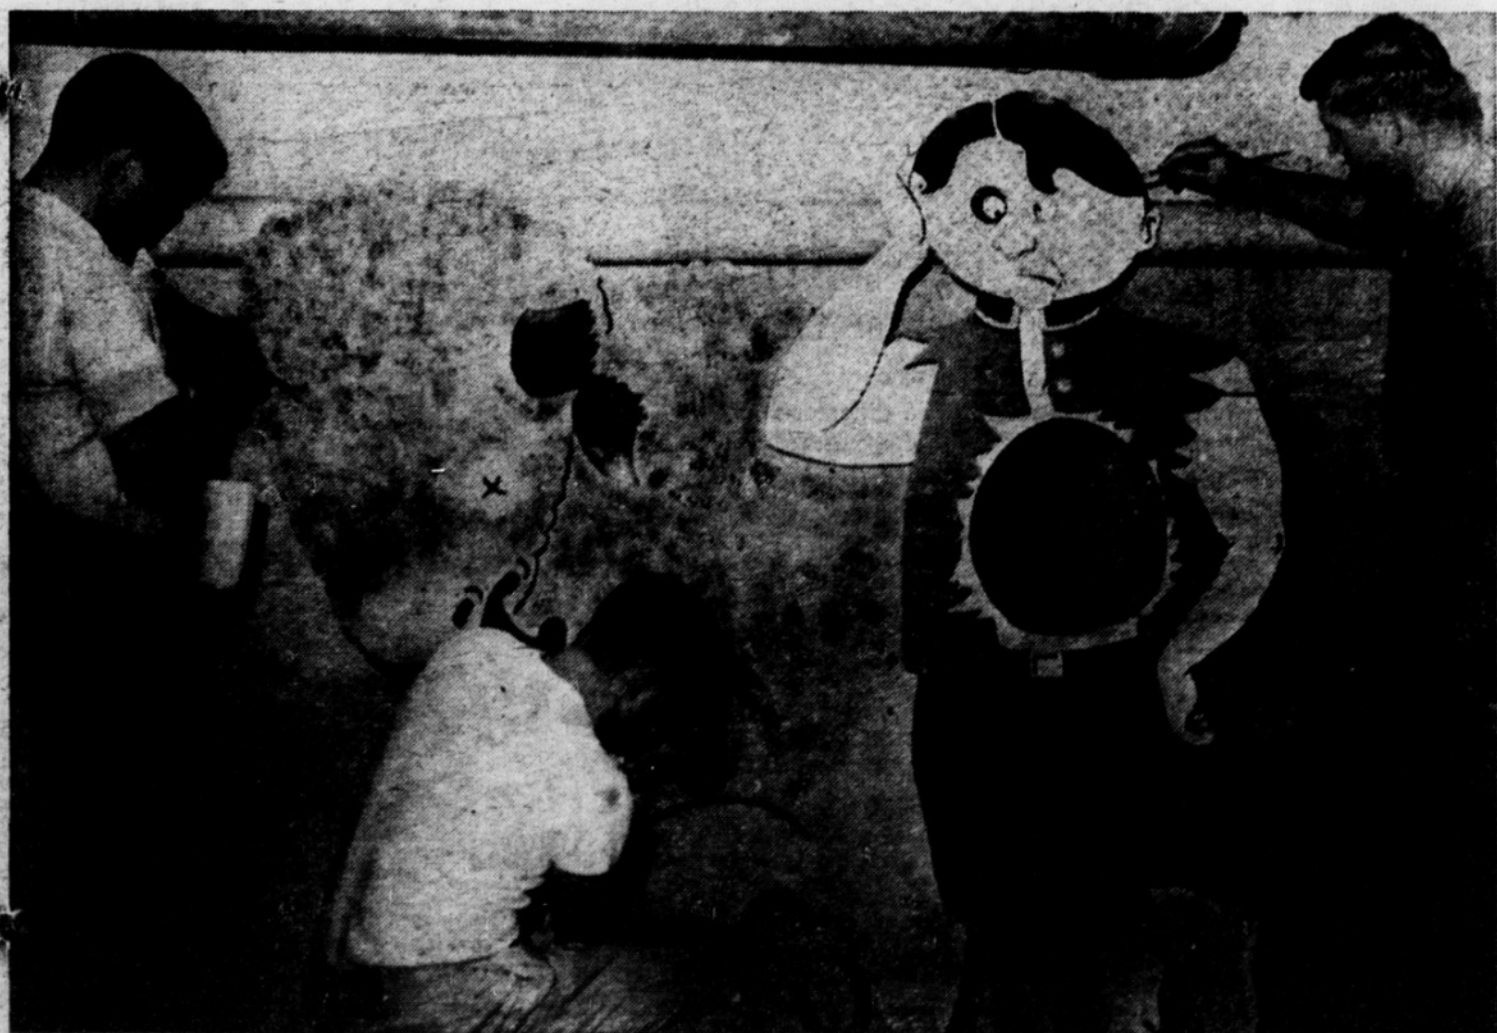

Delta Tau Delta took first in the fraternity division last year with decorations depicting the "Highway of Happy Memories."

Winners of this year's competition will be announced at the pep rally tonight.

World Famous China Display in Dive

By CHARLENE STRAH

Eighty dollars a plate. It sounds like a political dinner, doesn't it?

This $80 a plate, however, comes to that total without any food on it. It is part of the world famous Lenox china collection on display in the Union dive show cases. Chrysanthemums are hand painted on the center of the service plate which has a 24 karat gold border.

Thirty-five plates and 7 stock patterns worth about $1,000 are on display. The china was designed over a period of many years for presidents, kings, diplomats, and other people throughout the world.

One dinner plate is from the regal service of the King of Saudia Arabia created at a cost of more than $30,000. Rich maroon accentuates the royal monogram on each piece along with hand applied 24 karat gold.

A rose and plume design from the Roosevelt family coat of arms decorates the plate from the 1700 piece White House service commissioned by Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1935.

President Harry S. Truman's exquisite china for the famous State Dining Room in the White House was designed with an eagle facing olive branches.

In the display are five plates showing the steps in making a design from the time it is glazed to the addition of the color rim, gold print, and the fourth firing which adds dots of rich 24 karat gold paste.

Other china plates in the dive include those commissioned by various state governors' mansions, United States presidents, president of Venezuela, Cuba, and the U.S. Embassy service.

MU Tiger's Star Is Hurt For I.S. Tilt

By UNITED PRESS

Missouri football coach Frank Broyles today faced his crucial Big Eight conference opener with Iowa State with his leading ground-gainer on the injured list.

Broyles had his squad concentrate on yesterday's workout on defense against the single wing formation.

Fullback Hank Kuhlmann, who has been pacing Missouri's rushers with 136 yards in 37 carries, may miss the game at Ames Saturday. He suffered an injured leg against Southern Methodist last Friday but seemed to be recovering. However now the 186-pound junior appears to be a doubtful starter again.

OU, KU Work for Tilt

By UNITED PRESS

Oklahoma's varsity ran for an hour and a half yesterday against the freshmen with coach Bud Wilkinson emphasizing pass defense.

The Sooners meet Saturday with Kansas, regarded as the passing leader of the Big Eight. All members of the team worked out, but four remained on the doubtful list for the game.

Alternate right end Steven Jennings, injured in the Texas game, had his hand heavily bandaged. Right tackle Benton Ladd, who was hurt in the first game of the season, missed practice the past two days because of a back injury.

Kansas university's football squad, regaining its strength after a plague of injuries, was delt another blow yesterday when quarterback Wally Strauch was stricken with flu.

Spartans, OU Have Easy Tilts

If you believe in the "wizards of odds," those gridiron giants, Michigan State and Oklahoma, face easy pickin's again this weekend.

Michigan State, which took over first place in the United Press ratings this week, is a 21-point favorite over Purdue in their Big Ten conference game at East Lansing, Mich.

Oklahoma, according to the oddsmakers, should defeat Kansas by at least 34 points in their Big Eight conference tussle at Norman.

The Sooners' spread over Kansas is the largest on the weekend slate, but it could be an "underlay" for one important reason:

Bud Wilkinson's boys, unbeaten in their last 43 games, are not too happy about surrendering their No. 1 rating to Michigan State, so they probably will open all cylinders against Kansas.

NUMBER 28

SC To Plan Referendum

The Student Council will act tonight on recommendations submitted by the KSU committee to:

- 1) Increase the number of polling places for the name change referendum from two to eight;
- 2) Have 4,000 "I voted! Have You?" signs printed for distribution to each person who votes in the election;
- 3) Have 400 announcements printed giving the date and general information about the election.

The Council will act on the recommendation of the Activity Ticket committee that a study be made to determine the number of students attending basketball games this year. Purpose of the study is to determine whether or not the student seating section is adequate.

The Council will discuss the health insurance policy as it now is being drawn up for the Council's consideration.

The Basic ROTC committee will recommend that two members and a secretary be added to it. This committee is preparing a report to submit to the Council on Academic Affairs.

The report will present "complete" student views, the comparable situation at other land-grant colleges, the legal background and the legal procedure necessary to bring about a change in the present ROTC program, and the opinions of a few educators on the present program.

The final item of the agenda will be further consideration of the SGA gripe assembly.

Jazz Club To Present Brubeck In Concert Here on October 28

The Dave Brubeck jazz quartet will present a concert in the Auditorium Monday, October 28, at 7:30 p.m. Admission is $1.50 per person and $1 for Jazz club members.

Members of the quartet are Brubeck, piano; Joe Morello, drums; Norman Bates, bass; and Paul Desmond, alto saxophone. This program is offered as a part of an extensive jazz program sponsored by the Union's Jazz club throughout the year.

Among Brubeck's better known long-play albums are Jazz—Red Hot and Cool, "Jazz Goes to College," "Jazz at Oberlin," "Brubeck Time," and "Dave Brubeck Trio." His latest album is "Jazz Goes to Junior College."

Although jazz enthusiasts on both coasts are more familiar with Brubeck's music, his popularity in this vicinity has grown tremendously with his recent concerts in this area. Dave Brubeck, who was here three years ago, is not new to K-State jazz fans.

Brubeck's first engagement at the Burma Lounge in Oakland, Calif., brought him not only the high praise of his audience, but also a recording interview with Fantasy records. His first album with the quartet, "Jazz Goes to College," was a success. Brubeck's second album focused the jazz spotlight of the nation on him. Since then his contemporary music has been heard enthusiastically all over the world.

'57 Homecoming Memories Linger

By JIM BELL

Homecoming fever was nigh-on-to dead on the K-State campus today, but the memory does linger on.

Queen Susan (and Alpha Delta Pi), Chi Omega, Phi Kappa, Delta Sigma Phi, and Colorado all had something to cheer about, but most of the rest of the Kansas State world was mighty sad.

Chi Omega and Phi Kappa were first in the house decorations competition, and Delta Sigma Phi topped all float competition. Colorado won a football game, 42-14. That's why these organizations had reason to be happy.

Miss Schober and her attendants at the game and the dance, Janice Graham, TJ Sr of Pi Beta Phi; Roberta Wray, SED Jr of Alpha Xi Delta; Rosemary Derks, Eng Sr of Kappa Kappa Gamma; and Pat McDermott, BA Sr of Gamma Phi Beta, were driven around Memorial stadium in shiny, new convertibles.

Coach Gus Mertes of the Wildcats wryly commented after the game that its turning point was the opening kickoff—but Chi Omega, Phi Kappa, and Delta Sigma Phi; foresaw nothing of the type of thing that occurred after that fatal kickoff.

Chi Omega advised the Cats to "catch 'em napping," and Phi Kappa's genie granted Alladin his wish for Buffalo meat. Delta Sigma Phi's winning float depicted a dead buffalo who crossed Casey Jones' path. Too bad they didn't follow the script.

Two Staters In Limelight At KC Royal

Two K-State coeds, Barbara Lowe, HED Sr, and Glenda Drake, BA Soph, were elected ladies-in-waiting to the American Royal Queen in Kansas City Friday night. There were eight ladies-in-waiting chosen from 26 candidates.

Miss Lowe represented K-State and Miss Drake represented Great Bend. Another K-Stater, Mary Jo Mauler, HEJ Fr, was Holsington's candidate in the contest.

The Queen is Melinda Diggs Berry from Stillwater, Oklahoma. Miss Berry is a sophomore at Oklahoma State university.

Queen Susan Has a 'Most Wonderful' Moment

By CHARLENE STRAH

"It's one of the few times in my life that I'm speechless. Thank you very much," were Susan Schober's words after she was introduced as 1957 Homecoming queen by Senator Frank Carlson.

"There aren't words to describe it. I felt surprised and honored," said Queen Susan, PEW Jr. "It was one of the most wonderful moments in my life."

This was the first time Susan had seen Senator Carlson. "He said he knew some of my people in Topeka," she remembers but she said he didn't have time to say much more.

"I think that Blue Key was wonderful to all the candidates and had a lot to do with making this a wonderful Homecoming."

Upon returning from the game Saturday she was thrilled at the thoughtfulness behind the bouquets of flowers and congratulatory telegrams waiting for her.

Susan was also honored at a spread at the Alpha Delta Pi house after the Homecoming dance and was serenaded by the Sigma Chis.

As queen, Susan drew the winner of the electric sash given away by the Manhattan Chamber of Commerce Saturday evening and was presented a bracelet and earrings for doing this.

Reigning as queen of a K-State event was a new experience for this coed. Last spring, though, she was an attendant to the Royal Purple queen.

Three years ago she was queen of the all-school party at Topeka high school.

"I was too nervous to study last week so I have plenty to catch up on," Susan exclaimed. She is also busy compiling five week grades of sorority sisters as scholarship chairman of Alpha Delta Pi.

Incidentally Susan, herself, maintains a high grade-point average. Last semester her grade average was 2.72.

Her other activities include Chimes, junior women's honorary, head cheerleader, Phems, FTA, and Games and Rallies committee.

It seemed funny to be dressed up at the game, she said. "Every time the band played I wanted to jump up and yell with the cheerleaders."

Susan will be especially busy second semester making wedding plans. She and Fred True, BA Sr, will be married in Topeka June 1, the day he graduates from K-State. She will attend summer school and graduate in physical education for women in January, 1959.

"I either want to teach physical education or go into recreation work after that," she says.

The 1957 queen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Schober, both attended K-State. Mr. Schober is assistant state architect in Topeka. An aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Schmidt, K-State graduates, also came to the game from Texas after finding out their niece was a queen finalist.

Susan has one sister, Sally, a Kansas university graduate, who works as a silversmith for Allan Adlair in Hollywood. She was unable to be in Manhattan for Homecoming because of the distance but was called after Susan won.

HOMECOMING QUEEN Susan Schober, an Alpha Delta Pi, reigns serenely over the 1957 Homecoming ball. Miss Schober was escorted to her throne by Dr. Arthur D. Weber, acting president, who presented her with the queen's crown and trophy. The queen was announced at half time of the K-State-Colorado football game.

USDA Points to K-State for Study

By ELDON MILLER

Virginia Garcia, a 21-year-old special student from Honduras, explains her presence on the K-State campus by saying, "officials of the Department of Agriculture in Washington told my father that the best place to study agricultural economics was here."

By next year at this time she plans to be back in the Central American republic helping promote agricultural progress as the country recovers from 25 years of dictatorship. Her father is minister of agriculture in Honduras.

Virginia intends to study at K-State until the end of 1958 summer school when she will return to her native country. She hopes to work in the agricultural economics division of her father's department.

She has had two years of college education prior to this one. After a year of college in Honduras she came to the United States and studied for a year at the Dominican college in California.

The Garcia family, at odds with the dictatorship of Tiburcia Carias, spent nine years in exile in Nicaragua.

Two years ago, Carias' 25-year hold on the country was taken away, and the party with which the Garcia family was affiliated came into power. Virginia's father was appointed to his present position soon afterwards.

According to Virginia, her country has made much progress since the destruction of the dictatorship. Agriculture, with the assistance of the U.S., is making rapid advances.

When it comes to education Virginia feels that the Honduras' high school education is more advanced than that of the U.S. "We are more advanced in education when we come over here than your own students entering college for the first time. In the Honduras many people don't go to college so they have to get more education in high school," she said.

Virginia said that most of the young people in Honduras, who have the opportunity, try to spend some time attending school in the U.S. in order to learn more about the English language and the American people. "Almost all of my friends have come to the United States for school," she said.

Explaining the prime difference between the peoples of the U.S. and the Honduras, Virginia said, "The American people are more casual than we are. There is a lot of formality in our way of life. I really like this way better."

"All people have the opportunity to enjoy entertainment over here. In Honduras, the poor people do not have the chance to enjoy as much recreation," she said.

Cut Ordered in Space Study Funds, Wilson is Blamed for Satellite Lag

By PAT ROBERTS

Washington—Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) charges that a 170-million dollar cut recently ordered in military research funds would be an open invitation to disaster for the United States.

The cut which came to light yesterday, was ordered by former Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson on August 17.

It would amount to a 10 per cent rollback in military research and development funds, including in part funds spent on space studies.

Monroney, whose views carry great weight with his Democratic colleagues, demanded the administration cancel the order. He said it was an example of how the Russians were able to put a satellite in space ahead of the United States.

At Cape Canaveral, Fla., meanwhile, scientists were reported readying a missile for test firing today. The missile, which eventually will boost a U.S. satellite into orbit, was to have been tested late last week but was held up for either technical or weather reasons.

Wilson also came under attack from Clifford C. Furnas, former assistant secretary for research and development who resigned last February. Furnas said the United States might have been able to put a baby moon in space two years ago if the army had not been overruled.

He blamed Wilson for the fact that the U.S. satellite program had not moved at a faster pace. He said the former defense chief showed a lack of interest in the project and that it was like pulling teeth to get money from him for it.

Other developments in the missile-satellite field:

The Soviet Sputnik faced great hazards as it circled the earth for the 17th day. The Red moon headed into a heavy meteor shower that could smash it to pieces or knock it off course, the London Sunday Observer reported.

Aviation Week magazine said U.S. radar equipment in Turkey has been spotting Russian missile secrets for two years. The magazine said the radar disclosed that the Russians began firing intercontinental ballistics missiles (ICBM) last summer. It added, however, the radar indistinct with production and operational capability still two or three years distant.

Middle East Situation Eases

The Middle East crisis eased today despite a new rash of propaganda charges by Moscow and weekend warnings by Syrian leaders that Turkey had sent three divisions and 800 tanks to the frontier.

The nations involved appeared willing to let things slide until the United Nations begins a formal debate tomorrow or Wednesday on Syrian charges that Turkey, backed by the United States, plans to attack.

There were rumors in London that King Saud of Saudi Arabia had offered to mediate the dispute. This was denied in Damascus and observers noted that such an offer probably would have to await the U.N. debate.

Flu Death Toll Rises Rapidly

The death toll from flu and its complications climbed beyond the 200 mark and health officials stepped up their campaign to inoculate the public against the disease.

A United Press tally showed 205 deaths directly or indirectly caused by the flu since last summer when the Asian virus first broke out in the United States.

The ailment hit hardest in New York with 54 deaths, followed by Pennsylvania with 37, Louisiana 21 and California 20.

SCIENCE MADE SIMPLE: No. 1

Though this column is intended to be a source of innocent merriment for all sexes and not to concern itself with weighty matters, I have asked my sponsors, the makers of Marlboro, whether I might not, from time to time, use this space for a short lesson in science. "Makers," I said to them, "might I not, from time to time, use this space for a short lesson in science?"

They agreed with many a kindly smile, the makers of Marlboro, for they are the most agreeable of men. Their benevolence is due in no small measure to the cigarettes they smoke, for Marlboro is a cigarette to soothe the most savage of breasts. I refer not only to the flavor which, as everyone knows, is a delight to the palate, but also to the Marlboro container. Here is no fiendishly contrived device to fray the fingernails and rasp the nerves; here, instead, is a flip-top box that opens like a charm, and inside you find a handy red tape to lift out the cigarettes with ease and dispatch. Add to all this the best filter ever made, and you can see that you get a lot to like.

Let us begin our series of science lessons with chemistry. It is fitting that chemistry should be the first, for it is the oldest of sciences, having been discovered by Benjamin Franklin in 468 B.C. when an apple fell on his head while he was shooting the breeze with Pythagoras one day outside the Acropolis. (The reason they were outside the Acropolis and not inside was that Pythagoras had been thrown out for drawing right triangles all over the walls.)

They had several meetings outside the Acropolis, but finally Franklin said, "Look, Pythagoras, this is nothing against you, see, but I'm no youngster anymore and if I keep laying around on this wet grass with you, I'm liable to get the backbone fever. I'm going inside." Pythagoras, friendless now, moped around Athens for awhile, then drifted off to Monaco where he married a girl named Harriet Sigafos and went into the chuck-a-luck business. (He would certainly be forgotten today had not Shakespeare written "You Know Me, Al.")

But I digress. We were beginning a discussion of chemistry, and the best way to begin is with fundamentals. Chemicals are divided into elements. There are four: air, earth, fire, and water. Any number of delightful combinations can be made from these elements, such as firewater, dacron, and chef's salad.

Chemicals can be further divided into the classes of explosive and non-explosive. A wise chemist always touches a match to his chemicals before he begins an experiment.

A variety of vessels of different sizes and shapes are used in a chemistry lab. There are tubes, vials, beakers, flasks, pipettes, and retorts. A retort is also a snappy comeback, such as "Oh, yeah?" and "So's your Uncle Oscar."

I have now told you the most important aspects of chemistry, but there are many more—far too many to cover in the space remaining here. However, I am sure there is a fine chemistry lab on your very own campus. Why don't you go up some afternoon and poke around? Make a fun day out of it. Bring ukeleles. Wear humorous hats. Toast frankfurters on the Bunsen burners. Be gay. Be merry. Be loose... For chemistry is your friend!

Kansas State Spends Ideal 1957 Homecoming

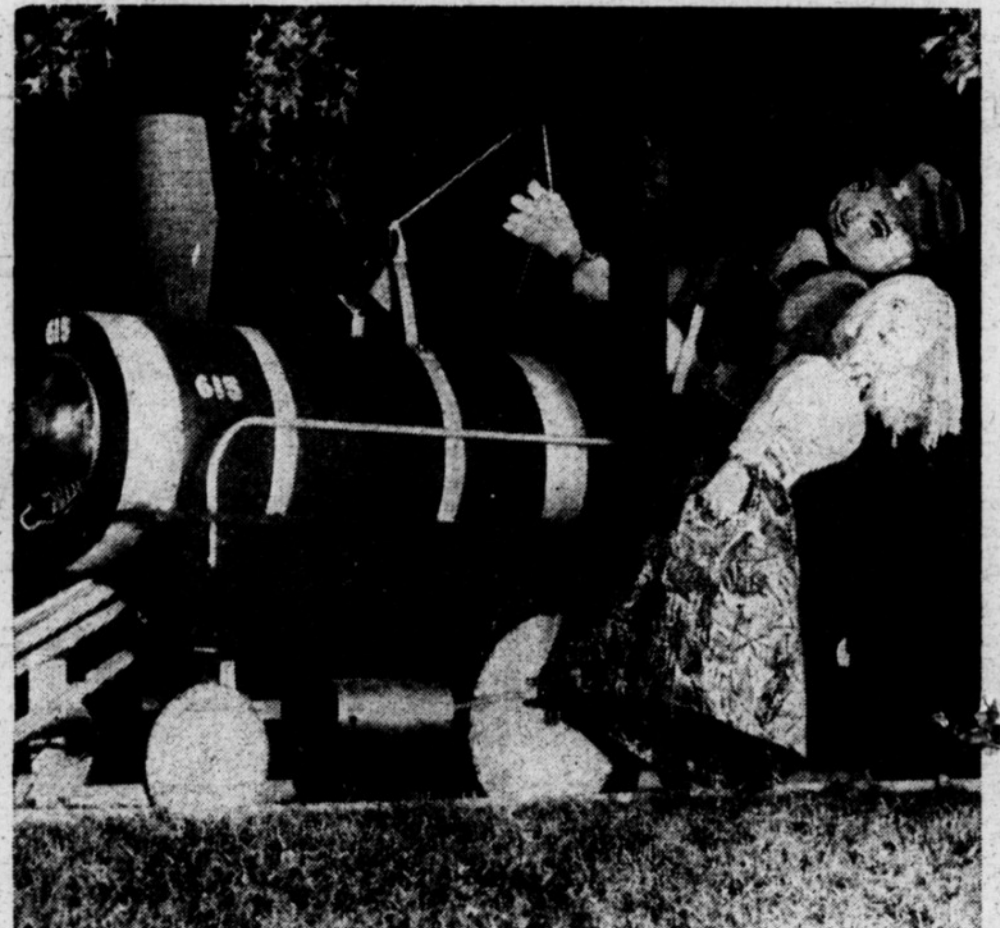

FOR HIRE—Genie with the light brown hair (on his chest). Formerly employed by Phi Kappa fraternity to win first place in homecoming decorations. Predicted K-State victory Saturday, proving that a good Genie is hard to find.

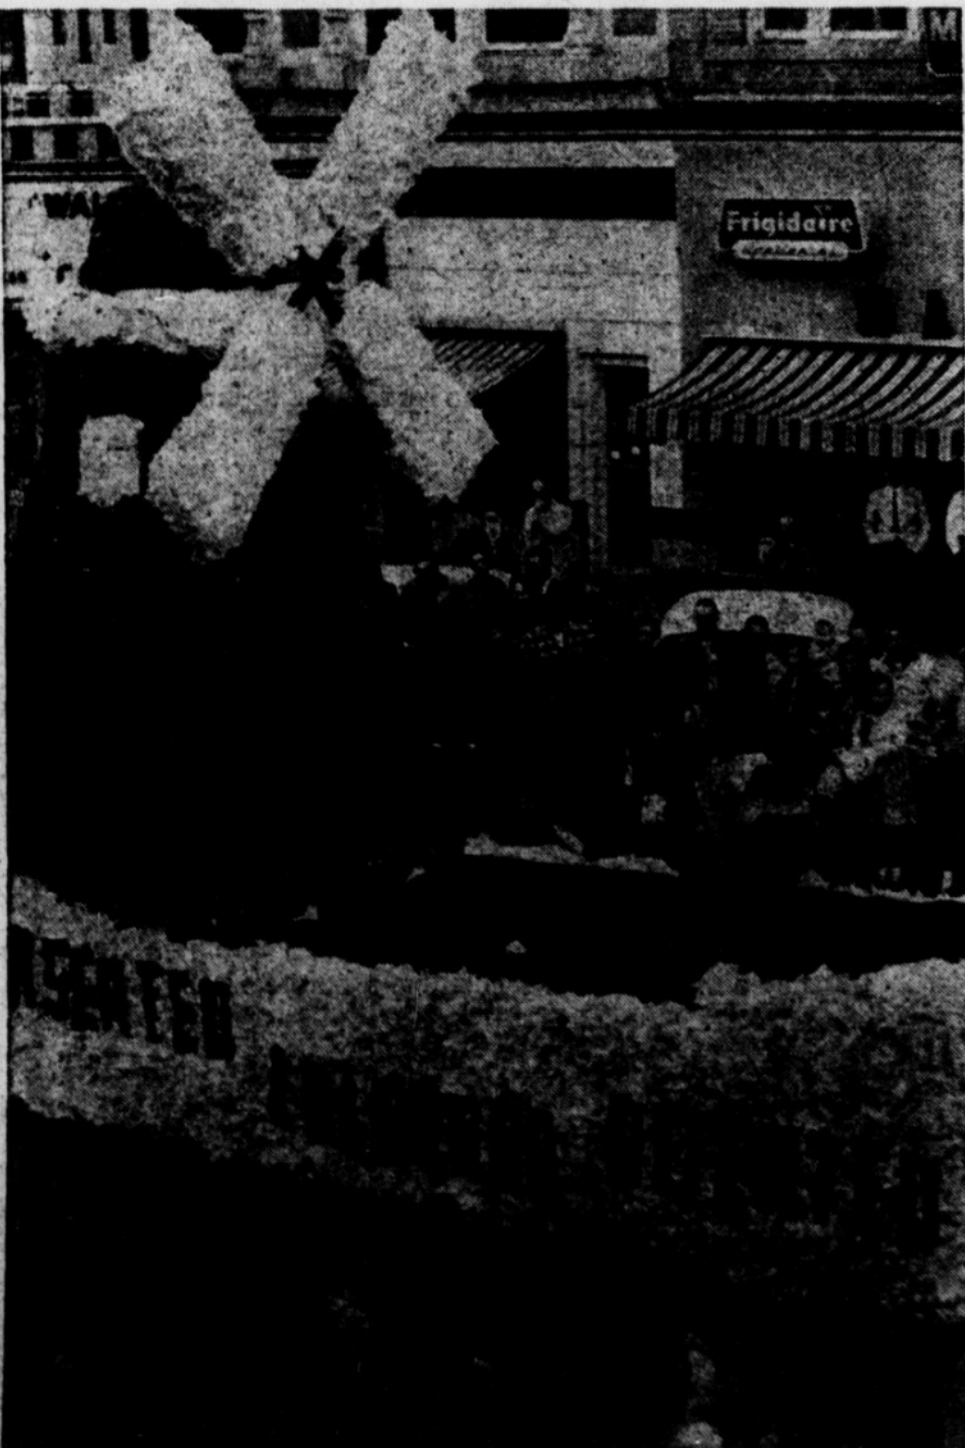

CHI OMEGA TOOK FIRST in the sorority division homecoming decoration competition, and their Rip Van Winkle, predicting that the Buffs would be caught napping, can be located the same place as the Phi Kappa Genie.

CUSTER'S FIRST—and "Last Stand," selling Buffburgers at Pi Beta Phi won that sorority second place.

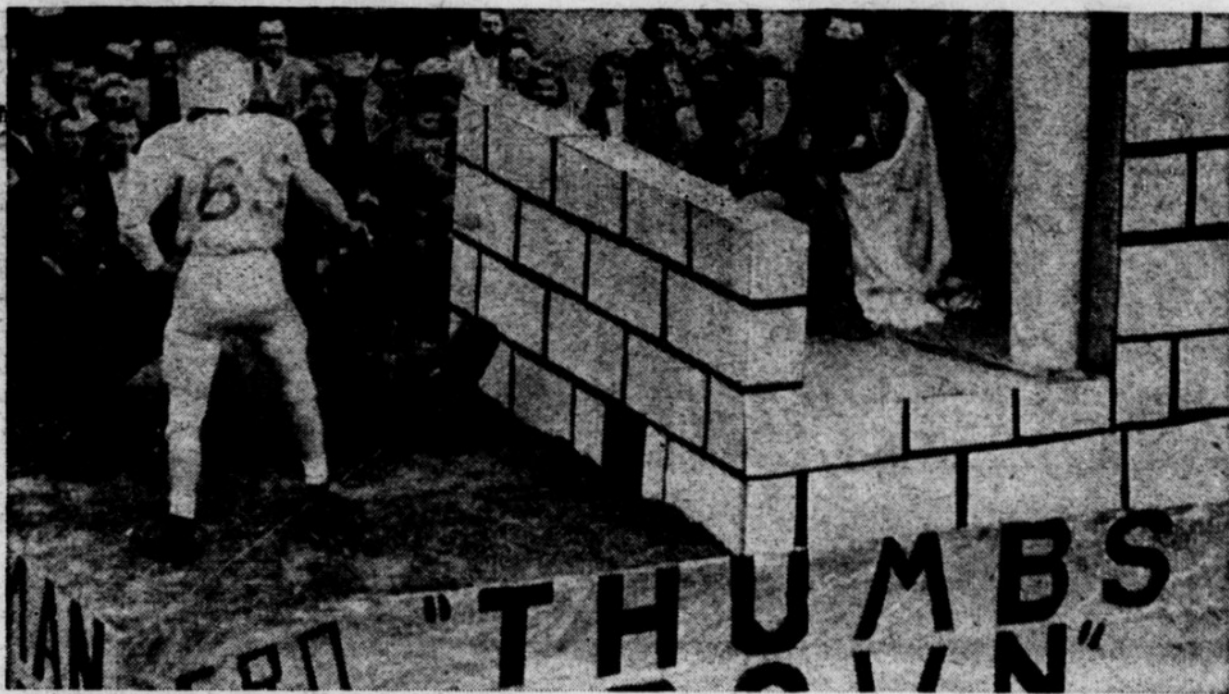

CASEY JONES and a fair maid presented a picturesque—but not winning—homecoming display at the Alpha Chi Omega house.

DON QUIXOTE couldn't conquer the windmill, but he did win the Lambda Chi Alphas third place in the Homecoming float competition Saturday morning.

ROAST BUFFALO was on the Wildcat menu, according to the second-place Tau Kappa Epsilon float.

DOWN BUT NOT OUT—yet—was the buffalo on the Newman Club float as the K-State gladiator received a "Thumbs down" order to finish the job from Nero in the "stands."

A CONVERTED "COWCATCHER" on Old 97 Saturday caught not only buffaloes but first place in the homecoming float division for Delta Sigma Phi.

Winter Optimistic With 18 Practicing

Eighteen men reported for pre-season basketball workouts last week giving K-State basketball coach Tex Winter the possibility of starting a team averaging 6-6—possibly the nation's tallest.

Ten of the returning 18 are Wildcats who helped power K-State to a second place berth in the Big Eight conference last season.

Top man back is 6-9 senior Jack Parr. A Helms all-American choice from Richmond, Va., Parr hit 57 per cent of his shots last year averaging 17.4 points a game.

Next in line and next in size is Bob Boozer, a 6-8 junior from Omaha Neb. Boozer was picked to the 1956-57 all-Big Eight team on the basis of his 19.6 points-a-game scoring average. This 19.6 scoring average coupled with a 77 per cent effectiveness from the free throw line gave him the best average ever for a K-State sophomore.

In addition to Parr and Boozer, Cat coach Tex Winter will have 6-3 senior Roy DeWitz back to work at guard. DeWitz was third high scorer for K-State last year averaging 11 points a game.

Helping DeWitz at guard will be 6-0 junior Don Matuszak. Matuszak earned a starting role midway through the season last year by keying Wildcat fast breaks.

Other tested talent Winter can call on are 6-3 senior Hayden Abbott, 6-3 senior Dean Plagge, 6-1 senior Don Richards, 6-3 junior Bob Merten, 6-0 junior Jim Holwerda, and 6-4 senior Larry Fischer.

Rounding out the 18 are the top six men on last year's freshman squad—6-3 Glen Long, 6-8 Wally Frank, 6-4 Steve Douglas, 6-0 Sonny Ballard, 6-3 Bob Graham, and 5-10 Bill Gutheridge. Two other squad men, Howard Rice and Bill Laude, are holdovers from the 1955 freshman squad.

A combination of Parr, Boozer, Frank, DeWitz, and Douglas would give the Wildcats a starting quintet averaging just slightly under 6-6.

The top eight players—Frank, Parr, Boozer, DeWitz, Abott, Douglas, Long, and Matuszak, have an average height of 6-4 1/2.

Winter termed his 18-man turnout "potentially the best team I've had since I've been in the coaching business. I don't think I'll do any cutting on this bunch. It's a strong squad and they all want to play basketball real bad.

"With our added height this year we'll be real strong on the boards and have a good close-in offense. We'll have a bench too."

But this advantage could lead to a big disadvantage for the Cats, Winter cautioned, in that they'll be lacking in the fast break department. Graduation cost the Cats the services of Eddie Wallace, last year's run and shoot co-pilot, and Winter will be testing his hopefuls for a replacement of the speed merchant.

"We'll be bigger this season all right, but we'll also be slower and more conservative," the Cat mentor said.

Winter pointed to outside shooting as another possible weak spot for the '57-'58 season. "DeWitz and Ballard are the only two real consistent outside shooters we have as of now."

"Actually, I think our biggest problem is going to be our schedule. Our first game of the season is against Texas Western and they are defending Western Border league champions.

"Then we have games against Indiana university, which tied for the Big Ten title last year, and Washington, which always places high in the Pacific Coast conference.

"We're well satisfied with our schedule but we've got to be good or we could lose them all. We're looking forward to this season with a real fine basketball team."

Looking ahead to Big Eight competition, Winter pegged Kansas university as the top team.

HE DID IT—Colorado left halfback Bob Stransky almost single-handedly defeated the Cats Saturday as he rolled up 17 yards more total offense than did the entire K-State backfield. Stransky (20) heads for the end zone with the second Colorado touchdown as blockers Eddie Dove (11) and Ken Baker (87) stop Cat defenders Ray Glaze (36) and Dick Corbin (15). The speedy Colorado halfback gained 261 yards and scored three touchdowns as the Buffs won 42-14.

OK's, Wesley, Westys Win in Friday IM Games

In Friday's intramural football action, OK House shut out Hillel 25-0. Clyde Berg led the scoring for OK with two touchdowns and added one extra point.

In other contests, Wesley Foundation won from Newman Club by a forfeit. Westminster Foundation also won by a forfeit from the House of Breck.

Today's schedule are the games from Tuesday, October 8 which were postponed because of rain. They will be played at 4:15 and not at 5 p.m. as scheduled earlier.

Sigma Alpha Epsilon, Sigma Phi

Epsilon and Delta Tau Delta have won their divisions in the fraternity section.

In the independent division, Jr. AVMA and Rebels have won their brackets.

There will be a meeting today at 5 p.m. for managers of teams tied for division championships to draw up play off brackets. The playoffs will be played Tuesday and Wednesday.

These fraternity teams are tied for the group four championship; TKE's, PiKA's and Beta's.

In the group four independent division, these teams are tied for the lead; Hillbillies, South Jardine, and OK House.

K-State 2d in Cross-Country At Nebraska

K-State's cross-country track team finished second to Nebraska university in a triangular meet at Lincoln Saturday. The Cornhuskers had 38 points while the Wildcats and Colorado university scored 40 and 43 respectively.

The Cornhusker's Joe Mullins set a new course record as he edged Duane Holman of K-State for first place. Mullin was timed at 15:27 while Holman crossed the line in 15:27.5.

The Cats Tom Rodda, who won the meet last year in 16:25, ran the course in 29 seconds less this year but was able to salvage only sixth place.

Cats Look for I.S. After Buffs Stomp

By JAY WORKMAN

"The turning point, was the opening kickoff," said K-State football coach Bus Mertes after his Wildcats were cut to pieces by the Colorado Buffaloes, 42-14, in a Big Eight game in Memorial Stadium Saturday before 16,000 Homecoming fans.

This afternoon the Cats begin practicing for their game with Iowa State at Ames next Saturday.

Colorado scored without too much trouble in each quarter while K-State couldn't score until the last period.

Colorado set new records by going for 35 first downs to top the 22 made against Nebraska in 1951. The 647 total offense bettered the old record of 627 set Utah in 1951.

Halfback Bob Stransky accounted for more yards than the entire Cat team did—running for 187 yards and passing for 93 and a 261 yard total while K-State was running 187 yards and throwing for 57 and a 244 yard total.

"There were no bright spots in the game," Mertes said, "but Pfeifer had a good day."

"I thought we would play a better game than we did, we should have thrown more, but we were just outplayed."

"I still think we have a good team and will do well next week against Iowa State—we feel pretty lousy about not being able to stay in there with Colorado."

"We have five games left and we play the No. 1 and No. 2 teams in the nation in two of those."

"Colorado had good backs and power and their off-tackle single wing play hurt us. Our tackling was poor. Dove and Stransky were outstanding—we just weren't good enough."

Buffalo head coach Dal Ward said, "This is the best game we've played so far. I couldn't pick a winner between KU and K-State. Carlson was the outstanding line-man for K-State."

Colorado halfback Eddie Dove said, "Just before my third touchdown, Bert Johnson said in the huddle he was going to get a good trap. And he just about tore up that guy. I was that way most of the time."

Halfback Bob Stransky said, "I really got jolted at the line of scrimmage a few times but I could move through the secondary pretty well."

Two K-State men were in Student Health overnight to have sprains x-rayed. Gene Keady re-injured his right knee and Gene Meier hurt his right ankle.

Colorado's first touchdown came with 6:56 left in the first quarter as Dove went around his left end untouched from five yards out. Quarterback Ellwin Indorf converted to make it 7-0.

Stransky ran seven yards for the second CU score with 14:14 left in the half and Indorf converted for the 14-0 count.

Dove got the third Buff six-pointer when he dashed 19 yards around left end with 6:14 to play in the half. Cook converted for the 21-0 score.

Colorado's fourth touchdown came with 11:42 left in the third quarter when Dove ran 29 yards. Indorf converted for a 28-0 score.

Then with 2:46 left in the quarter, Stransky went 45 yards around the left side to make the score 35-0.

K-State finally broke the scoring ice with 12:10 to go in the game when Ralph Pfeifer intercepted a pass from Cook and went 62 yards down the sideline for a score. End Don Zadnik kicked the extra point. The score was 35-7.

Colorado got its last touchdown with 5:41 remaining to be played on an eight yard run by Stransky. Stransky kicked the point after to run the score 42-7.

Quarterback Dick Corbin went over with 1:36 left in the game from the one foot line and end John French converted to make the final score 42-14.

TOUCHDOWN—Somewhere under this pile of sturdy athletes is a football. Hanging on to it is K-State quarterback Dick Corbin (15), whose head can be seen near the ground at the right side of the picture. Halfback John Marcoline (22) has a successful grin on his face. Team captain Ellis Rainsberger (65) is on top of an unidentified Colorado player in the center. This was K-State's second touchdown.

Eddy Picks Best Score

Steve Eddy, AgE Sr, turned in the closest prediction in the weekends Pigskin Prognostications contest by picking a 35-14 score, one touchdown under the actual 42-14 count of the K-State-Colorado game.

Floyd Harding, ME Sr, was second with a 34-14 guess, and Charles Swanlund, AA Soph, also crowded the winner by venturing a 33-13 final prediction.

Eddy also held the edge over his two closest competitors in the passing and rushing yardage departments. He had the Wildcats collecting 54 yards in the air and 225 on the ground compared to the actual 57 and 169.

Harding had it at 25 yards by air and 250 on rushing while Swanlund thought passing would be 85 and rushing 265.

Whereas all three pronosticators over-estimated the Cats rushing abilities, they gave K-State fewer first downs than they actually earned. Swanlund and Harding both had K-State pegged with 15 first and tens, while Eddy ventured a 13 count. The actual number picked up by the Wildcats was 17.

"It was an honor and privilege to be the lucky guy," was Warren Keegan's comment after being the Homecoming queen's escort for a week.

It was by chance that Warren Keegan, Ec Sr, one of the few who knew the winner, escorted Susan Schober, 1957 Homecoming Queen. "I kept it to myself though and she was kind enough not to ask," he said.

We drew straws to find out which Blue Key members would be escorts and then I just happened to be the one to present Susan her cape, he explained.

Other escorts were Phil Wright, Keith Small, Fred Sullentrop, and Don Smith. "We were really impressed to be able to take the finalists around all week," Warren said. "It was a lot of fun and they are all wonderful girls."

Susan's escort said she was upset when he took her to the game Saturday as she had heard rumors that she had been announced queen over television and didn't know what people in her home town, Topeka, would think if she didn't get it.

Warren says there were no early press releases on the winner and that Susan just happened to be in the middle on pictures sent out to television studios.

Panhellenic To Change Summer Rush System

Panhellenic members decided to continue sorority summer rush under new rules and to change the guest weekend system at a meeting last night in the Union.

These decisions were made after suggestions from the nine sororities were discussed by their representatives.

"The houses want to definitely continue summer rush but simplify it," said Janell Farrell, TxC Sr, Panhellenic president. Under the suggested rule the sororities would be allowed to have only one contact with K-State sorority rushees during the summer and could have no decorations or elaborate meal at this party.

Panhellenic Day is the top suggestion for replacing the present system of allowing six guests a weekend at each sorority house.

Under this suggestion prospective rushees would be guests of Panhellenic Council one Saturday in the spring and would visit all the houses in assigned groups but would not be overnight guests of any sorority. They would also meet with the Panhellenic adviser to learn about the College rush system.

Final decisions of the houses concerning these questions will be presented at the November 4 Panhellenic meeting at which time these 1958 rush rules will be voted upon.

The number of queen contests on campus were discussed at the meeting. Panhellenic members will meet with AWS to work out a better system for determining which activities merit a queen, according to Miss Farrell.

SC Favors Name Change, Hopes for Student Approval

The Student Council expressed desire that the student body give full approval to the proposed college name change at the referendum vote on October 31 and November 1.

In last night's Student Council meeting the group adopted a resolution by Chuck Wingert, His Jr, which resolved: that the Student Council is anxious to amass the greatest possible information in favor of the proposed name change and appeals to the student body to vote its feelings on the matter in the referendum.

"I believe this clarifies the council's present position on the name change proposal," said Neil Scott, Soc Sr, president of the Student Governing association.

"Individually all the council members have favored the name change for some time but have refrained from endorsing the proposal in the fear that such action could possibly reduce the student turnout in the referendum," continued Scott.

"The percentage of turnout is the expression of the collective desire of the student body to change the name. The real possibilities of changing the name of our college may well lie in the full strength of student opinion expressed through referendum.

"The council feels this expression implies an appeal to increase turnout for the referendum and also clarifies endorsement of the name-change."

The Basic ROTC committee reported on its plan of studying the problem of mandatory ROTC. This committee is finding out how other land-grant colleges are handling the situation and is also examining the legal procedures involved in changing the present program.

Plans for the October 29 SGA assembly were discussed by the council. Skits, a mock council meeting, musical presentations, and a student gripe session will be presented.

AWS Discusses Activity Problems

The Executive board of Associated Women Students met last night and decided to have the AWS representatives in each living group bring up discussion in their houses on the problems concerning heavy activity responsibilities of women on campus.

Representatives will bring the ideas brought out in discussion to next week's meeting. The Council will try to determine why this activity load is so great, how it may be alleviated, and where the greatest amount of emphasis needs to be placed.

"We feel we need to get better acquainted with the activities of women on campus because it is the purpose of our organization to help women students," said Patsy Garner, EEd Jr, president of AWS.

Committees have been set up to make plans for All Women's Day and to review the rules and regulations regarding women students on this campus. These regulations are now under the jurisdiction of AWS. These committees will make reports next Monday.

KSC Music Department Forms Men's Glee Club

For the first time since 1948, K-State will have a Varsity Men's Glee club. The last official men's glee club was combined with the girls' glee club into a college chorus.

The music department, under the supervision of Morris D. Hayes, assistant professor of music, organized the club.

"The fraternities and organized houses were asked to co-operate and the results were much greater than we anticipated," said Hayes.

"The organization is probably the most representative group on the campus. There is a member from each school on the campus. This definitely shows the interest of the college in this group," exclaimed Hayes.

The glee club will sing musical comedy, negro spirituals, favorite college songs and religious songs.

"We only hope to continue to develop an increasing interest in music by students of Kansas State college. We already have A Capella choir, K-State Singers, men's and women's glee clubs and college chorus but there is even a need for greater participation by students," Hayes said. "The Varsity Men's Glee club wants to be a service to K-State and an active part of campus life."

K-State, KU Councils To Set Up Peace Pact

Kansas State and Kansas University Student Council members will meet tonight at 6:30 p.m. in the Union to discuss and set up a peace pact between the two schools, according to Linnea Brown, Ar 04, chairman of the Peace Pact committee.

The basis for the new peace pact will be the pact set up last year. Miss Brown added that few changes would be made to the 1956 pact between the schools. The agreement is effective only during the football season.

KU Student Council members will be guests of the K-State Student Council at a banquet preceding the meeting.

Wednesday Last Day To Apply for Board

Applications for membership on the Elections board and the Drives committee will be taken until Wednesday at 4 p.m., according to the Committee Coordinating staff.

Anyone wishing to apply for membership on either of these may do so at the Student Governing association office in the Student Union activities center.

Dear Editor:

Many students have expressed their viewpoints on K-State's parking problems, but we believe a more realistic and long-range approach demands consideration. One need only visit other colleges and universities to become vividly aware that at the majority of these schools, students cars are banned, not only from the campus, but, indeed, within the town or county itself. These schools have had to make the decision that now faces Kansas State: whether the campus is an institution of learning or a parking lot.

With increased enrollment necessary for the continued prestige of our college, new buildings will inevitably be planned for most of the area now used for parking. An example is the proposed new auditorium which will occupy what is now the tennis courts and much of the Union parking lot. In view of this pressing situation, Kansas State and the Board of Regents have tried to delay such drastic action as long as possible.

In regard to faculty priority in parking, this is not a problem of educational institutions alone. A parallel situation is now found in the business world, for businessmen are being forced to provide employee parking in order to obtain a well-trained and qualified staff. Formal customer parking is becoming less readily available as this immediate condition is met.

The charge for parking paid by both students and faculty-staff has received numerous complaints although every cent of this money is used for enforcement and improvement of traffic facilities. Expenses for purchasing a hunting license used to maintain game preserves does not guarantee the hunter that he will shoot the game. Need we say more? Certainly the college, and more specifically the Traffic Control board in charge of traffic regulations, welcomes constructive criticism of its program, but so far, nothing really constructive has been presented. This, we believe, would include definite suggestions and ideas from the student body itself. Let's quit talking about the parking problem and do something about it—now!

Ed Note: If the five members of the Traffic Appeals board would look back to the second page in each of these Collegians—Friday, October 11; Wednesday, October 9; Friday, October 4; Friday, September 27; and Friday, September 13—they would find some constructive criticism of the parking dilemma.

Since the Collegian has started printing this semester, there have been only three letters to-the-editor dealing even partly with the situation. None of these letters offered any constructive criticism, let alone a solution.

Texas College President Rides In Old Texan Style—290 Yards

By Sharon Totten

TRADITIONS on the West Texas campus really keep the school's president in condition.

In celebration of the Buffs' recent 19-0 victory over Texas Tech, the president rode a donkey 100 yards for the victory and 10 yards for each point West Texas made over Texas Tech's score. Attired in a dinner jacket with carnation, levis and boots, and a big Stetson, he rode a total of 290 yards.

An Oregon State college fraternity song team was making the rounds serenading several sororities one night. After the fraternity sang two songs at one house, both somewhat off key, the women sang the usual reply.

The fraternity song leader listened intently to lovely female voices—then, after the song was finished, turned around and said nonchalantly, "How come you girls are not flat and we are?"

"HELP! I'm being held a prisoner!" said the little note one fellow found between his new license plates, relates the Brand, Hardin-Simmons university newspaper.

The fellow wasn't surprised. He knew the plates were made in the state penitentiary.

And the Indiana Daily Student relates this incident which probably proves that there is some honor among thieves.

It seems that each night the New York Lumber company leaves a note on its office safe saying, "This safe contains only records and no money."

Police reported recently that a burglar broke into the office one weekend. He read the note, took out a pencil and scribbled on it, "Thanks, I believe you."

Then he departed, leaving his crowbar and other tools on the floor.

"It's not hard to stop smoking," comments the University of Toledo Campus Collegian editor. "The difficulty comes in keeping yourself from starting again," he says.

THE DAKOTA STUDENT has a few tips on how to take notes.

If the prof says:
"When Lafayette first came to this country, he discovered America, and Americans needed his help if their cause was to survive, and with this he promptly supplied them."

You write:

"Lafayette discovered America."

If the prof says:

"Current historians have come to doubt the complete advantages of Roosevelt's policies."

You write:

"Most of the troubles and problems that face the U.S. are directly traceable to the bungling and greed of President Roosevelt."

If the prof says:

"... and it is possible that we do not completely understand the Russian viewpoint."

You write:

"Professor Shnickmeier is a Communist."

If the prof says:

"But we all know that the basic concept is the application of equalized pressure inside a reinforced chamber. And when allowing an amount of said pressure to escape in the opposite direction of locomotion..."

You write:

"Dear Mom and Dad,

I've got a little time now, so I thought I'd drop you a line."

A fun loving fraternity man at the University of North Dakota has come up with this new mixture: vodka, tomato juice, and Geratol. He calls it a Tired Bloody Mary...

Ike Summons Dulles for High Strategy Talk With MacMillan on Science, Turkey-Syria

By PAT ROBERTS

Washington — President Eisenhower laid the groundwork today for high strategy talks with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan, possibly to create a close scientific alliance coping with giant Russian advances in space missiles.

The President summoned Secretary of State Dulles (at 10 a.m. EDT) to prepare for the three-day conference with Macmillan starting tomorrow. They will discuss the Turkey-Syria dispute brought to a boil by Russian propaganda.

Backgrounding the talks were new congressional demands for pooling and increasing the free world's scientific brains and manpower to meet the missile-borne Soviet satellite.

There also was a direct demand to the President from Sen.

Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) to restore immediately $170,000,000 meat-axed from military weapons research and development. Monroney, in a letter to Eisenhower, said it was imperative he revoke a secret order August 17 effecting the cuts.

An off note came from Presidential Assistant Clarence B. Randall. He dismissed Russia's Sputnik as a silly bauble. He said the United States could have been first in putting up a satellite if it had mixed its Sputnik program with military missiles. Randall said he was glad the launch wasn't first. He said it would have allowed Russia to accuse this country of using its missiles as a threat.

Judge Will Bar Hoffa

Washington—A federal judge apparently is ready to keep Teamster President James R. Hoffa from taking office until a trial determines if he was elected properly.

Judge F. Dickinson Letts indicated yesterday he would issue a new injunction of some kind to keep Hoffa from taking over. Union lawyers, anticipating further action by the judge, were preparing a quick appeal to a higher court.

The judge refused to cancel a temporary injunction barring Hoffa from office. The injunction expires Thursday.

Stransky, Colorado Top Statistics

By UNITED PRESS

Colorado ace halfback Bob Stransky today dominated Big Eight team and individual offensive statistics by comfortable margins.

The Buffaloes, intent on retaining their runnerup spot to the Big Eight's perennial champion, Oklahoma, have gained a total of 2,156 yards for a per-game average of 430.1. Oklahoma, with one fewer games at four, has recorded 1,518 yards for an average of 379.5.

Stransky, the Buff's overnight running sensation, has reeled off 636 yards on 92 carries for a six-yard gain per try. Stransky also leads the conference in scoring with 51 points in five games.

Dwight Nichols of Iowa State advanced to a tie for the number two rushing spot with 333 yards on 76 carries.

Frosh Basketball Underway; Squad Has Three All-Staters

Twenty-one freshman basketball players reported to Howie Shannon, frosh basketball coach yesterday afternoon following a cutting of the squad to a workable size.

Larry Comley, a 6-5 all-Stater from Wyandotte, and Paul Sangster, a 6-5 honorable mention all-Stater from Springfield, Ill., are the two tallest players out. Another all-Stater, John Bryant from Tampa, Fla., stands 6-4.

The squad will receive a boost in height when Cedric Price, 6-6, reports for practice. Price, an all-Stater from Fort Worth, Texas, is presently out for football.

All but one of the other squad members are from Kansas. Carol Stephens, a holdover from last year's freshman squad is from Lubbock, Texas.

The other squad members are Wayne Brent, Gaylord; Arlo Janssen, Lorraine; Richard Anderson, Gove; Gary Balding, Hazleton; Bob Bestgen, Manhattan;

Fred Boone, Manhattan; Wayne Campbell, Manhattan; Dennis Duell, Ruleton; Jerry Johnson, Hutchinson;

Maynard Keith, Kansas City; Danny Kershaw, Manhattan; Sharon Knorr, Ellsworth; Dave Larson, Ada; James Messer, Olathe; Tad Poling, Goodland; NeVernon Roberson, Kansas City; and Jack Whittier, Kansas City.

Shannon, who is starting his fourth year as frosh coach says he has a small list of scholarship players because the varsity lost only two men. "But," he says, "I feel we have a pretty good bunch of ball players. We're going to depend a lot on the non-scholarship players."

Ernie Barret, K-State all-American basketball player in 1951, and Bob Bremner, graduate assistant in physical education, are assisting Shannon.

Cat Gridmen Work; Keady Out for I.S.

K-State's football team ran through a short, hard, and fast hour and a quarter long practice yesterday in preparation for its game with Iowa State next Saturday.

The Wildcats worked on tackling against single wing plays and on kickoffs.

Halfback Gene Keady missed practice because of a sprained knee he received against the Buffs and was listed as "doubtful" by coach Bus Mertes for playing in this week's game. Halfbacks Keith Wilson and Ben Grosse, who missed the Colorado game, will probably be ready for action Saturday, along with guard Gene Meier, who injured his ankle against Colorado. Ralph Pfeifer and George Whitney were running at halfbacks on the first unit.

"This was the best practice we've had all year," Mertes said.

Baseball Teams Shuffled In Ever-Expanding West

By UNITED PRESS

The ever-expanding West started to take on the new look today in the world of baseball.

The New York Giants are in San Francisco.

The Brooklyn Dodgers are moving to Los Angeles.

The San Francisco Seals will be moved to Phoenix, Ariz.

The Los Angeles Angels probably will wind up in Salt Lake City, Utah.

And where the Hollywood Stars go no one knows—maybe to Spokane, Wash., or 2200 miles overseas to Honolulu, or even Mexico City.

There are many cities in the West big enough to support AAA baseball—all the fans need is the opportunity to watch the games.

This is an area of great distances. What's another 500 miles or so? The baseball magnates don't bat an eye if they can get the attendance to offset the traveling costs.

So don't think the owners haven't been toying with the idea of Honolulu. It already is about 1700 miles from San Diego on the southern end of the league of Vancouver, B.C., in the north. And that arrangement worked out very well, financially last year. In fact, Vancouver, with the smallest park in the loop, drew the biggest attendance. Who can say it wouldn't work the same way in Honolulu? or Spokane, which also would be about 1500 miles from San Diego. Mexico City is 1500 miles south of San Diego.

So far the various shifts have disrupted the Pacific Coast league and the Arizona-Mexico class C loop. Next will come the class C Pioneer league. And indemnities will have to be paid all around.

Other activities in this year's Ag Week, November 11 to 16, are career day, an assembly, and departmental exhibits.

The career day is Saturday, November 16, with all high school students invited. Exhibits will follow the theme, "Careers in Modern Agriculture."

The all-College assembly on Friday, November 15, will keynote a speech by Dr. John Davis from Harvard university.

To encourage participation in exhibits, Alpha Mu, milling honorary fraternity, is offering a trophy for the best departmental exhibit.

The traditional dress—blue jeans, plaid shirts, and red neckerchiefs—will be worn by all Aggies during the week.

Councils Draw Up KS-KU Peace Pact

Kansas State and Kansas university Student Council representatives met last night to draw up the annual peace pact between the two schools. The pact applies to both KSC and KU only during the football game between the two schools.

Any student found guilty of violating the pact by participating in an act of vandalism will be held responsible for damages incurred and is to be automatically dismissed from school. His transcript will not be released to any other institution until he has paid the stated amount of damages.

The K-State Council interpreted this to mean that there is no degree of infraction and that all violations, major or minor, will be punished by expulsion from school. Payment for damage done by K-Staters will be taken from student activity funds if the vandals are not caught.

The group decided to present the peace pact trophy to the winner of the annual Kansas State-Kansas university football game at the half-time of that school's home basketball game.

Representatives of the two councils discussed the possibilities of obtaining a new peace pact trophy. K-State representatives suggested that the KU Student Council sponsor a contest among students in an effort to obtain a design for a new trophy.

Few changes were made in the 1956 peace pact, which is the basis for the present pact. Linnea Brown, Ar 04, is chairman of the Peace Pact committee. Representatives from the Student Councils of the two schools meet at least ten days prior to the KSC-KU football game each year to draw up the peace pact.

Denver—Conrad J. Weatherwax of Lisco, Neb., paid a $15 fine yesterday for going the wrong way on a one-way street. Hours later, he was back to pay $25 for another wrong way turn.

"This," said Weatherwax after paying his second fine, "just isn't my day."

Biloxi, Miss.—Police today believed they had solved the disappearance of $200 from a service station.

They arrested Richard Creel, 19, the attendant who had reported yesterday that the money was stolen from him.

Des Moines, Iowa—Iowa State Treasurer M. L. Abrahamson reached into a gift box and almost got his fingers nipped off.

The box contained a foot-long alligator sent by a snake farm in Laplace, Iowa.

Fairbault, Minn.—Police are hunting for a thief and his unusual loot.

The thief stole a 40-foot windmill from the farm of William Ruzicka.

Washington—Clarissa M. Ludlum, 78, was freed yesterday on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way after she testified that she has been driving since 1903, never has had an accident or a traffic ticket of any kind, and doesn't drink or smoke.

Besides, said Mrs. Ludlum, "When I drive, I drive with full attention."

Oklahoma City—A 32-year-old man spent the day in jail after his 37th arrest on a drunk charge. His name: Daniel Drunkard.

IN FRIDAY'S HOMECOMING EDITION of the Collegian, there was a front-page error. The mistake concerned announcement of house decorations winners at a pep rally at 10:30. Friday's Collegian said this would be done, but it wasn't.

Last Wednesday the Games and Rallies committee announced that the winners would be disclosed at the rally. It did this in order to drum up participation for K-State's habitually low-attended "pep" rallies.

However, it didn't have the sanction of the Interfraternity council and Panhellenic council. IFC and Panhell handle the house decorations, the judges for the decoration, and the Homecoming parade route. The Games and Rallies committee handles nothing, officially, because they haven't been made a recognized SGA committee as yet.

STILL, THEY SENT representatives to many of the Greek and organized houses and said the winners would be announced at the pep rally. The Collegian picked it up as a bona fide announcement and ran it.

The only flaw in the scheme was that the judges couldn't or wouldn't, decide on the winners until after 10:30.

So, a jealous feud over authority between two organizations sent a lot of Staters out to a pep rally for something that wasn't forthcoming and set the Collegian editor to his typewriter to retract what was represented as a statement of fact.

Wednesday the IFC and the Games and Rallies committee made an agreement that the names of the winners would be announced at the rally but the presentation of the trophies would be held until before the Homecoming game.

IFC AND PANHELLENIC for years have had control of announcing the house decorations winners. For some new organization to jump in and say it wants the results announced early for its own benefit is sure to cause some resentment.

Because the Collegian does not print on Saturday, release dates on the winners are not too important. But the Collegian does like to be accurate and it hates to be called a liar.

Disclosure of the top two is usually made by 9:30, but this year the results weren't available until after 11 p.m. Whether IFC and Panhellenic deliberately held back the announcement, or whether the judges couldn't make up their minds we're not sure—but a lot of K-Staters were hoodwinked.—Roger Myers

Eisenhower To Embark on 'Chin-Up' Campaign, Will Speak to Bolster U.S. Public Confidence

By PAT ROBERTS

New York—President Eisenhower is throwing himself personally into a chins-up campaign to bolster public confidence in the domestic economy and in America's ability to keep scientific pace with Russia.

The Chief Executive, himself, will embark shortly on a series of speeches around the country to bolster the faith of the nation in its ability to meet the many problems pressing on the United States in growing complexity.

The President was not specific, but the United Press learned that his speeches will be delivered in several widely-separated parts of the country. No definite number has been determined, but the Chief Executive was expected to make between four and six speeches as part of his special confidence campaign and they may extend into next year after the Congress convenes in January.

He outlined his chins-up campaign last night in a speech before a Waldorf Astoria hotel audience of 1,500 persons.

The President planned to fly back to Washington early today to begin three days of meetings with British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan. His take-off from the Marine terminal at LaGuardia field was scheduled for 7:30 a.m., EDT, with arrival in Washington about an hour later.

Flu Deaths Mount Steadily

School officials slammed doors shut on the Asian flu virus today with thousands of new cases reported and the death toll slowly mounting.

Following the pattern begun last summer, Asian flu made heaviest inroads in institutions for the retarded where defenses already were softened.

Despite emergency stopgap measures, calls for additional help, and accelerated vaccination programs, the flu has now claimed more than 270 lives.

U.S. Fires Jupiter Missile

Washington—The United States seized the propaganda offensive today in the battle with Russia for space rocket supremacy. It told the world it has successfully fired a 1,500-mile Jupiter ballistic missile on target.

It is the first time the defense department has ever given any material information on a missile shoot. The abrupt departure from strictest secrecy which marked other firings is an apparent attempt to restore public confidence in the U.S. missile program as well as to warn Russia of its capabilities.

Observers who saw the Army's intermediate range Jupiter leap into the sky over Cape Canaveral, Fla., last night said it was one of the biggest missiles fired there recently. It is expected to set the stage for test firing the Vanguard missile which will attempt to launch a U.S. satellite next year.

Syria Firm Against Mediation

Syria stood firm today against any mediation of the Turco-Syrian dispute by King Saud of Saudi Arabia. Syrian spokesmen said Saud could only investigate alleged Turkish troop concentrations on the border.

Syria reluctantly agreed last night to a suspension of United Nations debate on the issue but pushed through an amendment insisting that the U.N. resume its discussion on Friday.

A Syrian foreign ministry spokesman in Damascus said Syria would welcome King Saud's efforts to persuade the Turks to withdraw their troops from the border but this does not mean Syria has accepted mediation.

"We take the view there is nothing to mediate," he said. "All Turkey has to do is withdraw its troops. We welcome intervention, but we have nothing to discuss with the Turks."

First Snowstorm of Season

The season's first major snowstorm buried Montana under a foot of snow and dumped lighter amounts across the northern Great Lakes.

The snow blew in on a cold air wave that dropped temperatures to near zero in parts of the Northern plains. The coldest reading was reported early today as 4 above zero at Lewistown, Mont.

Montana was hardest hit by the storm, which deposited an average of one foot of snow throughout the state. The accumulation was expected to reach as much as 20 inches at higher elevations. Highway crews kept roads open, but chains were required to negotiate mountain passes.

Group Four IM Squads Play for Top Position

Two intramural football games today and one tomorrow will determine the winners of the Group IV championships in both the fraternity and independent divisions.

At the end of regular season's play these two groups each have three teams tied for the top position. The other Group champions have all been decided.

Beta Theta Pi and Tau Kappa Epsilon will meet at 4:30 p.m. at Military NE this afternoon with the winner taking on Pi Kappa Alpha tomorrow at the same time and place for the fraternity Group IV championship.

OK House, behind the passing arm of Clayton Ijams who threw three touchdown passes, eliminated the Hillbillies from the independent Group IV play-offs, 27-13, yesterday and will meet South Jardine today at 4:30 p.m. at SE

OU 27 Point Favorite Over Colorado Buffs

By UNITED PRESS

New York oddsmakers, stung badly by last week's wave of upsets, were a little more conservative in their line for this weekend's college football form sheet, with Oklahoma, the nation's No. 1 team, the only big favorite.

The Sooners, rolling along behind a perfect 5-0 record this season and 44 straight victories in all, were made 27-point favorites to whip Colorado in a big eight game at Norman. But that was the only big spread game on which odds were offered.

Krull No. 1 Quarterback

K-State's football team practiced yesterday on fundamentals and scrimmaged against the single wing offense.

Three new faces were in the first team lineup. Les Krull replaced Dick Corbin at the quarterback slot, Jim Mechling subbed for Ray Glaze at fullback, and Bob Schmidt was at injured Gene Meier's guard position.

Reserve tackle Bob Krizan received a badly cut calf and was taken to Student Health.

THE FLU BUG shouldn't bite Judy Jackson, BA Fr. She, unlike too many other K-Staters, has received her first shot of Asian flu vaccine. Doer of the unpleasant deed is Dr. Cullu, who checks the dosage as he prepares to give the not too enthused Judy an inoculation.

Flu Cases Mount; Student Health Full

The number of students suffering from influenza has increased, according to Dr. B. W. Lafene, director of Student Health.

Student Health has reached its capacity, and flu victims are being turned away, Lafene reported. The old hospital has been opened and has also reached its capacity. Students suffering from the flu are asked to report to Student Health for treatment, but must return to residences.

The Kansas State Board of Health is typing the flu to determine if it is of the Asian type. Lafene said that no report has been received from them yet.

Although the vaccine isn't 100 per cent effective, it is imperative that students receive the vaccine for partial protection, Lafene said. After-effects of the vaccine are not a mild case of flu as previously reported. Another foreign virus or substance in an individual's system causes after-effects if present at the time of injection with flu vaccine.

The preliminary contest of the third annual Delta Sigma Rho public speaking contest will be November 12 at 7 p.m. in the basement of Eisenhower hall, according to Prof. Charles Goetzinger, assistant professor of speech. Delta Sigma Rho is the debate honorary.

The contest is open to any undergraduate representing an authentic K-State college organization, but it excludes previous first place individual winners and members of the varsity debate team. Separate divisions for men and women are being organized.

An organization may be represented by no more than four individuals.

Four finalists will be selected from both the men's and women's divisions. The judges in the preliminary contest will be from the Speech department, and five different judges will be chosen from K-State and the surrounding community to judge the final contest.

Topics may be chosen from any area, but the finalists must have different topics than they had in the preliminary round. The speeches will be limited to five to seven minutes.

Two rotating organizational trophies will be given—one in each of the divisions. It will be necessary to win a divisional trophy three consecutive times in order to keep it.

Organizations winning divisional trophies will be awarded a permanent plaque, and individual first place winners in each division will be awarded a first place plaque.

The trophies will be awarded on the basis of total points acquired by an organization in the preliminary and final contests.

Two points will be awarded an organization for every entry in the preliminary contest, up to a total of eight points.

An organization will be awarded five points for every individual who makes the final contest, and fifteen points for having the first place winner. Ten points will be given to the organization with the second place winner, and five points to the organization with the third place winner.

The finals will be November 19 in the little theater of the Student Union.

Former KS Student Victim of Car Crash

Mrs. Gwendolyn Gates Bennett, ChW '57, died at 5:40 p.m. yesterday in Riley County hospital of a brain injury received in a one-car accident Monday morning. The accident occurred on US 24 approximately one mile east of Keats. She did not regain consciousness.

Surviving Mrs. Bennett are her husband, James L. Bennett, ME Sr, 1717 Leavenworth; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gates, Kansas City, Kans.; and one sister, Shirley McQueary, Springfield, Mo. The body was removed to the Butler funeral home in Kansas City, Kans., this morning.

Mrs. Bennett, who was born June 29, 1935 at Freeport, Ill., was a teacher at Keats grade school. She was a member of Chi Omega sorority.

The accident occurred when she was driving to school. Her car skidded on slick pavement, hit a tree, bounced back onto the highway, and skidded off the road again into another tree. Highway patrolmen said the car was a total wreck.

Unique Trophy to Flush Bowl Winner

By KATHY SCHULTIS

"Dig that crazy trophy!" The "crazy trophy" referred to is a non-functional replica of a toilet stool and will be given to the winner of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon-Phi Delta Theta football game in Saturday's Flush Bowl activities.

Activities for the two fraternities will begin Saturday noon when Flush Bowl queen candidates are luncheon guests at the Sig Alph house. One coed will be crowned queen of the day's festivities by Herbert Wunderlich, dean of students.

The queen has been selected by Dick Powell, motion picture star, by photograph alone. Her name will be revealed at the half time of the afternoon football game. Ten candidates, representing the ten sororities, are competing for queen.

The Flush Bowl parade will assemble at 1:30 p.m. at the Sig Alph house. From there it will move through Aggieville to downtown Manhattan and then return to City park.

All sororities have been invited to enter the float competition. Floats are to be judged and winners announced at the half time of the football game. Trophies will be presented to the two sororities with the winning floats.

Adding a special note to the colorful parade will be the Sigma Alpha Epsilon-Phi Delta Theta band. Members of the two fraternities get together for band practices long before the day of the Flush Bowl.

Competition promises to be keen between the fraternities as they battle it out at 2:30 p.m. in City park. The Sig Alphas downed the Phi Deltas in last year's game. The winner of the football game will retain the trophy until next year's Flush Bowl.

The fraternity winning the trophy redecorates it each year in preparation for the Flush Bowl. Sigma Alpha Epsilon members built a stand for the trophy and gave it a new paint job this year.

Members of the fraternities will forego all thoughts of competition as they gather at the Terrace room of the Wareham hotel Saturday night for a party. Phi Deltas, Sig Alphas, and dates will dance to juke box music, and the party will get underway at 8 p.m.

TROPHIES MAY COME and trophies may go, but the Flush Bowl prize should remain among the most unique ever known. Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta fraternities will compete in the annual Flush Bowl football game this week-end. The winner of the football game between the two fraternities will get to keep the trophy for the year. The trophy is now on display in an Aggieville store.

Man Molests Three Coeds Off Campus

Three K-State coeds were molested in the vicinity of their sorority houses by an unidentified man Tuesday night. None of the three were injured.

According to one coed, the man was about 5-7, of medium build, with black hair. He was wearing light grey trousers and a light grey shirt.

The coed said the man jumped out from behind a bush and grabbed her arm. She turned and hit him; then fled to her sorority house where she called the Manhattan police.

Several suspects were taken into custody by Manhattan police, but were released after no positive identification could be made.

Artist Series Tickets On Sale Until Monday

Season tickets for the Manhattan Artist Series are being sold for $3.75, $3, and $1.50 until next Monday. The tickets may be purchased at the information desk in the Student Union or from a representative at each organized house.

As a Matter of Fact . . .

Fraternity Living Aids Later, Present—All Life, So Says Collegian Candidate for Chopping Block

By JIM BELL

ASK ANY fraternity man what his fraternity has done for him and he'll tell you—plenty.

Fraternities teach the pledge such valuable things as how to make his bed, how to drink beer, how to estimate the staying power of any sorority woman at a glance, when the fraternity was founded, who his more prominent fraternity brothers are, how many chapters his fraternity has, plus many more valuable tidbits of information.

Besides this sort of thing, most fraternities teach the pledge things of a more practical nature, things that will help him get along in later life—how to lie and get away with it; how to cheat at cards; how to hoodwink 50 actives, a housemother, and 500 faculty members—the list could go on and on. You see, pledges learn a lot of things, and I am trying to point up a few of them.

BY POINTING UP a few of them I will (1) aid new pledges, (2) let the actives know that the pledges know, (3) clue in the housemothers, and (4) pull a hell of an expose.

Don't get me wrong, though. I have nothing against fraternities—I'm an old fraternity man myself. I can rattle off fraternity history with the best of them. It's only that, as I pointed up, I will aid new pledges, housemothers, actives, and pull the expose.

Really, though, fraternity life is a pretty good thing. Take a friend of mine, who carefully preserved his fraternity pin after his graduation. One day as he strode down the street, a perfect stranger came up to him and made him rich.

YOU SEE, my friend always made it a point to wear his fraternity pin—even though he worked as a walking press for a local wine factory. He placed his shiny, jeweled pin over his heart on a clean, crisp pair of white coveralls every morning. He did it for seven and a half years, and it finally paid off.

The perfect stranger was an alum of my friend's fraternity—a very rich alum. He was scheduled to die of a very rare disease, so, upon seeing my friend's shiny, jeweled pin proudly displayed over my friend's heart, the old, dying, rich alum promptly bequeathed all his stored treasure upon my friend.

Now my friend is no longer forced to tread grapes in a musty, old wine factory. He is now president of an extremely prosperous girlie-calendar company, and he owes it all to the wearing of his fraternity pin.

So now, I think you must begin to see the value of it all. Oh, things can be rough at times, but the pledge must pull in his paunch, grab a shot of tranquilizer, and face the situation like the man his pledge father tells him he is.

AFTER ALL, look at what an active is doing for a pledge when he so unmercifully paddles him. He is (1) making a better man of the pledge, (2) helping the active chapter, (3) showing the rest of the pledges what will happen if they should chance to commit a similar misdeed, and (4) getting relief from the tension that is built up when one is undergoing the grind of a tough semester.

Well, this has no doubt given you an inkling into the merits of fraternity life. It's really a wonderful experience—I have a friend who says he wouldn't trade it for anything (not that he could, either.)

In closing, a fraternity culture note is in order—culture is another thing one is likely to acquire with the Greeks:

Gamma Gamma Gumbo my fraternity,
Gamma Gamma Gumbo means morality.
Ah to be a Gam Gum—ah reverie!
Gamma Gamma Gumbo I love thee!!

The Students Say

Staters Don't Agree on Value Of Vaccine for Asian Influenza

By Kathy Schultis

K-Staters are not conformists in their opinion of the value of the Asian flu vaccine. Some students consider the vaccine effective while others think it to be quite ineffective.

PHYLLIS VIERGEVER, FN Jr—I have had the vaccine. My roommate made me take it.

MARSHALL TRUCHON, IE Sr—I haven't had the flu shot. I have already had the Asian flu, so consider myself immune for a year.

LINNEA BROWN, Ar 04—Sure, the shots are worth while. They may not be effective for everyone, but the vaccine might be effective for a few receiving it. It's worth a chance.

DON BECK, IE Sr—I had mine the first day. I can't understand why everyone hasn't had one.

SANDRA TENARIO, Math Soph—I haven't had one and I won't. My roommate received the vaccine and is sicker than if she had gotten the flu. Frankly, I think the whole thing is a hoax.

JOHN FLOYD, AA Sr—No, I didn't get a shot. The line was too long.

MARCIA SOWERS, TxC Jr—If you get plenty of sleep, you shouldn't need the shots. When one gets run down, then one is susceptible.

CHARLENE THOUVENELLE, EEd Jr—I really think its worth the time to get the shot, as serious as the disease is.

DON PEASELTREE, AH Jr No. I'm scared of shots.

GERRY GRAY, EEd Sr—I think students should have the shot, but the dosage is too small to do much good.

SAM HASSAYEN, ME Sr—I've had mine. They make me feel secure, anyway.

PAT LLOYD, BA Sr—You might as well build up your own immunity. The shot is effective for only four to six months anyway.

ANN ANSET, TxC Jr—Sure, they're okay. You can't go wrong for only 50 cents.

RALPH PELUSO, PEM Soph—I haven't had mine, but I plan to.

CHUCK FARINELLA, PEM Sr—I plan to have mine right away.

PAT ELSRODE, BMT Fr—I think they are definitely worth while.

JOHN STOTLE, PEM Jr—I was worse off after I had the shot than before.

DAN O'BRIEN, PEM Sr—I think the shots are losers.

Kansas State Wrestling Team Has Strength, Rough Schedule

The return of nine of last year's 10 wrestling lettermen plus the addition of service returnee Ken Ellis gave coach Fritz Knorr one of the strongest wrestling squads he had had for several years.

Ellis, a heavyweight who placed second in the Big Seven tournament in 1954 and 1955, returned to K-State after spending two years in the army. The 275-pound senior also placed fourth in the National Collegiate Athletic association tournament in 1954.

The only loss from last year's team is Jim Dietrich, 177-pound first stringer.

In this nucleus coach Knorr feels that he has a solid front line of wrestlers but the squad lacks sufficient depth in the 157, 167, and 177-pound classes. The other divisions are solid with reserves.

Twenty-three varsity wrestlers are listed on the Wildcat roster. The squad is in its third week of practice in preparation for its third week of practice in preparation for its opening dual match on December 13 when it will host Fort Hays State college.

Glaze and Rainsberger have not yet reported as they are out for football at the present time.

The K-State wrestling team has scheduled 13 dual matches prior to the Big Eight Tournament March 14-15. Four conference champions, Oklahoma university, Minnesota university, Colorado state, and Mankato state, are on the schedule.

Wildcat Frosh Grid Squad Invades KU for First Game

K-State freshman footballers tangle with Kansas university's frosh Friday at Lawrence in their first game of the year. The Cats play Nebraska in Manhattan November 8 in the other game on the schedule.

"The squad is well prepared for KU mentally," freshman coach Ed Cavanaugh said, "but the line, which we had figured on as our strongest asset, has been hurt by the loss of the top two tackles who came down with flu Tuesday." Six foot, 195-pound Ed Harr and 5-10, 202-pound Wayne Wawner will replace 6-3, 234-pound Art Grob and 5-11, 211-pound Jim Hyllman.

"Reports we have from KU say they have the best team they've had in a long time, and we know they got some good players we wanted," Cavanaugh said.

Only one quarterback, 5-10, 170-pound Ron Blaylock, will be in top shape for the contest. A knee injury has sidelined 6-3, 185-pound Dale Evans, and 6-2, 185-pound Terry Leek is hobbled by bruises.

Others on the sick list are 6-1, 190-pound fullback John Winchester with a shoulder injury, 6-0, 200-pound center Bill Pickering with the flu, and 6-2, 184-pound end Larry Shaw with the flu.

Morgan Doctors Athletes In Job as Wildcat Trainer

By ELDON MILLER

One of the most demanding jobs in the field of athletics is that of a trainer.

In order to qualify for such a position, a man must be a combination doctor, psychologist, dietician, statistician, equipment manager, and nursemaid.

K-State has been very lucky in that it has been blessed with one of the finest trainers in the nation, Laurence "Porky" Morgan.

Porky arrived on the K-State scene in 1951 when he became the head athletic trainer.

From the beginning of football practice in late August or early September to the end of track competition in mid June, Morgan's work schedule is booked solid. It is a seven-day week proposition with no vacations.

"Some people think we don't do anything in the summer," said Morgan. He quickly pointed out that while he did try to vacation in July, most of August was spent in labor. This past August, for example, Porky conducted the training phases of two coaching schools.

Morgan, who was being interviewed in the East Stadium training room on the evening prior to State's trip to College of Pacific, was busy making last minute checks on medical supplies. Some of the more important things included in the medicinal aids were nine cans of 1 1/2 tape, six cans of two inch tape, elastic wraps, heat packs, ice bags, seven kinds of band aids, and sponge rubber.

Such additional items as tissue paper, vitamins, tooth ache medicine, cough pills, nail clippers, and screw drivers are also taken along "just in case."

To prove how thorough the checkout on needed equipment is Porky said that the California papers were read regularly for several days before the game in order to determine what kind of weather would be encountered.

A definite procedure of activity is followed by the football team every game day. A pre-game meal, planned by Morgan, is eaten by the athletes at 9:30 a.m.

The meal is usually the same every week—cereal, baked potatoes, a 10 to 12 ounce steak, salad (usually lettuce), peas or green beans, toast, butter, honey, and a choice of beverage.

Porky then starts taping ankles and injured knees, shoulders, etc, at 10 a.m.

Morgan said that all members of the first three units are required to have their ankles taped. Any additional squad men who are either injured or want their ankles taped may have it done.

There are usually five to 10 knees which also receive attention from Morgan along with a few shoulders, forearms, and hands.

The team begins suiting up at noon. The backs, centers and ends are on the field at about 12:20 p.m. for a short session of passing and kicking drills. The whole squad then has its regular warmups at 1 p.m.

At the half-time Porky furnishes the team with oranges and dextrose for energy. When it is cold, as was the case at Michigan State last year, hot tea is usually furnished.

Eight Lettermen Return To Bolster Swim Hopes

Eight lettermen return to the K-State swimming team, which is starting its second year in varsity swimming, according to coach Bill Thrall.

The lettermen and the event they specialize in are: Thomas Coblentz, backstroke; David Dicken, butterfly; Gordon Harper, freestyle; James Mariner, backstroke; Donald Matsuka, freestyle; Fredrick Nolen, breaststroke; Tamotsu Onuma, freestyle; Marion Towns, diving.

"All of the returning lettermen are key men," Thrall said. The team won six meets and lost four last year. They tied with Kansas university for fifth in the conference last year.

The varsity will compete against the freshman on December 14 and the team will see its first inter-collegiate action on December 21 when it goes to Lawrence for the Jayhawk relays.

IM Playoffs Rescheduled For Today

The two intramural football games which were to determine the winners of the group IV championships in both the fraternity and independent divisions were postponed because of rain yesterday afternoon.

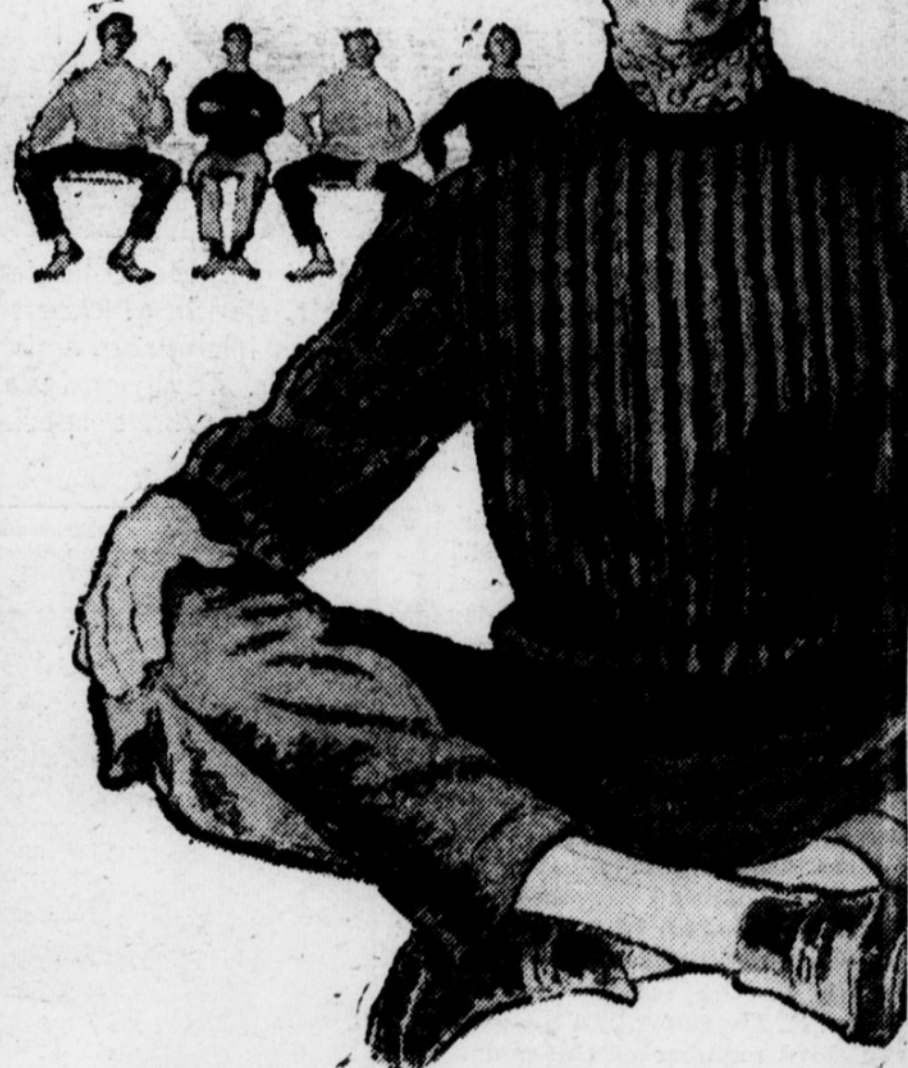

Beta Theta Pi and Tau Kappa Epsilon were scheduled to meet with the winner taking on Pi Kappa Alpha for the fraternity group IV championship. The Betas and TKE will play this afternoon at military NE at 4:30 weather permitting. The winner will meet PiKA tomorrow afternoon at the same place and time.

OK house and South Jardine are re-scheduled to play at 4:30 at SW campus this afternoon for the independent group IV championship.

U.S. Fires Rocket, Outdistances Russia's Sputnik

By Pat Roberts

Washington—The United States has taken man's highest known step yet in the race to the moon—stabbing a rocket an estimated 1,000-4,000 miles or more into space.

Precisely how high the slender multi-stage missile probed into the unknown won't be determined until calculations are completed, possibly tomorrow. But Air Force scientists believe it soared 1,000 to 4,000 miles or more, easily outdistancing Russia's earth satellite or any other known projectile ever sent aloft by man.

The rocket, it was disclosed last night, was triggered Monday by the Air Force operation Farside from a balloon-supported platform 20 miles high over Eniwetok atoll in the Pacific to help it escape the earth's atmosphere.

While a considerable feat, experts said today Farside ranks distinctly below Russia's achievement in hurling a satellite into orbit around the globe. Neither does it mean necessarily the United States has leaped in front in the race to develop long-range missiles carrying H-bomb warheads.

Perhaps Farside's biggest initial significance is in giving the free world a strong psychological boost toward overcoming Russia's scientific gains apparent in its Sputnik.

U.S. efforts to launch the long-planned Farside rocket apparently were drastically stepped up following the Sputnik launching October 4. It was reported Monday's successful launching was considered so important the Pentagon hoped to have extra data available for Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy to announce personally.

Flu Deaths Near 300

Flu fatalities across the nation approached 300 today, boosted by a mounting death toll in four state institutions.

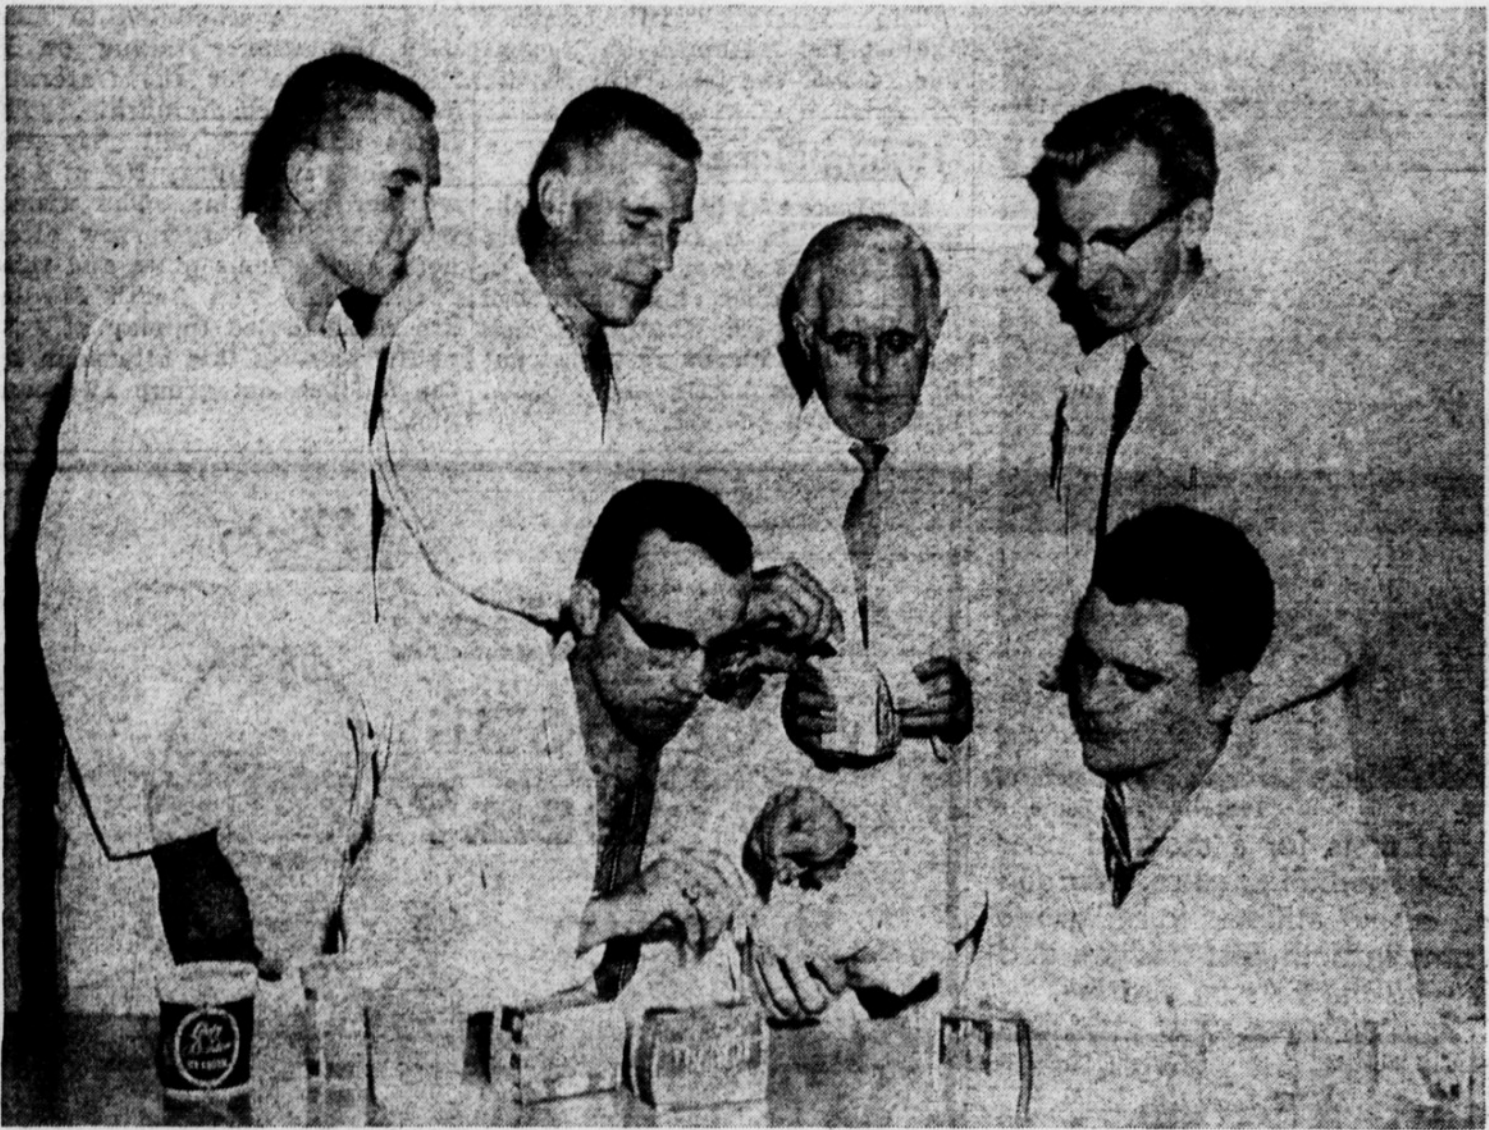

The worst outbreak has claimed 13 lives at the Pennhurst State School for Retarded Children near Philadelphia. The institution counted one new death yesterday.

Similar flu outbreaks have killed 10 persons each in a state school for retarded children at Dixon, Ill., and at a California institution for the retarded. Five persons died at a state school in Rome, N.Y.

Throughout the nation, United Press counted 290 deaths blamed on flu and its complications since last summer

K-State dairy products judging team placed third in the 1957 Collegiate Students' International contest in San Francisco Monday and won a special cup for ranking first in cheese judging. Connecticut was first and Washington State second in the contest.

Best individual showing was by Tom Townsend, DM Sr, who was first in milk judging and second high individual in all products. Harold A. Suelter, DM Jr, was sixth high man in cheese judging, and ranked eighth in the entire contest. Ravon R. Thae-mert, DM Sr, was the third member of the team, with Robert R. Paschal, DM Sr, the alternate.

As a team the K-Staters were fifth in milk and ice cream judging and 15th in butter.

First Vet Open House Begins Tomorrow at 10

By SYLVIA DARROW

The first K-State Veterinary Medicine Open House will officially open tomorrow at 10 a.m. The displays will remain open to the public until 8 p.m.

The tour will consist of displays in three buildings—Veterinary hall, the Veterinary Science hall, and Dykstra Veterinary hospital.

The displays are arranged in sequence and a definite tour route has been set up. "People should follow the route we've set up if they want to get a tour with any continuity," said Jim Smith, VM Sr, and general chairman of the Open House.

The first series of displays are in Veterinary hall, the second set in the Veterinary Science hall, and the tours will end in Dykstra Veterinary hospital. Guides will meet the crowds at the front doors of the buildings. Programs, tour routes, and informational literature will be distributed before persons begin the tour.

The World's Smallest Horse will be featured in Dykstra hospital. A dog obedience demonstration and a dog show will be other highlights.

The development of animals from eggs to a living organism will be exhibited in the anatomy department in Veterinary hall. Bones, bones, and more bones will be lined up along the main hallway of Veterinary hall. A bone mobile will be dangling from the ceiling.

Historical instruments used in studying and treating diseases will show the viewer how veterinary science was before the modern era. This exhibit will be in Veterinary Science, room 210.

The purpose of the Open House is to acquaint the public with the training that is required for a degree of a Doctor of Veterinary Medicine.

This is just a glimpse of the many displays, showing the various phases of Veterinary Medicine, and how it affects the lives of animals and people.

President McCain Returns to KSC

President James A. McCain was back on campus today after a six-month tour in Europe as an Eisenhower fellow.

McCain, his wife, and his daughter Sheila, arrived home at about 3 a.m. this morning. Late trains were the cause of some delay. The McCains were earlier delayed because of a bout with the flu by both Sheila and Mrs. McCain.

Traffic Board To Ask McCain For Additional Parking Space

The Traffic Control board has recommended to Pres. James A. McCain that half of the addition to the faculty-staff parking section in the Union parking lot be returned to students.

This pertains to the second section from the south end of the Union parking lot which was converted from a student to a faculty-staff parking area last summer. Students would be given the north half of the parking section and faculty-staff members would retain the south half of the same section.

Signs informing students and faculty of the new arrangement would need to be erected in the section, explained Case Bonebrake, Physical Plant supervisor. Also, curbs around the parking stalls would have to be stenciled, designating that the stall was either for a student or faculty member.

The recommendation will be sent to the traffic office if it is approved by President McCain. The traffic office then gives the final go-ahead to the placing of signs and stenciling of curbs in the lot. The new arrangement becomes effective when this has been completed.

The new arrangement would ease the parking situation for students somewhat, said Ed Bagley, professor in the Department of Economics and Sociology, and a member of the Traffic Control board. At the close of fall registration 2,300 students had purchased parking permits allowing them to park in the Union lot. The lot contains only 400 parking stalls and over half of these are used by faculty-staff members, Bagley reported.

The spring issue of the K-State Collegian edited by Jane Moore, BS '56, has been rated all-American by the Associated Collegiate Press. All-American is the highest rating a college daily can receive.

The Collegian was one of seven college papers given the top rating. Miss Moore's paper is the fourth consecutive Collegian to be rated all-American.

Contacted by long distance and told of the award, all Jane could say was "I'm shook! What a wonderful surprise. I hope this semester's staff has as good luck."

"I want to give a big thank you to my staff of last spring. My issue editors, Marilyn McKnight, Nancy Molter, Carol Ward, Don Marker, and Paul Jones all did a tremendous job and I owe a lot of this rating to them."

Miss Moore is presently employed as women's editor of the Chanute Tribune.

"I also want to thank Orval Jackson, my assistant editor, and Roger Myers, my editorial page editor. Jim Bell on sports and Judie Ross on society also did a great job. Howard Kessinger gave us a lot of help on the business side."

The spring Collegian received 1765 points out of a possible 1800.

Typography also received a blanket "excellent" rating. "The paper had a clean, neat typographical effect," Hiebert said. "I like the sizing of your pictures and there is a visible effort at trying to produce high quality pictures that have some zip to them."

"There's another set of people, the back shop crew who set type and make-up pages, who deserve a lot of credit for this award too," Miss Moore added. "Ralph Koppes dropped a lot of sweat into the forms during the month we were mailing the papers in for judging."

"E. A. McEnroe, Maurice Arnold, and Loren Streiner who operate the linotype machines were about the three most patient people in Manhattan for those 30 days."

Miss Moore's paper received bonus points on sports coverage, magazine pages, and treatment and placement of the news. The spring Collegian was given "excellent" ratings in every section but five, and these sections were rated "very good."

G. D. Hiebert, who graded the one month's consecutive issues, said: "I was satisfied with the spot news you covered."

He said sports coverage earned 10 bonus points because the editor brought out the personalities as well as statistics.

The paper got a blanket "excellent" rating on physical appearance. "You do a nice job with page one," Hiebert said. "I liked the editorial column type display and there was good use of good pictures on the sports pages."

The bonus magazine page drew this comment: "... the feature page and contents were a good device to supplement the regular grist of the news."

"Oh yes. I think the men who do the actual printing of the paper deserve a lot of credit too. They stopped the presses more than once to make last minute corrections," Miss Moore said.

Jane Moore Had Tough Hoeing On Way to All-American Paper

CONGRATULATIONS are in order to Jane Moore for her efforts in making last spring's Collegian an All-American paper. Few people realize the time and knowledge it takes to get out an interesting complete newspaper, let alone an All-American publication.

She is to be highly commended for her work in bringing the prestige of a first class paper to Kansas State.

This award puts Jane in the same class with the three previous Collegian editors who won All-American ratings for their publications—Gary Swanson in the fall of 1955, Darrell Miller in the spring of '56, George Vohs in the fall of 1956.

JANE SAID over the phone that she was lucky to get the top rating. But when an issue receives a rating of "excellent" on 16 out of 23 sections, luck ceases to be a factor.

Jane should probably be given some extra credit simply because she was one of the few women editors of the Collegian since before World War II.

Jane learned the Collegian ropes the hard way. She was an issue editor her first two semesters, and then went to the post of assignment editor.

SHE RECEIVED her groundwork in journalism at Stevens College for Women in Columbia, Mo., and was editor of the paper there.

So again, congratulations on a tough job well done, and a promise from this semester's staff that the standards will remain the same.—Roger Myers.

Veterinary Open House Should Acquaint Public With Profession, General Chairman Smith Says

By SYLVIA DARROW

ACQUAINTING THE PUBLIC with veterinary medicine is the prime purpose of Veterinary Open House, according to Jim Smith, VM Sr, from Hutchinson. Jim is the General Chairman of Open House.

"Veterinary Medicine has long been needed to show people the training that is required for the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Medicine, and the many services their veterinarian can offer them. Our Open House is the best way we have of doing this," he said.

"Since the school is so small, the open house would not have been possible without the help of the students and faculty."

As chairman, it is Jim's responsibility to coordinate the functions of the open house and help the sub-chairmen.

JIM, HIS WIFE, and daughter, plan to live in Wisconsin, where Jim will go into partnership with Dr. E. A. Woelffer, who specializes in the field of sterility. Jim is also interested in this type of work, as he is working for his Master's degree in Pathology.

Not only has Jim been busy with the open house, but with several other activities which include Young Republicans, Alpha Zeta, Union Governing board, and Beta Theta Pi social fraternity.

Last summer, Jim and Bruce Wren were delegates to the National AVMA convention in Cleveland. "This was one of the highlights of my college career," Jim said.

THE FOUR DAY CONVENTION is the national official business meeting of the AVMA. There is also a scientific program, consisting of talks on the latest procedures of veterinary medicine, by outstanding practitioners and researchers in the country. The delegates to the convention are chosen by a vote of the senior class.

"If the open house is as successful as we hope it to be, we would like to continue it as an annual event", Smith said.

Readers' Forum

Dear Editor:

After reading Jim Bell's story in Thursday's Collegian, the question arose in my mind as to why the Collegian would print such an article. As the official college newspaper, the Collegian has a responsibility to the students and faculty at K-State to keep them informed as to what's happening on the campus, not to stir up trouble.

Bell's story, which was obviously intended to be funny, didn't strike me as being humorous. The only thing that can possibly come out of his story is hard-feeing. Fraternity men know the charges in his story about fraternities teaching their members to lie, cheat at cards, drinking beer and others, just aren't true. Maybe that's the way things are in Bell's fraternity, but I've never known my fraternity to teach any of our members detrimental habits.

I wonder if the Collegian realizes the consequences of this story. Being the official college newspaper, the Collegian is supposed to record college life as it really is, not as some frustrated journalist thinks it is.

Persons connected with fraternities know Bell's accusations are false. But it's the people not connected with fraternities that could gain a misconception of them by believing any of Bell's charges.

Take, for example, a high school boy thinking about enrolling at K-State next fall and maybe joining a fraternity. Needless to say, few high school students know much about fraternity life, and such a story as this could easily give them a false impression of fraternity life here.

My fraternity is nearly 102 years old and has close to 100,000 members. How long would it have stayed in existence if it didn't have certain ideals and goals that the members believed in and cherished? Bell's so far off base it isn't even funny.

Charles Hostetler, PrL Soph
Rush Chairman,
Sigma Alpha Epsilon

Hostetler seems to have no appreciation for Bell's sense of humor, which hinges on satire and sarcasm. Rather, Hostetler takes affront at the "charges" and "accusations" hurled at fraternities. Bell is a fraternity member, and—as all fraternity men probably do—takes great pride in his fraternitly affiliation. (He, also, as other fraternity men probably do, feels that his fraternity is the best fraternity.) However, Bell is quite sure that no fraternities (not even Hostetler's) are perfect and through, exaggeration and satire has pointed it out. Should our readers not be able to distinguish between satiric and factual writing, they'll just have to get mad, stomp around, swear, and be unhappy with us. If Hostetler really feels that the shoe fits, he may put it on, lace it to the top, tie it tightly, and wear it for as long as he chooses.—Ed.

Sparky, a 24-Inch Horse Is the Worlds Smallest

By SYLVIA DARROW
Standing only 24 inches high, a dainty little mare named Sparky, is purported to be the world's smallest living horse. The petite mare is owned by R. E. Leonard of Junction City.

The 62-pound, 4 year old is about the size of a German shepherd, and although she's very small, Sparky is normal in every other way. The tiny equine is the off-spring of normal full sized horses.

A HORSE, ABOUT THE SIZE of a greyhound, is the world's smallest. Sparky, owned by R. E. Leonard, stands only 24 inches high. Sparky will be featured during Vet Medicine Open House.

Visitors to See Own Heart Beat

Visitors of Physiology department may listen and at the same time see their heart beat.

This biophysical phenomenon is accomplished by the aid of the poly-viso machine which registers the electrical changes in the heart musculature before contraction. These changes are transferred to a 17 inch screen on the visoscope, similar to a television set.

At the same time, the heart sounds are recorded on the phonocardiogram, which amplifies the sound.

The poly-viso machine also records the bioelectrical changes in skeletal muscles, as well as respiratory rates and blood pressure.

The poly-viso can record pressure changes in animals too. These changes can be seen on the viscope.

"Physiology is the study of normal functions of the cells, tissues, organs, the relations to one another, and to the animal as a whole and is the basic of veterinary medical practice," explained Dr. G. K. L. Underbjerg, head of the Physiology department.

An exhibit showing blood flowing through a capillary in a frogs foot may be viewed through a microscope.

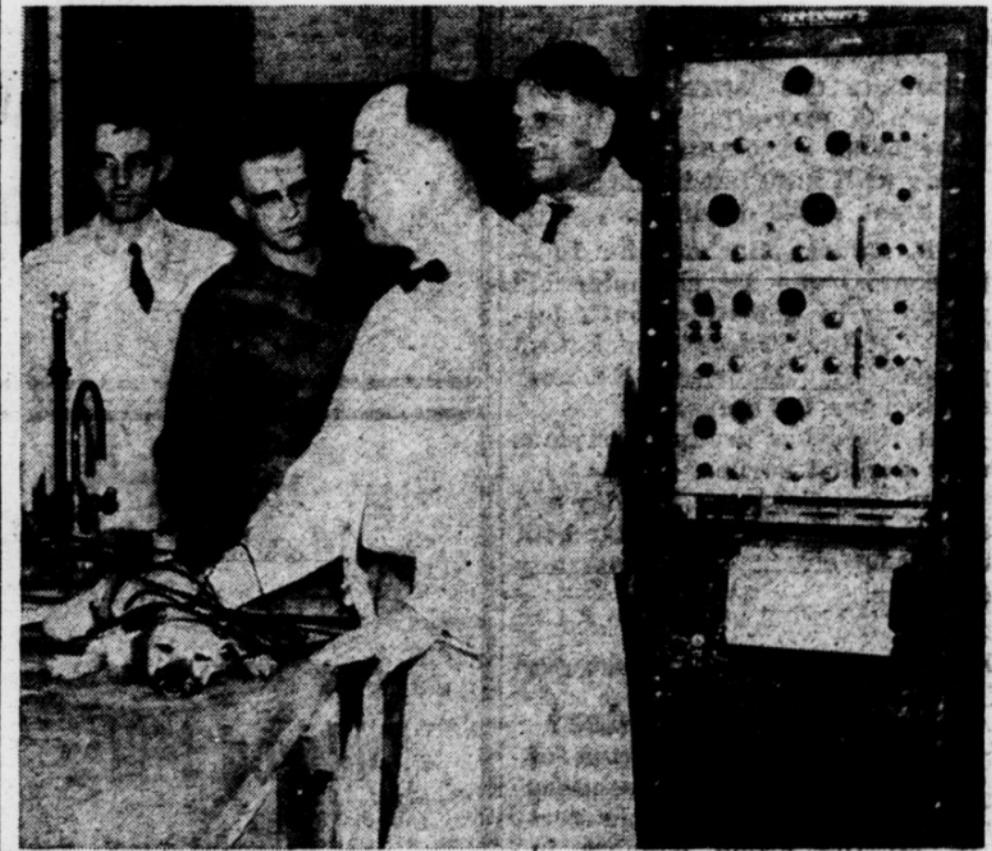

Poor Farm Loss

Exeter, R.I. (U.P.)—Exeter has the only municipal poor farm still operating in Rhode Island. With only one inmate, it operated at a loss of $3,000 during the past fiscal year.

A beating heart taken from the body of a turtle will be on display. The heart is kept in a salt solution. In conjunction with this exhibit, the Kansas Heart association will have a booth explaining heart disease.

A number of films will be shown for the public in relation to physiology of man and animals.

THIS DOG'S HEART BEAT is being measured on a poly-viso machine in the veterinary medicine hospital. The machine registers the electrical changes which occur as the heart contracts and shows them on the 17-inch visoscope screen, which looks much like the screen on a television set. The sound of the heart beats is also picked up and recorded, then amplified so that it can be heard easily. The machine can also be used to record respiratory rates and blood pressure.

A Maine Advantage

Augusta, Me. (U.P.)—Maine forestry commissioner Albert D. Nutting says his "Pine Tree State" has an advantage over the big tree-growing states of the Pacific Northwest. Nutting said Maine has adequate rainfall, but the states in the Pacific Northwest get heavy rainfall only along the coast. Further inland the rainfall is sparser, and it is difficult to get regrowth.

Cat Lineup Shifted For I-State Contest

K-State gridders had a cold, muddy practice yesterday in preparation for their conference game with Iowa State tomorrow, stressing offense.

George Whitney and Pfeifer at halfbacks.

Halfback Gene Keady and end George Laddish will not make the trip because of knee injuries.

"I have seen films of Iowa State's games with Oklahoma, Syracuse, and Kansas," Mertes said. "This Cyclone club has the same strong line of last season and they have enough good backs now to make them one of the better teams in our conference. They have a real fine tailback; big, strong, fast ends; ample depth; and the same line that held us to 29 yards rushing in the first half of the '56 game."

Sig Alphas and Phi Delt's Battle In Flush Bowl Game Tomorrow

While national collegiate football fans have the various bowl classics to look forward to, two Kansas State fraternities point to their annual "Flush Bowl" game as their football highlight of the year.

The Flush Bowl, which will be held at the Manhattan city park tomorrow, is a touch football game between the Sigma Alpha Epsilon and Phi Delta Theta teams.

The game itself, like the other major bowl contests, is not the only activity of the day. Pre-game and post-game displays attract most of the attention. Besides the game, the program includes a parade consisting of floats constructed by the various K-State sororities, the crowning of a queen, and a dance to conclude Flush Bowl activities Saturday evening.

This year's game will mark the eleventh consecutive year for the Flush Bowl with the first game being played back in 1947. The match began on a small scale with just the two fraternities playing football. The only trophy available for the first game was a broken commode, thus giving the football feature its name—"Flush Bowl."

The Sig Alphas hold a slight edge in the victory column as they have won six games while dropping four. They currently have a five-game win streak as their last loss was back in 1951 when the Phi Delt's won 50-18.

The closest game during the 10-year series was in 1949 when the Phi Delt's edged the Sig Alphas 26-25. The year preceding, the Sig Alphas were the victor by a 3-0 count. Last year's game saw the Sig Alphas win, 43-13.

No Speech Impediment

Syracuse, N.Y. (U.P.)—Richard Wiles, candidate for city commissioner of education, said it hurt only when he shook hands. Just before a scheduled speech, Wiles was struck by a car. He picked himself up, delivered the speech, shook hands and headed for a doctor who told him his arm was broken.

Colorado Will Try Again To Buffalo OU Sooners

By UNITED PRESS

The University of Colorado Buffaloes, who almost buffaloed the national college football champions from Oklahoma last year, will try again Saturday in one of the leading games nationally.

Then, as now, Oklahoma was ranked No. 1 by the United Press board of coaches. Then, as now, Oklahoma's ground attack, speed and bench strength made it a heavy favorite. But Colorado's crunching running game rolled up 191 yards and a 19-6 lead by halftime last year, only to have Oklahoma's superior depth pay off in a 27-19 victory.

Although Oklahoma is a 27-point favorite this time, Colorado again has that striking power to rank first in the nation in rushing (333 yards a game) and third in total offense (431 yards a game).

Still, Oklahoma figures to check the Buffs with a defense that has held the opposition to only 101 yards a game rushing, fifth best in the country.

An Oklahoma victory would be its 45th straight and would all but assure the Sooners of another Big Eight championship plus an Orange Bowl trip. The other Orange Bowl team probably will be the winner of the Saturday game between Duke and North Carolina State, the only unbeaten in the Atlantic Coast conference. Duke is a seven-point choice.

In other Saturday headlines, second-ranked Iowa, versatile enough to rank first nationally in both total offense and rushing defense, is favored by 16 points over Northwestern; third-ranked Texas A&M is an eight-point choice over Baylor.

A major hurdle in the Aggies' quest for the Southwest conference title and a Cotton Bowl berth; and Oregon, best bet for the role of Rose Bowl host, rates seven points over California.

The Oklahoma-Colorado and Duke-North Carolina State games will be televised regionally. So will Michigan at Minnesota, Washington State at Southern California and Penn State at Syracuse. The favorites are Michigan by five points, Washington State by one and Syracuse by six.

Betas, OK's Earn Spots In Group 4 IM Playoffs

The Group IV intramural football championship of the fraternity division will be decided this afternoon when Beta Theta Pi meets Pi Kappa Alpha at military NE at 4:30.

The Betas downed Tau Kappa Epsilon yesterday, 13-6, to eliminate the latter from the Group IV play-offs. Beta Daryl Mackender passed to Gary Lafferty with 2:30 left in the game to break a 6-6 deadlock.

OK House clinched the independent Group IV championship yesterday by defeating South Jardine 37-13. Three touchdown passes by Maurice Hammer sparked the OK attack.

All the other group champions were decided earlier.

The semi-finals are Monday and the finals are Wednesday for both the independent and fraternity divisions.

IM Managers To Meet

There will be a meeting of the fraternity and independent intramural football managers of all the group winners in Frank Myers' office in Ahearn fieldhouse at 5 p.m. today.

Drawings for the semi-finals will be this afternoon.

Vet Medicine Students' Day Busy Dog, Horse, Are Among Patients

By SYLVIA DARROW

Bathing dogs, giving "shots," performing minor surgery, and practice diagnosing may be included in the Open House display.

Depending on the clinic staff member, the veterinary medicine student may go out on farm calls (ambulatory); may be assigned to the large animal clinic, small animal clinic, pharmacy, poultry pathology lab, post-mortem room; or may be assigned as interns. Each student has a different phase of study each week.

Interns are at the hospital to accept emergency cases after hours. Some juniors and seniors live at the clinic.

Diagnosing and treating animals on the farm are included in the chores of the students assigned to ambulatory.

In the post-mortem room, deceased animals are carefully skinned and dissected by assigned students. The animals are dissected in an effort to find the diseased changes in various organs and tissues.

By rotating the different assignments, the student obtains as much experience in the various phases of veterinary medicine as is possible while he is in school.

USF Merger May Be Soon

A possible merger of the Westminster, Disciples, and United Student Fellowships on the national level was the topic of discussion at United Student Fellowship last Sunday night at the Congregational church.

Clinton Peirce, Ag Sr., reported from the National USF Conference held this summer in Defiance, Ohio, that the executive committee of National USF is authorized to merge with either one or both of the Westminster and Disciples Student Fellowship groups as soon as these groups formally agree on the action.

On the local level student groups will not be compelled by the National USF to merge, but will be expected to cooperate with the national administration of the united group.

"RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN Religious Thinking" is the topic to be discussed by Dr. William H. Bernhardt, Sunday, October 27, at 8 p.m. in the All-Faith chapel. Dr. Bernhardt is professor of philosophy of religion at Iliff School of Theology, Denver, Colo.

Working with Sports

By Jay Workman

Poetry?

From the sports publicity man at Colorado university, Fred Cassotti, we got these notes concerning tomorrow's Buffalo-Sooners scrap and we thought they were good enough to share with our readers.

There'll be no letters edged in black,
Or flippant Colorado cracks,
There won't even be a poem,
In fact, we just might stay at home,
Oklahoma's still a healin'
Buffaloes will be a kneelin'
They'll be layin', we'll be prayin'
But what the hell!
We've gotta play 'em.

Buffaloes would Sooners play Wildcats. Combined scores against Wildcats-Arizona and K-State type—76-28. Coloradoans, always fine sportsmen, sincerely hope Oklahoma is over its Asian Flu epidemic this week. . . Sooners have had it for three weeks and were sorely-pressed . . . winning over three foes by mere 108-21 total score. Maybe they'll let up if they get well . . . this may be the greatest infirmity team in history. We figure it's bad enough to get beaten . . . but if you catch the flu in the bargain, that's kinda getting it rubbed in.

Krisher Destructive . . .

From Oklahoma we hear that nobody has built a shoulder pad that can contain Bill Krisher, Oklahoma guard who throws the blocks ahead of Clendon Thomas.

Krisher, 6-1, 216-pounds of speed and savvy, has gone through two pairs of shoulder yokes already this season. At $35 per pair, that runs into money.

He tears the flaps off 'em and even bends the steel, so he must be hitting somebody pretty hard.

After each game, Krisher's battered pads are airmailed to Vernon, Texas, where they are hurriedly repaired and shipped back to Norman on Monday in time for practice.

At Miami, Fla., two years ago, he ruined his third new pair practicing for the Orange Bowl game. They were mailed to the manufacturer in St. Louis.

"Somebody ran over these with a tractor," protested the manufacturer and rushed a new pair.

Last year, the manufacturers designed a special experimental pad and confidently shipped it to Norman. But Krisher wrecked several more pairs while helping move Coach Bud Wilkinson's outfit to the national championship.

Cats Head for Ames Without Gene Keady

By UNITED PRESS

Manhattan — K-State's football squad left today for the Iowa State game with its leading ground gainer, right halfback Gene Keady, still on the injured list and unable to play.

Fullback Ray Glaze, who has an infected leg, also was on the doubtful list.

Probable starters are ends Don Zadnik and Jim Luzinski, tackles Jack Keelan, and Wally Carlson, guards Bob Schmidt and Jaydee Stinson, center Ellis Rainsberger, quarterback Les Krull, halfbacks Ralph Pfeifer and George Whitney, and fullback Tony Tiro.

Ames—Iowa State coach Jim

Cats Seek First Big 8 Win, Fifth in Row Over Cyclones

The K-State football team will be seeking its first conference win of the season when it meets Iowa State at Ames Saturday.

The game, which is Iowa State's Homecoming, will be at 2 p.m. on Clyde Williams field. K-State will be seeking its fifth straight win over the Cyclones before an expected crowd of 17,000.

The Wildcats have lost both of their previous Big Eight starts, being humbled by Colorado, 42-14, last Saturday and dropping an earlier decision to Nebraska, 14-7.

Paced by sophomore tailback Dwight Nichols who has scored three touchdowns and passed for three more, the Cyclones have posted a respectable 2-2-1 record to date.

They have beaten Denver, 10-0, and Kansas, 21-6, while holding powerful Syracuse to a 7-7 tie. Their losses have been to Oklahoma and Missouri.

Iowa State has surprised the experts this season by showing amazing power. The Cyclone's new head coach, Jim Meyers, has junked the split-T formation previously used by Iowa State and has inserted the single wing.

Nichols, who is tied for second in the conference rushing with 333 yards and is second in passing with 284 yards, is the key man in the Iowa State offense.

The Cyclones have been outweighed and outmanned by most of their opponents thus far, having a line averaging 194 pounds and a backfield mean of 177 pounds compared to the Wildcats 205 and 181 pound averages. But coach Meyers has stressed aggressive head-up football and it has paid off.

Having 110 men out for spring practice, Meyers sought only those players who had the desire and determination to play. When the day for the opening fall practice arrived Meyers had cut the squad to 38.

Iowa State's line will have to cope with the conference's second ranking yardage gainer in K-State. The Wildcats have amassed a total of 1,565 yards gained and are trailing only Colorado which has a 2,156 yard total.

The Wildcats, however, will be without the services of their number one ground gainer, Gene Keady. The senior halfback, who has gained 832 yards, will miss action because of a knee injury.

"This game is Iowa State's Homecoming," notes Cat coach Bus Mertes. "But after seeing what happened here last week at our Homecoming, I'm not sure that is a pertinent fact."

The game will be broadcast by the K-State sports network.

Flu Cancels Grid Games Over Nation

By UNITED PRESS

The flu epidemic knocking down whole football teams as no blocker ever could, has forced cancellation of 13 games scheduled for this weekend and postponement of five others.

However, busy athletic departments scurried around and managed to schedule five replacement games, while Beloit college still was shopping for a Saturday opponent today.

Elon college of North Carolina was the most frustrated. First its scheduled game with Catawba was cancelled, so it arranged a replacement game with Davidson, which badly needed an opponent for the homecoming game because flu had forced Presbyterian to cancel out of that date.

KS Artist Series Tickets on Sale Two More Days

You have only two more days to get an Artist Series season ticket, according to Prof. Luther Leavengood, head of the Music department. These may be obtained at the Information Desk in the Student Union and from a representative at each organized house.

The student season tickets are $3.75, $3, and $1.50 and may be bought today and Monday.

The first group to perform for Manhattanites and students will be Les Ballets Janine Charrat de France, which has the youngest personnel of any ballet group now on tour and is one of the finest, Professor Leavengood said. It was originated in Paris by Janine Charrat, who has studied under Pavlova's partner, Alexandre Volinine. This cosmopolitan ballet group will perform October 29 in the College Auditorium.

The next group, Paganini String Quartet, will perform November 20. The instruments used by this quartet were made by Stradivarius and are insured for a quarter million dollars.

The other two programs are the De Paur Opera Gala and Mildred Miller. The De Paur Opera, of both Negro and white singers, will present selections from "Porgy and Bess" and "Carmen Jones". Mildred Miller, a Metropolitan Opera star, will sing selections ranging from operatic classics to American folk songs.

Professor Leavengood pointed out that everyone buying a season ticket will save money, as single admissions (if any are available) will be $1 each.

Agents from counties all over the state will be present at the meetings. Achievements of the past year, present problems and work for the coming year will be discussed.

A party for new members on Veterans Day, November 16, will conclude the membership drive. A beer mug will be presented to

No Debt

Monroe, Mass. (U.P.)—This Western Massachusetts town (pop. 174) recently became debt free—one of the few communities in the nation that doesn't owe anyone a penny. A ceremony was held when final payment was made on a $22,000 note issued in 1935 when the Monroe Water District was formed.

That's a "fare" question, any way you spell it. Family Fares offer train travel at low cost. The husband pays the regular round-trip rail fare. His wife goes for just the one-way fare for her round-trip.

So, Mr. Man, how about taking the lady with you on that next business trip? All you need do to take advantage of our money-saving Family Plan is to board your train on any Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday. You can return together, or individually, on any day of the week.

If you plan to take the children, they—like Mom—travel at a reduced rate. You'll be surprised at the saving in rail fares, and the generous baggage allowance.
